Esquesing Exhibition.

The Fall Exhibition of the Township of Esquesing Agricultural Association was held at Georgetown on Friday last. The weather was delightful, and a very large crowd came into town to see the sights. The display of grains and other farm produce was small, but of very good quality; the wheat being a very fine sample, and better than any we have yet seen. The ladies' work occupied the chief part of the Hall, and was very creditable to the fair sex. The show of horses was particularly good, and there was a fair exhibition of cattle, sheep, &c. The demands on our space this week prevent us from particularizing the different articles worthy of mention. Our thanks are due to the Secretary, Mr. Murray, and the officers of the association for many favors. The prize list will be found on the fourth page.

THE REASON WHY.—The United States Dispensatory speaks of Wild Cherry Bark as among the most valuable of our indigenous remedies. From an analysis by Dr. Stephen Proctor, it appears to contain starch, resin, tannin, gallic acid, fatty matter, lignin, red coloring matter, salts of lime and potassa and iron. He also obtained a volatile oil associated with Hydrocyanic acid. This bark is a powerful tonic, calmative of nervous irritability and an arterial sedative. It is admirably adapted to the treatment of diseases in which debility of the stomach, or of the system is united with general or local irritation. When largely taken it diminishes the action of the heart, an effect ascribable to the Hydrocyanic acid. The remedy is highly useful and has been employed in this country in the hectic fever of scrofula and consumption. It is well adapted in many cases of dyspepsia, and has been given successfully in intermittent fever."—Wild Cherry Bark enters largely into the composition of that famous Indian medicne, the Great Shoshonees Remedy—which cures as if by magic.

Cramps and pains in the stomach are the result of imperfect in digestion, and may be immediately relieved by a dose of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. A teaspoonful in a little sweetened water is a dose.
