THE Flesherton Advance
W. H. THURSTON Editor

At the South Grey Reform convention in Durham on Friday last it was decided that it would be unwise to bring out a candidate for this fight, so it is a straight-away race between Dr. Jamieson and Dr. Leeson.

Delmonico's, the famous fashionably high-priced restaurant in New York, has closed its doors. This regrettable news gives us much pain as it was there we always dined when we went to Knickerbockerton. No more five to twenty-five dollar meals on our platter.

Durham owners of fish streams requisitioned the government for three or four hundred thousand trout fry to stock the streams around Durham. When theminnows came there were only 65,000 of them, or eight cans! Durham fish raisers are not very enthustic over the liberal way they have been treated. Come to think, it wasn't the Libaral way. And a good way, too, if followed out to include a curtailment of the pheasantries. We have a "grouch" against those Pheasantries, and admit it.

It is pretty difficult to gauge just what is going to happen in East and Centre Grey when the ballots are counted for this election. If the matter were to be judged by the two conventions recently held at Rocklyn, both the Conservative and the U. F. O. candidates would be elected. Both gatherings were large and enthusiastic. But as that cannot be the bet would about even up. The north end of the riding appears to be sticking pretty close to Col. Carmichael, but other parts of the riding will give strong support to Dr. Ego. So everybody is open to a free guess as to how many beans there are in the bowl.

Tired Of Show Business

"I am tired of this show business," said General Grant, after he had been lionized and feted day after day and night after night by official and social Washington at the close of the Civil War. "I am tired of this show business, the silly superficial life which leaves nothing behind but regrets for the waste of time and of opportunities."

There is a lot of this "show business" going on in this country right now which disgusts level-headed, earnest people of the Ulysses S. Grant type, people who are trying to do something worth while, to make their lives count. The "show business" is kept going by the silly, superficial pleasure-hunters, who care for nothing but the froth of life. They are everywhere, and there is plenty of froth for them.

It seems to me that the whole trend of modern life encourages this "show business." We are drifting away from our former purposeful civilization, and developing a frothy, silly, superficial age. Multitudes of young girls are growing up in our midst today who have been mentally fed on froth—nothing but froth—silly, superficial amusements, and vapid, meaningless talk. When groups of these girls get together and talk, one would think that there is nothing serious in life, nothing really worth while except to giggle and laugh and have a good time, or what they call "a good time." They lay great emphasis upon dress and frivolous amusements.

In reading there is a superficial tendency in American life. Light reading everywhere predominates over the more serious. The majority of people want to read nothing but exciting novels, which stimulate the imagination, arouse unfortunate desires and leave nothing behind but froth.

On the other hand, it is encouraging to know that there is also a serious, progressive movement in our midst, working steadily, earnestly for the realization of high ideals.

There are multitudes of Canadians sincere, high-minded men and women, who are sick and tired of this "show business." Entirely free from selfish, personal motives, they are battling loyally and making great sacrifices for the establishment of peace and good will in the world. They are trying to repair the frightful havoc caused by the great war and to bring all nations together in working for the common good.

If those who are giving all their time to the "show business" would only give a portion of it to helping on the great progressive movement, what a momentum it would receive! And how much more satisfaction and happiness these people would find in their lives! For, despite all their pretense, they are not happy. No one ever yet found happiness in making the pursuit of pleasure the aim and end of life. Froth is a very unsatisfying kind of food. There is no sustenance in it for the soul of a man or a woman.—Success.

Wm. C. Hanley

There passed away to his reward on Sunday May 20th at his late residence on Lot 40, Con. 8, Artemesia, one of the early pioneers of the township in the person of Mr. Wm. Hanley, aged sixty nine years and six months, born in the township of Hope on lot 40 which was then all woods. His father commenced clearing the forest to make for themselves a home. At the age of fifteen years Mr. Hanley was left with his widowed mother to manage and continue the work started by his late father, which he did with marked ability. By hard work and persistant efforts he accomplished his purpose leaving behind him one of the most beautiful and best equipped farms in the township. He was well known and thoroughly respected by all who knew him and was straight and forward in all his dealings. A good son to his widowed mother, a loving and affectionate husband, a fond and devoted father to his children. Mr. Hanley was a man of fine bhysique, strong and healthy up to February 1919, when after rising to carry on the work of the day, he was suddenly seized by a stroke, which completely paralyzed him down one side. Dr. Guy of Maxwell was hurriedly called in attendance and since then he has been a faithful attendant on him, doing all that medical skill could do to alleviate his sufferings. For the four years and three months Mr. Hanley was bedfast, perfectly helpless, bearing his great affliction with fortitude and resignation, he was cared for by a devoted and loving wife, his only son and young wife. Every care was given him, nothing being left undone to make him as comfortable as his condition would permit. During his long illness he was visited from time to time by many relatives and friends, who tried to cheer him in his great affliction, but all that human skill and care could do could not prevent the final scene, when he passed peacefully away leaving behind him to mourn his loss, a loving devoted wife, an only son, Charles, residing on the homestead, and three daughters, Mrs. Ambrose Findlay of Fort William; Mrs. B. Wilson of St. Catharines, and Mrs Walter Akitt Artemesia. The funeral took place on Tuesday, May 22nd to Salem and was very largely attended. A long line of autos and other vehicles following the remains to his last resting place. A number of pillows, wreaths and sprays of flowers were sent by friends, as a token of sympathy with the family and respect for the deceased. The Rev. Mr. Duffield of Maxwell Methodist church conducted the service at the home and grave.

A few of those who attended the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wilson St. Catharines; Mrs Jos, Coulter, Terra Cotta; Mrs. Clinton of Toronto; Mr and Mrs J A Kernahan, Maxwell; Mrs Campbell, Brampton; Carl Hanley, Orangeville; Mr and Mrs W Myers, Kimberley; Mr T Elliot, J Elliot and Miss Myrtle Elliot, Markdale; Mrs T Wilson and Mr and Mrs Bellamy, Flesherton; Mr W J Wadsworth Sr and W J Wadsworth Jr, Toronto.
