George Hislop Died In Hamilton Hospital

Had Leg Amputated Above Knee When Gangerine Set In

Another fine example of young manhood, in the person of Mr. George Martin Hislop, answered the last roll call on Thursday, June 18th, 1925, a young man of 31 years and 4 months. He had been employed with the Bell Telephone Company for some time and on Thursday morning, June 11th, the line men were working on a line about five miles from Milton. George ascended a thirty-foot pole, which broke off at the bottom, and allowed him to fall about twenty feet resulting in a compound fracture of the bone between the knee and ankle. His fellow workmen at once rushed him to Hamilton hospital, 25 miles distant, where al medical aid could be given him. It was then found necessary to amputate the leg about sir inches above the knee. Gas gangerine set in and another amputation was made a few inches above the first. Again the doctors split the leg up in several places to get ahead of the gangerine, but the dreaded disease attacked the other leg which in the end proved fatal.

He suffered much, but remained conscious until the very last. His mother was with him through the few last days and his sister visited him on Wednesday, and was on her way to see him again on Thursday, but arrived too late to hear his parting words. "Mother," he said, "Will it be hard to die?" "Not if you love Jesus," she replied. He said "I love Jesus." He asked how he'd place his hands to die and as he folded his arms he fell asleep in Jesus. George was of a quiet yet cheerful disposition and had many friends. The remains were brought home on Friday and interment took place to the family plot in Salem cemetery, 8th line. Rev. Jos. Harrower of the church here preached a very consoling sermon in the church, where the remains were taken at two o'clock. He took his text from the book of Job. George's favorite hymn, "Yield Not to Temptation," was one of the hymns which were sung. He was a member of L.O.L. 1118, the members of which surrounded the grave and paid their last respects to a departed brother. The floral tributes were beautiful, there being a pillow from the family; circle from Eugenia friends and neighbors; a sheaf from Miss Lyla Johnston, Whitby; circle from L.O.L. 1118; pillow from boy chums of the Bell Telephone Co.; a wreath from the office staff, Division Construction Dept., Toronto; spray from Mrs. Jos. Williams and Mrs. Jake Williams. The flower bearers were his six chums of the Bell Telephone Co. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Stanley Campbell, Henry Tudor, Duncan Williams, Will Gordon, Cardwell Graham and Albert Williams, all members of the L.O.L.

Friends from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Adam Genoe and Mrs. J. Baird, Meaford; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Campbell and Miss Millie Campbell, Mrs. Jake Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Williams and son, Jos., all of Toronto, and a number of telephone boys. We extend our profound sympathy to the family in their sad bereavement.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Wm. Hislop, he leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Mrs. John Campbell and Mrs. Wilfred Magee of Eugenia, and one brother, Stewart, in the West.
