Mrs. J. J. Kaitting

With startling suddenness, death came to an old and much respected citizen of Osprey township, in the person of Agnes Davidson, beloved wife of J. J. Kaitting of Feversham. On Tuesday evening, Sept 8th, she was stricken with a paralytic stroke followed by unconsciousness almost immediately. Despite the best of care and attention, she never regained consciousness, and passed to the Great Beyond, very peacefully at 2 p.m., on Friday, Sept 11th.

The deceased was in her seventy-second year. She was born in York township on April 8th, 1854. When six years old she came to Osprey with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davidson. In 1874 she married J. J. Kaitting, and shortly after, they moved to Michigan, where they resided some fourteen years. They then returned to Osprey, where the remainder of her life was spent.

She was the youngest and last survivor of a family of eight, and leaves to mourn their loss, a loving husband, Mr. J. J. Kaitting of Feversham, two daughters, Mrs. Geo. H. Burke, of Osprey and Queenie at home, and two sons, William of Osprey, and Guy of Buffalo. One daughter, Bertie, (Mrs. J. I. McKeown,) predeceased her, by two years and seven months.

Her going will be felt very deeply by her many relatives and friends, as well as the immediate family. She was greatly respected by all who knew her, for she had a kind word for every one. She was at all times God-fearing, and her well-thumbed Bible stands as a silent witness to a life of noble service and unselfishness.

The esteem in which she was held was fittingly shown by the following floral tributes. Gates Ajar, the family; wreaths, the family of the late Wm. Davidson; the family of the late Alex Davidson, and J. I. McKeowen and family; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dewsbury, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McGirr and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David McMullen, Mrs. Alex Conron, Miss Carrie Kernahan, Miss M. McKinlay, Harry G. B urke, pupils of Feversham Continuation and public school, pupils of Feversham Public school.

The remains were interred at the Presbyterian Cemetery, Feversham, on Sunday, Sept. 13th, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Shannon, and assisted by Rev. Mr. Howey.

'Tis hard to part, with those we love,
E'en though their race be run.
But we know that her soul will rest in peace,
Our Father, Thy will be done.
