An item has been going the rounds stating that trout fishing will not open until May 15th. This is incorrect. The old date still applies—May first. The fish and game committee recommended such a change, but their recommendation was not adopted. It does not mean much in this district one way or the other, as there are not many fish left to be caught.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT CHURCHES SUNDAY

Easter in the churches this year was fittingy recognized by special sermons and special floral decorations. In the Methodist church at night the audience was unusually large, quite filling the church. In addition to a finely rendered anthem by the choir, Miss Sparks of Hamilton rendered "The Holy City," and a series of lantern slides were shown illustrating the life and crucifixion of Christ. Several appropriate hymns, also shown on slides, were sung by the audience. The Sabbath school also recognized Easter this year, when the pupils of the primary classes were presented with pretty baskets containing candy Easter eggs.

The Baptist church also treated their little ones in a similar way.

The Easter sermon in the Presbyterian church was based on ohn 20-29: "Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed; blessed are they that have not seen, and yet believed." The music was appropriate for the occasion. In th Sababth school the junior pupils were treated to prettily decorated basketts of Easter eggs. The floral decorations were very pretty.

BUSSEY—CHERRY

On Wednesday, April 16th at 11 a. m. the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Cherry, Wodehouse, was the scene of a pretty little wedding. when their only daughter, Edna May, became the bride of Mr. John Bussey, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bussey of England.

The ceremony, which took place under an arch of greenery, mingled with Easter lillies, was conducted by Rev. J. S. Veales, only the immediate relatives were present.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with white bugle beads and wore a draped veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Miss Alice Elford of Epping acted as bridesmaid and wore a sand silk and wool crepe dress. Mr. Harvey Cornfield of Kimberley supported the groom. Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered by Mrs. J. S. Veales.

After the ceremony and congratulations a wedding dinner was served in the dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Bussey left for Toronto on the afternoon train, the bride travelling in a very becoming hat and gloves.

The groom's gift to the bride was a dainty lovalier; to the pianist a handsome hand bag. After a short honeymoon the happy couple will take up residence at Owen Sound.

Third Pirze In Contest

Miss Elsie Ferris, who is attending Collingwood Business College, won third prize in the typewriting competition held in Collingwood on April 16. Many of the contestants were typists of many years' experience, and the performance of Miss Ferris, who is not yet through her course, is deserving of much praise. She wrote at the rate of 56.1 words a minute for fifteen consecutive minutes on entirely new matter. Taking into consideration that the average stenographer writes under 40 words a minute. Miss Ferris has certainly shown more than casual ability.

DEMONSTRATION WAS GOOD

Great interest was taken in the pruning and grafting demonstration held in Proton, Flesherton, Maxwell and Priceville under the supervision of the Flesherton high school. Mr. J. A. Neilson of Vineland is experienced in that line of work and those present and interested in the work profited greatly. A large number was present at each place.

SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK

Sneak thieves were working one night last week at the sugar bush belonging to Mr. Chas. Doupe, when about ten gallons of syrup were stolen from the camp. Mr. Doupe left the bush at 9 o'clock at night for home, and it was after that the thieves got in their dirty work.

DEBATE IN METHODIST CHURCH FRIDAY EVENING

A debate will be held in the Methodist church this Friday evening between Inistioge and Flesherton on the subject resolved "that drink is a greater menace to the state than war." Miss Mildred Caswell and Mr. George Akins of Flesherton will uphold the negative, while Miss Emily Acheson and Mr. Russell aPtterson will debate for Inistioge. An interesting evening is the prospect.

Special services were held last week in the Methodist church.

Mr. F. G. Karstdt is distributing a carload of small coal around town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Down and Miss Eva Inkster atended the funeral of Mrs. Rufus Whitby in Markdale on Monday. Miss Inkster had been nursing the deceased lady all the past winter. Mrs. Whitby had Bright's disease.

BOUGHT BUSINESS IN ALLISTON

Mr. F. Dowling Purchased Bus Business Last Week

Mr. Frank Dowling of town has purchased a bus and mail business in Alliston from Mr. C. Gill and takes possesion the first of May. His son, Eric, leaves this week to get an initiation into the business. Mr. Dowling and family came from England last Spring and for a time worked with Mr. Fred Pinder. Since coming to Flesherton the family have proved themselves to be good citizens and we can confidently recommend them to the people of Alliston. Eric is a pianist of considerable merit and the assistance he has accorded here at various functions was much appreciated. We are sorry to lose Mr. Dowling and family but wish them the best sucecss in their new undertaking.

BURNED TO DEATH

A tragedy resulting in the death of Ross Carter, second son of Reeve Jos. G. Carter of Greenock occurred on Wednesday afternoon of last week at a fire which destroyed their home about a mile and a quarter west of Enniskillen. It seems that sparks from the chimney ignited the roof, and, seeing the structure doomed, young Carter and a chum, Richard McConkey. hurried upstairs and were carrying out his mothers bureau containing many of her valuables, when the roof, wihch had been burning briskly, caved in, carrying with it the ceiling and all.

Carter was crushed under the falling debris and was burned to a crisp, his charred remains being found amid the ashes of his home after the fire had razed the structure to the ground. Only the head and arms being missing.

McConkey, too, was almost caught in the crash, and was bady burned forcing his way to an openinr. where, with clothes aflame, he leaped out, breaking his left leg below the knee. He was rushed to the County hospital at Walkerton, where he is now undergoing treatment for his wounds.

Ross Carter, the victim of the tragedy, was 22 years of age.

A Good World

Oh. everything is bully in this gay world of ours, and all my paths are fully begarlanded with flowers. It's true I have the measles, the shingles and a wen, and bobcats, skunks or weasles have killed my old gray hen; but illness or reverses can't make me sprinkle tears, or hand out vulgar curses that might ofiend your ears. Cold winds no longer hound us. the sky is bright and blue, and spring is all around us, and balmy winds come through. The day is bright and smiling and any man's a swine who stands around reviling a world so good and fine. It's true my teeth are aching, and certain joints are sore, where rheumatism is making itself a beastly bore; it's true my spotted heifer has foot and mouth disease—but oh, that scented zephyr, that fragrant vernal breeze! It comes from lands of spices, from islands in the sea, and in a brace of trices, it brings relief to me! This good old world we dwell in, in which we play our game, and paw around and yell in is all the blue prints claim. Sometimes the skies are cloudy and winds chant sad laments; sometimes the days are dowdy and look like fourteen cents; but take things all together, the world is bright and fair; and much I question whether it's equalled anywhere.—Walt Mason.

TEETER—STOCKS.

At the Presbyterian manse, Markdale, on Wednesday. April 16, by the Rev. Gray, Wilfred Teeter. son of Mr. Price Teeter, Flesherton, to Lilly Stocks, youngest daughter of Mr.Robert Stocks, Maxwell. The young couple visited friends in Toronto and on their return Monday were given a reception at the hohe of the groom's father, west back line.

CONTRACTS WERE LET

Warden McTavish, the Mayor of Owen Sound and the Reeve of Holland were in Markdale on Wednesday of last week to let tenders for supplies for the House of Refuge. The coal contract was let to J. Murdock of Durham. The other tenders all went to Markdale firms—bread to I. England, groceries to F. T. Hill & Co., meat to Haslam & Johnston, and undertaking to M. Oliver.

The House of Refuge has at the present time 63 inmates. Included in these is one remarkable old man—a pioneer of Artemesia township—who is in his 105th year. He is smarter to-day than many men at 75 years of age.

Found Black Fox Puppies

While cutting wood last week John O'Malley and Hery Kelly discovered a fox den and after digging them out, to their surprise found there were six black fox pups about three days old. It was just like finding a diamond in the rough. However they were puzzled just what to do to raise them, when they learned that James Kirby's collie was raising a bunch of pups and Jim was induced to wean the collie pups and give the black foxes a chance. Mother collie has taken charge of the little black fellows and they are thriving just as well as her own litter which are now getting their daily supply of cow's milk from a dish. If the little fellows can be raised and kept in captivity. they will be worth some money.—Teeswater News.

An Accomplished Singer

Miss Helen Sparks, teacher of Dramatic Art in Hamilton schools, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fisher this week. Miss Sparks is a talented vocalist and delighted the large audience in the Methodist church Sunday evening by her rendering of "The Holy City." This young lady has been heard here on several former occasions, and her hearers were unanimously of opinion that her voice has considerably improved since her last appearance.
