CORONER TAYLOR AIDS IN STORM

Dr. J. L. Taylor, of Libertyville, coroner of the county, who was returning from Europe from a honeymoon, gave professional aid Tuesday when the White Star Liner Arabic, from Hamburg to New York, was struck by a hurricane about 25 miles east of Nantucket.

The wind and storm left 50 passengers and 17 members of the crew injured and Dr. Taylor disregarded personal safety to assist in caring for the wounded.

He, and his wife, and her son, Donald, were uninjured, according to a telegram received by Dr. Taylor's daughter. The wire came from New York shortly after the big ship had limped into port.

The ship made port almost twelve hours after the storm had struck. During all this time Dr. Taylor gave up thought of personal comfort and cared for the wounded.

FARMERS ADVISED TO SAVE OLD CORN

The spring of 1924 was unusually backward in many sections. Following this, the growing conditions were not good, with the result that the bulk of the corn is extremely late throughout the corn belt northward. It is so late that most of the crop will be unfit for seed unless frost holds off longer than usual.

The United States department of agriculture is calling attention to this fact at the present time in order to prevent, if possible, a serious seed-corn situation in the spring of 1925. The higher prices for corn in the last few weeks are drawing much of the old crop from the farms. Farmers not having enough seed corn for 1925 left over from last year's supply should save the best of their bulk crib corn from which to obtain seed, if necessary. If this year's crop is killed by frost before it is mature, this old corn will provide a source from which seed can be selected for planting in 1925.

BUSINESS MEN OPEN MECHANICS' SCHOOL

Vocational Training Provided To Assure Sufficient Number of Workmen

To assure a sufficient number of skilled workmen, vocational training is to be provided at Dallas in a school endowed by business men. The school is planned to promote the industrial development of Dallas and the southwest. Training will be offered in molding, plumbing, plastering, bricklaying and other trades, and instruction will be given in both the theory and the practice of the trade. A small fee will be charged for tuition, but a loan fund will be established for the benefit of boys who are unable to pay for their course while they are students. Financial support of the school is guaranteed by contributions made by Dallas citizens, who have pledged about $500,000 in behalf of the enterprise. Equipment for the first units of the school is soon to be available.

The school is chartered under the laws of Texas. The charter provides that the control of the school shall be vested in an advisory council of one hundred citizens, who are to serve for life. The council of one hundred citizens was selected by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, and all vacancies in the council will be filled by the directors of the chamber. The arrangement is to make certain that the control of the school will be held by citizens who will manage its affairs to the best interest of the community. From the advisory council is selected a board of twenty-one directors for the active management of the school.

No question of the open or the closed shop has had place in the organization of the school, nor is any question of the kind to be included in the instructions.
