IMPROVING THE MEMORIAL PARK

Considerable Work Is Being Done—Expect To Have Tennis Courts

A committee of ladies composed of Mrs. O. W. Phillips, Mrs. W. A. Hawken and Mrs. W. I. Henry have been busy fixing up the park recently. They have planted young maples all along the frontage, levelled the ground perfectly below the hill and sowed it with grass seed. Later, when this grows, it will be rolled and made into an ideal tennis ground or bowling green.

As the park stands now it is a delightful spot for motor parties to camp, with kitchenette for cooking, tables, etc., al lof which is free to all. A number of motor parties used it last year, but many more are expected to make use of it this year.

The women will spend considerable more on the park this year to bring it nearer completion, by building roads therein and in other ways. It is hoped to secure from the government the usual 25 per cent. grant it pays towards public parks. A good many hundred dollars has already been spent, and the government assistance would make it possible to make our Memorial Park the finest thing of its kind in any town of its size in our whole Dominion.

INISTIOGE WON THE SEMI-FINAL DEBATE

In Methodist Church Friday Evening Last

On Friday evening last in the auditorium of the Flesherton Methodist church the semi-final debate of the Owen Sound Debating League took place. Inistioge and Flesherton came together before a large crowd onthe subject resolved "that drink is a greater evil to the state than war." Inistioge supported the affirmative, Flesherton the negative, the former emerging victorious. The contestants delivered their addresses with a surety which bespoke long study and much preparation. There was little to choose between either team and until the decision was announced none knew just what the result wouldbe. The debaters were complimented on their delivery and manner of speaking. The Inistioge team is Emily Acheson and Russel Patterson, while Flesherton was supported by Mildred Caswell and George Akins. The subject is of world-wide importance at the present time.

The affirmative built their arguments upon the evils to man such as, enormous cost of drink; harm done to the home; drink causes diseases; drink leads to other habits; drink causes crime; drink lowers morals, and many other good arguments.

The negative upheld their side with the following points: Harm that was done to mankind in men-sacrifice; war causes diseases; war ruins sport; war ruins the moral of the state; war wrecks the financial exchange systems of the state; war causes the code of honor between nations to cease, thus leading to new wars; enormous cost of war; war ruins manufacturing, commerce, and destroys the natural resources of the country, etc.

The judges were Rev. J. S. Veales of Kimberley, Rev. F. N. Bowes tf Markdale and Mr. T. S. Cooper, also of Markdale, Mr. J. S. Dundas presided at the organ in his usual good manner.
