 The mother's death left a young family motherless Geo struggled along for a time and then sold the farm to brother Alfred. A times the house was tenanted and it was one of these times when a family name of Morris lived there and after the farm was bought by Harvey Weir that the house burned down. It was one of those unfortunate happenings where the insurance had expired and was not renewed by the new owner. The wall was good and in due time a house was bought from on the 8th line the former Alf ward home and moved over & set on the old wall. Harvey and Betty now have a ^{comfortable}
