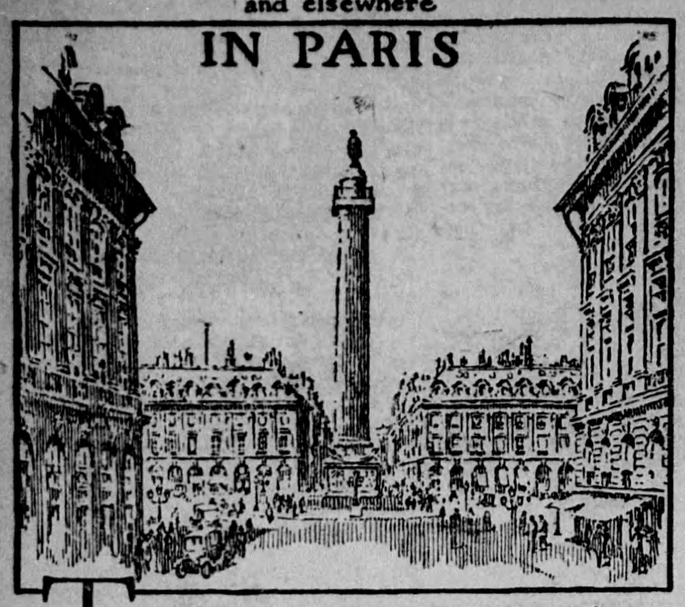
Other countries made the same mistake. They thought the wastage of ships during the war was so great that the nation which won out in the race to restore a mercantile marine would capture world trade. The United States won the arce and is now burning wooden ships that cost over a billion dollars. Thus has the wisdom of statesmen and industrial captains been dumfounded.

ELEVENTH
of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere

IN PARIS



THE PARIS subsidiary of the Bank of Montreal is situated in a quarter rich in historic interest.

From a lofty column in Place Vendôme the statue of Napoleon looks out upon an imposing square the construction of which began in 1686 under authority of Louis XIV.—a square which has witnessed many of the city's greatest demonstrations and which now mirrors the social and business life of Paris.

Here, in the heart of the capital of France, the Bank of Montreal in 1919 established a subsidiary office in the Ritz Hotel Building. In February, 1922, the business of this office had become so extensive that enlarged quarters were opened near by at No. 6 Place Vendome.

BANK OF MONTREAL
Established over 100 years
Total Assets in excess of $650,000,000

TOOK THE GEESE BUT PAID UP LATER

Several young men of Flesherton and Markdale had a whale of a time recently, which embraced the capture of four geese from a farmer's barnyard on the east back line, a stalled car on the road and a goose roast in Markdale, also a shelling out of eight dollars to reimburse the farmer for his loss.

The geese were taken from Mr. W. Foster's goosery, and carried to Markdale where some ladies prepared them for the goosefest. There was, however, too much goose for one "fest" and a trip to Irish Lake was arranged to pick the bones at a picnic there. A Flesherton car with the local revellers got stalled for want of gas and the occupants had to phone to Markdale for four gallons of engine feed.

Later on a Markdale employer of some of the young men discovered what a lot of fun the young men had been indulging in and advised them to go to the farmer whom they had despoiled and settle up. This they found it advisable to do, although the loser of the geese had not learned who the culprits were. They were let off quite lightly with two dollars apiece for the geese. Now everyone of the young men engaged in this nefarious piece of fun feels exactly like the birds they demolished and have been examining themsevles for pin feathers.

CHILD'S ARM AMPUTATED

A most distressing accident happened on the eighth line about one mile north of Duntroon when little Ruth Swalm, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Swalm, suffered a compound fracture of the right arm, by falling off a horse on which she was riding. Complications quickly followed which necessitated the amputation of her arm to save her life. The operation was performed in Collingwood G. M. hospital.

The report of the accident is somewhat vague, but it is said that with some other little girls she was playing on the road, and seeing a neighbors horses in an adjoining field two of the little girls caught a horse and managed to get on its back. The horse probably took up speed throwing the girls off with the above unforunate result.—Creemore Star.

Were Not Hen Eggs

An ingenious way of "getting around a prize list in the way of securing prizes was shown at Flesherton fair last week in the class for the largest eggs. It had been the custom just to use common hen eggs to prove whose were the largest, but Mrs. Frank Cairns of Ceylon struck a brilliant idea when she used duck eggs in place of the hen eggs and thereby captured first prize for the largest eggs. There was nothing in the prize list to show that any special kind of eggs were to be used. One gentleman on observing the large "hen" eggs remarked that he was going right back home and take the heads off his chickens if they couldn't lay as large an egg as those shown. Great was the relief, however, when the true nature of the eggs were found out. It isn't likey that the contestants will be left behind by the same trick again next year and the ducks will have to work overtime to supply the demand.

A CORRECTION

Owing to a mistake at our fair last week Mr T. W. Findlay was credited wtih having won first prize on his own Special for a pair of fowl hatched from eggs purchased from him. Mr. Findlay did not have his pen entered for this prize and it was an error of the judge to have taken them into this competition. The mistake is made and to make it right the pen takeing second will get first and Mr. Findlay has offered to give all the other exhibitors one setting of eggs free next spring. This competition will be offered again next fall to those purchasing eggs from him.

Chief of Police Dickson of Toronto believes 20 miles an hour is entirely too much for a speed limit in that city. But the chief will hardly urge that they have exceeded that figure in getting Toronto's new union station into operation.

Moldy Creamery Butter.

Where cream has been pasteurized, moldiness of butter is almost always due to surface contaminations which take place after the butter has been removed from the churn. The air during the summer is always a potential source of infection, loaded as it is, depending on the surroundings, with a larger or smaller number of mold spores. Untreated or inefficiently treated print wrappers and box liners are frequently the cause. Infection has also been traced in some cases to the unparaffined and untreated wood of the boxes in which the butter prints are stored. Walls and ceilings of the box storage space above some creameries, due to the warm and moist conditions which prevail during the summer, are frequently green with molds, from which crop after crop of ripened spores becomes scattered around.

Until such time as buttermakers take complete and thorough steps to destroy mold spores, which otherwise would come in close contact with butter surfaces, moldiness of butter will continue to occur.—D. H. Jones, O.A. College, Guelph.

Give 'em air! One authority estimates a thousand pounds of hens require 3,401 cubic feet of air a day.

The Pennsylvania legislature enacted a condensed skimmilk law which went into effect September 27, 1923. This law provides that no condensed, concentrated, or evaporated skimmilk in hermetically sealed cans may be sold unless the can contains not less than 5 pounds net weight and is properly labeled.
