Official Hog Grader At Stock Yards Tuesday

G. BARBOUR, OF THE DOMINION LIVE STOCK BRANCH, GAVE A DEMONSTRATION AT C.P.R. YARDS TUESDAY.

Farmers of Flesherton and the surrounding territory were given a lesson in the grading of hogs here on Tuesday when Mr. G. Barbour, of Brantford, of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, and the official grader for the Brantford and Ingersoll packing houses, gave a practical demonstration and talk on the proper select hogs for sale in the British market.

Mr. Barbour, himself a practical farmer, appeared fully versed in his subject and in his work here, imparted much valuable information to local farmers, which, if acted upon, should put a good many dollars in their pockets and at the same time, raise the percentage of select hogs shipped from this station, of which this week there were very few.

Under the system used here Tuesday, all hogs were graded by an official grader, and considering that the hogs were to be sold f.o.b. Toronto, no further grading was necessary when they reached their destination.

There are nine grades of hogs, as follows: Selects, weighing from 180 to 230 pounds; Thick Smooths, from 170 to 220; Heavy, up to 260; Extra Heavy, over 260; Shop Hogs, 120 to 170; Feeders, thin hogs of any weight; Roughs, those of rough conformation of any weight; No. 1 Sows under 350 and well finished, and No. 2 Sows, taking in any other class of Sow.

One thing the grading had done was to eliminate pretty much except the first two grades, which were the two principal ones with which the average farmer would have to deal with from a market standpoint. The thick smooth is the market priced hog, and it is from this grade that the premiums or "docks" are paid.

The select hog was a hog of smooth and even size from end to end, with good finish and without excess of fat. This was the hog from which the famous Wiltshire side was made and which commanded the highest price on the British market. The trade in the Old Land calls for Wiltshire sides from 45 to 70 pounds, and it was this that led to the setting of the weight at from 180 to 230 pounds live weight at points of shipment. Sixty per cent. of the live hog ready to kill represents the two Wiltshire sides. To illustrate, a 230 pound hog makes two 60 pound Wiltshire sides.

In speaking to the large number of stockmen present, Mr. Barbour pointed out that the only proper method of disposing of hogs was on the graded basis, and that the larger percentage of selects produced, the higher would be the price of hogs.

One advantage of the grading regulations since inauguration, was the raising of the price of Canadian hogs in Britain. In 1922 the Canadian price was 28 shillings below the Danish, while to-day it is 5 shillings. The United States, on the other hand, is falling off badly in sales, because of the fact that their bacon is not at all up to the standard and sells today for 25 shillings below the price paid for Canadian products. The United States raises cheap hogs but even at cheap prices, Canadian bacon, with the enormous difference in price, always finds a ready market and the sales of these two countries are increasing by leaps and bounds.

Mr. Barbour in an enthusiastic champion of the system whereby the farmer markets his own products and says that the best evidence of this benefit can be found in communities in which hog grading is practised and where any other system would be looked upon in disfavor.
