The names of those east side boys who have been robbing fruit trees in some people's garden's are known, and have been handed to Judge Hibbard for possible use if necessary. He don't want them arrested but he does want them to go and settle the matter with the owners of those fruit trees.

It has been generally reported and believed that Edward Nolan who was motorman on the ill-fated car last Saturday that caused the death of Daniel Cole, also was in charge of of the car which killed the aged Mr. Stewart a year or so ago. But that is a mistake, for another man was motorman on that car. Mr. Nolan has no such record in fatality accidents as some have supposed.

The contract for the septic tank at the foot of the sewer near the water works has been awarded to J. J. O'Hara for $2,500. A. W. Fletcher's protest in regard to injury to his property by the proximity of the tank caused the location to be changed a hundred feet further south. This is the first one of the four sewer outlets to have a septic tank. The tank will filter the sewerage about sixty per cent, leaving the other forty per cent in clear solution to go out into the lake.

Dr. Frank M. Ingalls leaves Sunday for a five weeks' trip to California and he has asked Judge Hibbard to attend to his pattents, collect his bills and pay his fines for riding about the city after dark without a lantern. Of course the patients will all get well, for the judge was once a very successful homoepathic practioneer, and only gave up practice because he was curing people so rapidly, the other doctors feared there would be no one left for them to operate on.' He spent one full week studying the profession and then engaged in practice. He says he always felt one great satisfaction —"the little pellets might not do the patient any good, but they certainly could do no harm." He tried a whole bottle full on a child once.

THE "CITY OF CRICKETS."

Seems to Be an Appropriate Name for San Antonio, Tex.—Insects Are Plentiful There.

"San Antonio ought to be called the city of crickets," said a man who has just returned to New Orleans from Texas, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "for I have never found as many crickets anywhere on earth as I found out there. It is not simply a case of the cricket on the hearth. It is a case of the cricket everywhere you go. I have been trying to figure out why it is that these insects are so plentiful in the Texas town in question. At night they swarm around the electric lights like the bugs we are familiar with in other places. It is impossible to walk along the streets without stepping on them. And there is just a bit of poetry about the situation in San Antonio with respect to cricket life there.

The people generally look upon them with a feeling of affection, and it is a rare thing to see a citizen show any sort of indifference to the members of this interesting family. No man would think of treading on a cricket. They take particular pains not to do anything that would in any way injure the lives or limbs of crickets. I was speaking of the poetry of the situation. It is a fine thing to hear the crickets crooning early in the evening. They chirp as cheerfully as if they were hidden away in the weeds of some romantic hedge or on the hearth which has been immortalized in verse and song. Men hurry along the streets; women brush along with their musical skirts, and all the while the crickets keep on crooning their little love songs, just as if the pulses of humanity were not beating about them. It is interesting, picturesque, poetic and, if I had my way, I would christen San Antonio the 'City of Crickets.' I think the name would add color to a city already romantic in its rich coloring."
