Bone and Shrapnel Removed

Posmoster C. F. Nutting of Walkerton, whose left arm, which was badly shattered above the elbow in the war, has been giving him so much trouble of late that he was advised by medical men to have the limb amputated, went to London with the intention of having the arm removed, but Dr. Hedley Williams, an eminent surgeon, decided to perform the eighth opration on the limb in a final attempt to save it. As a consequence Mr. Nutting underwent a severe operation at Victoria Hospital, London, last week, when particles of fractured bone were removed a few inches above the elbow, and a piece of shrapnel taken from the shoulder. The genial postmaster has recuperated sufficiently as to permit him returning home the latter part of this week. —Telescope.

Durham Orangemen will celebrate next Twelfth of July at home.

Charles Caldwell, a mail carrier of Durham, died suddenly of heart failure.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Corbett Are The Happy Couple

A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H.Corbett, retired postmaster at Proton Station, on January 21st, when they, with their children and grandchildren, celebrated their Golden Wedding.

The event was unusually happy, as all the children of the family are living and well, all being present except the youngest son, who resides in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. Corbett and both quite hale and hearty and enjoying life after their strenuous work in the office. Mr. Corbett was also a prosperous farmer for a number of years near Bethel, and was quite active in municipal affairs, being Reeve for a number of years.

The home was beautifully decorated in gold and white. The guest room was lighted with candle light, the candlesticks being souvenirs from old Ireland. Even the bride's cake looked very tasty in its gold and white mantle.

A pleasant part of the evening was a nicely worded address read by the eldest son and the presenting of two beautiful chairs to the happy bride and groom of fifty years ago. Mr. Corbett replied very fittingly in a few well-chosen words.

Many messages were received, among which were greetings from their son in the West, and granddaughter, Ottillie Lockhart, nurse in Toronto, who could not be present.

Theday was one of the coldest for a long time, but the guests paid little heed tothe howling wind and drifting snow. Their thoughts were centred on the balmy days of childhood when all were at home. After a real enjoyable evening spent in games and music, the party broke up with a prayer in each heart that father and mother may both be spared many years to enjoy their well-earned rest.

The children of the family are :— John M. Corbett, Dundalk; Walter, Toronto; Mrs. J. S. Lockhart, Proton; Herb Corbett, Proton; Edwin, Dundalk and Dalton at Abbey, Sask.

This is the time of year when you can't get downed by falling out of a canoe, but if you look around you can always find some thin ice for skating.

Aged Bentinck Farmer Found Sick And With No Fire

Mr. Frank Warner a resident of Bentinck twp., near Crawford, has been taken to the Durham hospital in a serious condition. No foot tracks were visible for some time from his shack so neighbors called and found him nearly frozen and sick with no fire in the place. Mr. Warner has been alone for some years and is about 70 years of age. His wife is with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Subject, somewhere in Illinois.

When a man says he made a fresh "hook up" it is just possible that he is referring to his radio and not his wife's gown.
