The rains of the past week have been of just the right quality to bring along vegetation with great speed. These seem to ensure bumper crops all around, and the heat which accompanied them will help to make up for the lost time through the backward spring.

The Owen Sound Salvation Army band gave a musical service in Memorial Park on Sunday forenoon, which was remarkably well attended. There was said to have been 600 people present, many coming from long distances around. A regular service was held, including many sacred pieces by the band. We noticed Hon. I. B. Lucas in the audience.

Flesherton Memorial Park auto camp had its first occupants one night last week, a bride and groom who were returning to Quebec after a wedding tour. They expressed themselves as highly delighted with the accomodation, and declared it to be the finest camp they had seen in their travels. We will be glad to accommodate more travellers of this kind.

There will be a big thing in town on Friday evening of this week when a moving picture show of more than ordinary interest will be given at the pavilion in Memorial Park. While this may be considered of an advertising nature, still it is something that will intensely interest everybody and is very instructive as well. Everything is free. The Park will be well lighted and there will also be some first class music furnished. Jump into your car and bring out the whole family. See bills, and advertisement in this issue.

While Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Paul of Eugenia were at the woollen mill here on Thursday last the horse took fright at some object and threw Mrs. Paul from the buggy, in which she was alone at the time. She was badly bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. Mrs. Paul was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Bentham, where she still remains.

AND THE BAND PLAYED

Mr. Joe Park and his fine band gave the citizens of Flesherton and surrounding country a rare treat on Wednesday evening of last week, when they came up 21 members strong and rendered a very fine program of music for the delectation of hundreds of people who gathered on the square to listen. The square was packed with motors and people, who listened to one of the choicest programs of band music ever heard here. The band was given seating room on the verandah of the Munshaw House, which was well lighted.

It had been the intention to have the program in Memorial Park, but the wire for stringing lights had not arrived, so other arrangements had to be made.

After the program of nearly two hours' duration the band was invited to Mr. W. A. Armstrong's home, where on his spacious verandah they were served with refreshments and Mr. George Mitchell conveyed to Mr. Park and his musical organization the thanks of the community for their generosity.

Owen Sound Child Smothered To Death

Owen Sound, Ont., June 22.—The ten-months' old baby of Fred and Mrs. Flint, of Owen Sound, was smothered to death some time early Saturday morning. The child was sleeping with its parents and was found in the morning smothered under the bed clothes. The baby was in perfect good health on Friday and was put to bed with the parents. On Saturday morning when the child's grandfather came into the room to inquire for the baby he found that the child had slipped under the covers unknown to its parents and had been smothered to death. Coroner Dr. A. B. Rutherford investigated on Saturday morning, but decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

MAXWELL YOUNG IS KILLED IN THE WEST

Son Of Councillor Henderson Of Maxwell Is Instantly Killed At Moosejaw

A despatch was received here Tuesday morning anonuncing the death of James Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson of Maxwell, at Moosejaw, Sask., Monday. Beyond the bare statement that the young man was killed on a pole, no particulars are to hand.

The deceased young man went West about ten years ago. For some time he was engaged in farming but more recently he has been on electric work under his cousin, R. M. Henderson, who is superintendent of the electric plant there. He was unmarried.

A peculiarly sad feature of this case is that another brother, who was also out West, became ill and returned home a year or so ago. He passed away this spring from his affliction. The loss of two sons within the year is a terrible blow to Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, to whom the deep sympathy of all is extended.

SAVED THEIR NECKS BUT SCRAPPED CAR

Car Turned Over And Man Had Collar Bone Broken

Two young men named Hood and Foulke of Markdale were the heroes of a car accident in the long swamp this side of Priceville on Friday last, about 2 a.m. They were on their way from Durham. Nobody knows just what happened, but it was said the driver was asleep at the post; and it came very near being his "Last Post." Anyway the car left the road, which is perfectly smooth and level at ihts point, and turned a somersault into the swamp. Foulke had his collar bone broken and was obliged to call in the services of Dr. Turnbull to have the physical damage attended to. The damage to the car will be looked after by another kind of physician and consisted of broken windshield, top, fenders and tires. It was said to look as though it had come through the gun fire at Courcelette or some oher fierce artillery battle.

School Trustee Meeting

A meeting of the Artemesia School Trustees' Association will be held in the town hall, Flesherton, on Saturday, June 28th, at 2 p.m. Reports of delegates to the O. E. A., etc. Ratepayers welcome.—R. Allen, Secretary.

Miss E. Reynolds has resigned her position as teacher of the junior room of the public school after a year and a half of faithful work. Her many friends will be sorry to see Miss Reynolds leave us. The position was advertised for and some forty applications were received and Mrs C. J. Bellamy was chosen, duties to commence after the holidays.

Post-Mortem Is Ordered Into Death In Wiarton

Wiarton, Ont., June 22. — Robert Edward Street, aged 65 years, manager of the Imperial Oil Company's station at Wiarton, died on Saturday, after a few hours' illness. He had been missing from home all day Friday, and returned about 11 p.m., Friday, but slept in a barn until early Saturday morning. When he went into the house he told his wife he felt very ill, but not to get a doctor. During the morning his condition became alarming, and two doctors were called. They found Street to be in a dying condition, and he passed away shortly after. The cause of death was stated by the doctors to be alcoholic poisoning. Crown Attorney Dixon of Bruce County, has ordered a post-mortem examination to be held Monday afternoon.

Agricultural Commission Is Entertained At Eugenia

Dr. Jamieson's Agricultural Commission was in town on Thursday last week while on their way to Thornbury to hold a meeting that afternoon. The personel of the Commission is:

Hon. Dr. Jamieson (Con.) South Grey), Chairman,
W. D. Keith (Con., North York.
A. Belanger (Lib., Russell),
N. Trewartha (Con , Huron),
A. Lethbridge (U.F.O., Middlesex),
M.M.MacBride (Labor, Brantford),
with Mr. P. J. Cronyn, the Secretary of the Commission.

The gentlemen went out to Rock Mills to visit Mr. Dargavel's fox ranch, then to Eugenia, where members of the party inspected Pheasant Island. After this the party partook of a speckled trout dinner provided by Mine Host Munshaw. This was very much appreciated by the visitors, who were quite lost for words to express their feelings after feasting on the toothsome dainty. After dinner was over a toast was proposed by Mr. Keith, joining the name of Dr. Jamieson therewith, and spoke in very laudatory terms of the work of the member for South Grey. Mr. Boulanger seconded the toast and said that were he to have no other political joys or triumphs during his career his one great pleasure would be to remember his friendship and association with Dr. Jamieson.

The party then proceeded to Thornbury where a meeting was held. On Friday the Commission met in Wiarton.

BRAKES WERE GOOD

With regard to the death of Miss Hay in a motor accident, reported in last week's paper, The Advance is informed by members of the family that the statement that the brakes were out of order is incorrect. The young woman's brother examined the brakes that morning and found them all right. This young man feels his sister's death very keenly and wishes the public to know that he was not negligent in looking after the car to see that everything was in perfect working order before going out. A test of the car after the accident would prove the correctness of his statement, as a sudden application of the service brake caused the wheels to skid for some distance, showing that the brake was doing its work.

The family have no theory for the accident, other than that the young woman must have become excited and did not do the correct thing in attempting to hold the car. It all happened in a few seconds of time and even those in the car do not know just how it occurred.
