The NEW Firestone BALLOON for Speed with Safety

Back to the ORIGINATOR of the BALLOON TIRE

Most Miles Per Dollar

FIRESTONE now announces another new tire* again built in advance of today's car requirements. This new Firestone Heavy Duty Gum-Dipped Balloon surpasses in strength, in toughness, in traction and in wear-resistance, any tire that even Firestone ever built before.

This new tire provides a wide margin of safety at any speed on any road. It has a deeper tread, extra sidewall thickness and scientific construction of alternating plies of live cushion gum and Gum-Dipped cords. Two extra plies of Gum-Dipped cords just beneath the tread absorb road shocks — Firestone engineering and design give you a wide margin of safety for fast driving.

At every Firestone Dealer's, you can recognize the new Heavy Duty Balloons by their magnificent construction and by the gold stripe that stands out against the ebony black sidewalls. See your nearest Firestone Dealer to day.

MYSELF

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed.
I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed.
I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear.
I will waste no moment whining, and my heart shall know no fear.
I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise.
I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze;
I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread.
I will never have resentment when all others move ahead;
I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown—
I will not deny his merit, but I'll try to prove my own;
I will see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine;
I will cease to preach your duty and be more concerned with mine.

BRAIN FOOD

There is a popular belief that certain foods, notably fish, are brain foods, and it is thought that the free use of each foods will, in some way, improve the brain tissue and so increase the mental ability.

There is no evidence that any particular food, such as fish, or that the use of foods containing any special constituent, such as phosphorus, affects, in any way, the mental development of the human being.

It muts be remembered that all parts of the body are interdependent. The proper nutrition of one part implies proper nutrition of all other parts.

If the diet is deficient in one or another essential, the whole body suffers, although some part or tissue may show the ill effects sooner than others.

It is important that the brain be properly nourished. This cannot happen if the blood supply is interfered with. If the heart is not pumping properly, if the blood cells are abnormal if the blood is not getting rid of the waste material it picks up from the tissues, if one or more such abnormal conditions occur, the brain tissues suffers, together with all the other tissues which go to make up the body.

In order to have the tissues of the body healthy, we must live a hygienic life. We must eat the proper foods and secure fresh air and sunshine, we must rest and play, and live what is described as a hygienic life. A hygienic life is a well-rounded existence wherein sufficient attention is given to all the needs of the body. In such an existence, the individual does not over-do one thing and neglect another, but balances all the needs, giving to each a reasonable amount of attention.

We are not all born equal in a sense that we all have the same physical and mental capacities. We vary a great deal, and what we should strive for is to develop, to the full, the capacities with which we are born. If we are in condition of health, then we have achieved our aim.

In seeking to secure this development, we find that the hygienic life plays a considerable part. We cannot increase our brain capacity by eating any particular food, but we can help our brin tissue to be in a condition of health by paying attention to the general health needs of the body.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

SAFETY FOR BATHERS

Outdoor bathing is healthful. Swimming is a fine exercise since it brings into use all the large muscles of the body. In addition to the refreshing effect of the swim, there is also the advantage of the sun bath.

Unfortunately, every summer there are a number of tragedies resulting from outdoor bathing. Carelessness and over-confidence are the causes of these tragedies. It is not so often the person who cannot swim who is the victim as it is the swimmer who attempts to swim too far.

We do not suggest that a timid fearful attitude is what we should have. We do think, however, that a common-sense moderation is required in regard to swimming as it is with other things in life.

You should not go into the water right after a meal. Wait until the food you have eaten has had time to be digested.

Exhaustion is always dangerous. It is never wise to strain the body by pushing it too far, to the point of exhaustion, and if this is done in swimming, it simply invites trouble. Always stop before you are tired out.

It is a mistake to go in bathing alone. Someone should be within call in case of an accident.

Anyone who suffers from fainting spells or epileptic seizures should keep out of the water, or at least, out of anything exceeding very shallow water, and, in the latter case, only in the company of a friend. Persons with heart disease, kidney disease, and those who have a high blood pressure should not go in bathing excepting upon the advice of their physician and then only under the conditions and for the length of time he recommends.

Everyone should know how to swim and unless you can swim, it is simply folly to take chances in canoes. The canoe is safe when properly handled, but so often it is in charge of someone who is unskilled, or else some foolish passenger decides that it is fun to change seats or to rock the boat.

We would advise everyone to learn how to swim. It is a fine exercise and provides a desirable form of recreation. Swimming may also be the means of saving your own life or that of another. Inability to swim cuts you out of many pleasant hours during the summer. If you cannot swim, do not be foolish and take chances; learn to swim. If you can swim a little bit, do not get the idea that you are a Channel swimmer and try to prove it. Be moderate in your swimming; make it a pleasure and not a harmful gamble with fate.

WIFE OF HALTON WARDEN VICTIM OF FATAL STROKE

Death came suddenly on Friday last, to one of Oakville's highly esteemed citizens, Mrs. W. H. Morden, wife of Reeve Morden, warden of Halton County, Lake Shore west.

Mrs. Morden who had been in her usual health suffered a stroke from which she failed to rally. Her maiden name was Christine MacKay. Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacKay were pioneers of Trafalgar township where she was born 59 years ago. She was a lifelong member of Knox Presbyterian Church, Oakville, and an active worker in the Eastern Star.

Surviving are her husband and three daughters, Mrs. W. S. Shaw, Vancouver; Mrs. W. L. Shaw, Newmarket, and Mrs. Frank Husband, Toronto and two sons, W. E. and Campbell of Oakville, and also three sisters, Mrs. N. J. Robinson, Toronto; Mrs. A. P. Langtry, Merton, and Mrs. J. L. Heinson, Oakville.

Smith— "Do you mean to say you flirted with your own wife all the evening at the masked ball, and didn't know her?"

Brown—"That's right; but she was so agreeable how was I to know her?"

"Had a puncture, my friend," asked the cheerily inquisitive passer-by.

The weary motorist looked up. "No old man," he said as calmly as he could, "I'm just giving the tires a change of air."

SIR ROBERT BORDEN CELEBRATED 76th BIRTHDAY

Sir Robert Borden, former prime minister of Canada, celebrated his 76th birthday on June 27th.

He was born at Grand Pre, N.S., in 1854. In 1878 he was professor at Glenwood Institute, N.J., and later returned to Nova Scotia to study law. He began his political career in 1896, when he was elected to parliament for Halifax. He was leader of the Conservative opposition from 1901 to 1911, when, on the fall of the Laurier Liberal administration, he became premier. In 1917 he formed the Union government, in which Liberals and Conservatives were equally represented. He resigned on account of ill-health in 1920, and resides at present in Ottawa.

One of the employees of the Ford plant dreamed that Henry had died. In his dream he saw the rust-proof nickeled casket being borne by six of Henry's oldest and most faithful employees. As the cortage came by Henry suddenly popped up in the casket, gave a quick glance around, and exclaimed,

"If you'd put rollers under this thing you could easily lay off five men."
