WHY I ADVERTISE.

I believe that seven-tenths of all headaches have their origin in strained vision. I also know that correctly fitted glasses will entirely relieve the the headaches by removing the cause. Scarcely a day passes, but I relieve some sufferer through my knowledge of making and fitting glasses. I am anxious that all sufferers should know there is a remedy so simple; this is one reason why I advertise.

A Rhodes Scholar.

Some twenty-one years ago Mr. and Mrs. Henry Curtis left this district for Idaho with a young lad of two years. They secured a farm near Boise and have since prospered. The lad grew up was educated in the rural school and Boise collegiate. Then he attended the university of Idaho at Moscow and last spring passed the examination and was chosen the Rhodes scholar from Idaho to attend Oxford university for three years with an allowance of five hundred pounds a year. This bright student is Geo H Curtis and he spent several days last week with S. Leaver, of Tralgyat, a great friend of his father. Mr. Curtis is on his way to New York to sail for London and does not expect to return for three years.—Oakville Star.

AS OTHERS THINK.

Everyone in Milton Has a Right to His Own Opinion.

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by it.

Nothing makes life so miserable, or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average person, as indigestion, and it is well for us to give fair consideration to what others think about this remarkable affection.

Higginbotham Drug Co. are positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets they have an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptoms that follow this disease, such as distress after eating coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, flatulence and nervousness.

They sell Mi-o-na with satisfaction guaranteed or money back. They believe in it and so may you.

IT IMPARTS STRENGTH.

Just think of the enormous strengthening power Iron-zone possesses, consider what it did for H. V. Potter, well known in Kingston. "I was subject to spells of dizziness. For eight months I had intense pain in my right side between the shoulders. I was almost incapable with weakness and lack of vigor. Often I could eat any breakfast and felt miserable all day. Nervous, easily excited, troubled with heart weakness, I was in bad shape. Iron-zone restored and built me back to health in short order. Whatever your weakness may be Iron-zone will cure. The German Government, in order to carry out its policy of national defence, and to meet other situations, finds it necessary to raise through increased taxation over $ [illegible] in the next five years. The proposals are to meet this by increased inheritance duties, duties, and taxes on spirits, beer and wines. The increase in taxation will, it is expected, meet with little opposition.

IT CREEPS LIKE A SERPENT.

Slipping through the system like a thief in the night. That's how Catarrh acts. Don't be fooled with such a scourge. Don't expect that such a doubtful treatment. Time and experience prove that Catarrhozone is a cure that it gives quick relief and thoroughly destroys the disease. Catarrhozone does forever.

Get Catarrhozone in the first place, and a cure is assured. In 25c and $1.00 sizes, of all dealers and guaranteed.

Winnipeg Correspondence.

Winnipeg, October 3rd.—(Special)—Your correspondent visited the Kildonan Agricultural Fair last week. It was held just outside the city limits. This garden section, east of Winnipeg, produces vegetables of great variety and enormous yield. Here are a few facts, taken from actual growers who were attending their exhibits:

The net yield, per acre, for cucumbers this year was 12 tons. Three pickle factories at Winnipeg are buying the crop at $25 per ton. One of these factories has already received 320,000 lbs of cucumbers this year.

Galician women are employed at 75c per day to do the picking, and six women pick 150 eight-pound sacks per day.

In cauliflowers, as high as 15 tons per acre are raised, with prices ranging from $25 to $40 per ton at the factory.

Yellow Globe Danver onions are chiefly grown, and gardeners are receiving, on an average, about 12½c per pound.

The potato crop, which generally yields, on an average, 300 bushels per acre, was set back somewhat this year by a dry spell in July, and the average will be around 200 bushels. Potatoes are now selling at 50c per bushel.

Holland seed cabbages are grown principally and are yielding on an average, 20 tons per acre. Heads on exhibition weighed from 8 to 12 lbs. The average price is $12 to $18 per ton.

The members of the Scottish Agricultural Commission, who have been touring western Canada for the past two weeks, have returned to Winnipeg and, speaking of their investigations into the farming conditions, say that all through the west they were delighted with what they saw, and the fertility of the soil. As a result of these scientific investigations, it is believed that a large amount of Scott sh capital will find its way into investment into Canadian farm land securities.

A continued steady stream of applicants for homesteads is reported from all Dominion land offices throughout the west. In the past week a large number of American farmers' sons, young men with a cash capital of from $400 to $2,000 each, filed claims for Manitoba sections at the Winnipeg land offices, and when it is considered that over 400,000 acres are still open for settlement in Manitoba, and that millions upon millions of acres are awaiting the homesteader in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the tide of immigration may sweep onward year after year, before even the best of the fertile lands available have been settled upon.

T. G. Inglis, of Kansas, who returned to Winnipeg last week from a month's visit all through the west, said, "I have seen the greatest country the sun shines upon, and its people, wherever they may come from, are doing well, beyond my power to express, in accumulating wealth, with freedom and happiness. Further, you will see the biggest rush to this country from across the line next spring that ever was known."

Merchants, manufacturers, grain men and others, of the west, are loud in their praises of the manner in which the banks are handling the big movement of grain this year. At no country loading point throughout the whole of the west has there come a single complaint of the shortage of money. There is no city in the country that has a greater interest in the speedy movement of the wheat crop than the capital city of Manitoba, for hard wheat has taken a prominent part in Winnipeg's development. It has increased her bank clearings during the past few years at the rate of 100,000,000 a year. The value of its manufactured output has been trebled in the past eight years, and wheat has made of this city the greatest grain market in the British Empire.

It is said that Macleod, Alta., holds the record now of the largest yield of fall wheat per acre of any district of western Canada. C. Nathe, who lives a few miles south of Macleod, reports that he has 60 acres of land which has just yielded a crop of 3,700 bushels of fall wheat. The wheat weighs 64 lbs. to the bushel, which makes a yield of 84 bushels per acre.

OWES CURE TO ZAM-BUK

Prominent Manager's Telling Testimony.

Mr. D. R. Gourlay, advertising manager for the well-known piano firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, Toronto and Winnipeg, is amongst the prominent men and women who testify to Zam-Buk's great curative power. He writes to the Company as follows:

"Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in stating that upon the recommendation of a relative I purchased a box of your remedy (Zam-Buk), and by a few applications entirely cured a very severe sprain of the back. While not given to indiscriminate use of, or belief in, patent medicines, I can conscientiously recommend Zam-Buk.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) D. R. Gourlay."

That is just where Zam-Buk proves its superiority. It is treated by men and women who have tried it, as altogether different to ordinary preparations. Doctors, hospital nurses, trainers, matrons of convalescent homes all give Zam-Buk a good word, and better still they use it. Zam-Buk is as good for muscular stiffness, sprains, rheumatism and sciatica as it is for skin troubles. Hockey players and athletes in general find it invaluable. For eruptions, pustules, scalp sores, itch, eczema, ulcers, boils, abscesses, blood poison, cuts, burns, bruises, and abrasions, it is a speedy cure. Takes the soreness out of wounds almost instantly, and kills all disease germs, thus preventing festering and inflammation. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes for $2.50. Send 1 cent stamp for trial box.

Let us show you how easy it is to shake the

"Hecla" Furnace

The "Hecla" has four grate bars. Each one can be shaken separately. This means that you can shake down just the part of the fire where the ashes are, without disturbing the rest of the coals.

With "Hecla" Triangular Grate Bars, you can get rid of all the ashes—save coal—keep the fire bright and clean and do away with sifting ashes, because no fresh coal or half-burnt clinkers come down in the ashpan.

We would be pleased to talk over the furnace question with you and show you, part by part, just why the "Hecla" Furnace is the best for you to buy. Come in any time

"I prefer you to think of me in that way, rather than as the wild beast you saw this morning, for I was mad, perfectly mad with hatred and revenge, and every wild impulse that comes to a defeated man. You see, I had played and lost, played and lost, again and again, till there was nothing left. What mischance brought you there? It was a terribly brutal thing, but you can't understand."

"But I can understand. I do. I know all about it now. I know the wild rage of desperation; I know the exultation of victory; I know what hate and fear are now. You told me once that the wilderness had made you a savage, and I laughed at it just as I did when you said that my contact with big things would teach me the truth, that we're all alike, and that those motives are in us all. I see now that you were right and I was very simple. I learned a great deal last night."

"I have learned much also," said he. "I wish you might teach me more."

"I—I—don't think I could teach you any more," she hesitated.

He moved as though to speak, but held back and tore his eyes away from her.

"Well?" she inquired, gazing at him covertly.

"Once, a long time ago, I read a lover's petition, and ever since knowing you I have made the constant prayer that I might be given the purity to be worthy the good in you and that you might be granted the patience to reach the good in me, but it's no use. But at least I'm glad we have met on common ground, as it were, and that you understand, in a measure. The prayer could not be answered, but through it I have found myself and I have known you. That last is worth more than a king's ransom to me. It is a holy thing which I shall reverence always, and when you go you will leave me lonely except for its remembrance."

"But I am not going," she said. "That is—unless"—

Something in her voice swept his gaze back from the shimmering causeway that rippled seaward to the rising moon. It brought the breath into his throat, and he shook as though seized by a great fear.

"Unless—what?"

"Unless you want me to."

"Oh, God! don't play with me!" He flung out his hand as though to stop her while his voice died out to a supplicating hoarseness. "I can't stand that."

"Don't you see? Won't you see?" she asked. "I was waiting here for

"Don't you see? Won't you see, my pagan?"

the courage to go to you since you have made it so very hard for me, my pagan." With which she came close to him, looking upward into his face, smiling a little, shrinking a little, yielding yet withholding, while the moonlight made of her eyes two bottomless, boundless pools, dark with love, and brimming with the promise of his dreams.

MACARONI IN ITALY.

To the Working People This Food is a Luxury.

Every one pictures the Italian as eating macaroni. What if I tell you that the Italians, taking them as a people, do not eat macaroni, and yet this is virtually true. Macaroni in Italy costs 4 to 8 cents a pound, and it is too costly for common use. It is about as accurate to say that the Italians live on macaroni as that the Americans live on turkey. Macaroni to the working Italian is a luxury. You often see young fellows on a holiday indulging in a dish in a restaurant or before a street cook stand about as Americans would eat ice cream. A customary workman's dinner is a hunk of bread broken apart and "buttered" with a few traces of tomato sauce. As for meat, it is the greatest rarity, and the only drink they can afford is water, which has the advantage of being cheap and filling. The Italians at home are not only temperate, but abstemious. Wine and beer and even tea, coffee and chocolate are forbidden to them on account of the expense. In all Italy we saw no one under the influence of liquor. So also there is practically no smoking. The government has a monopoly of the tobacco business, buys its supplies in quantities direct in America and elsewhere and charges three prices for everything. The few tobacco shops keep a piece of smoldering tow tied at the doorpost, so that patrons and passers may light their cigars by it.—Los Angeles Times.

READY-MADE CLOTHING OF ALL KINDS.

We sell at about two-thirds what other stores sell for.

Yard Goods of all kinds we sell from 2 to 10c. per yard cheaper than others sell them.

We have kept Store in our present location for 16 years. We always sold goods a little cheaper than other stores. Five years ago we decided that goods could be sold even cheaper than we were selling. Believing this, we reduced our profit to 10 to 15 per cent. This increased our sales each year since then fully one-third over the previous year. As our sales increased we reduced our profits, until now we are not carrying on all regular lines of goods we carry more than 8 to 10 per cent. To show our customers that we appreciate their trade, we have decided to sell several staple lines of Groceries, as itemised below at cost. We hope they will appreciate the same, and continue to give us their trade in other lines of goods as liberally as they have been doing. We don't claim to do anything for our customers for charity sake. All we do is done to advertise our business, and with the hope that we will profit by the same. But we do try to advertise our business in a straightforward way, by not practising deception, to have them think we are selling goods at half their value, as many others do. The public should be tired of such shallow deception. Come and see our goods and prices, and if you can do better elsewhere, it is your duty as well as your privilege to do so. But try us first.

SEA BATHING.

The Effects of Salt Air and Water on the Human Body.

There is a reason why parents have in all times and in all ages endeavored to give their children the benefit of sea air and sea bathing. An Italian physician, Gerosa, tells about it:

It is agreed, he says, that all living organisms began their first existence in salt water and that as a result the human body (and indeed every animal body) is largely made up of salt. If you taste your blood or your tears which are the extract of blood, you will find that both are quite salt in flavor. More than this, however, every living being possesses within his body, in the cellular stage, all those strange marine organisms which we study so curiously in museums. And, seeing, says Gerosa, that the amount of sea water contained in every body is equal to one-third of that body's weight, it is clear that in the infinitesimally rudimentary form all known marine life must be present in the blood. The result is that when we bathe in the sea or breathe the sea air we replace the amount of essential salt which is constantly decreasing in the system and all unconsciously to ourselves weakening it. Salt water, says Gerosa, is really the main principle of life, since it is the first condition of existence which the living organisms know. It is therefore always good for the body, whether it be enjoyed at the seaside or brought in bottles from the sea. In particular is it very valuable in the case of weakling children, and there is no bodily stimulant so invigorating to the very young as sea water.

THE VOODOO IN HAITI.

Human Sacrifices to the God of the Serpent.

There is ample proof that human beings have been offered as sacrifices to the god of the serpent in Haiti. A French archbishop of the Island describes a visit made by one of the priests to a voodoo assembly. The man had disguised himself as a negro, and he was thus able to mingle undetected with the crowd in the obscurity outside the sacred circle. After the white cock and white goat had been slain and offered up and their blood had been sprinkled on the company a burly young negro came forward and prostrated himself before the priestess. Then, still kneeling, he made his prayer:

"O maman, I have a favor to ask of thee."

"What is it, my son?" said the negress encouragingly.

"Wilt thou not give us, to complete the sacrifice, the goat without horns?"

The priestess gave a sign of assent. The crowd roundabout separated and there was revealed a child sitting with its feet bound. The French priest rushed away in search of assistance to preventing the unholy rite, but the authorities on whom he called were strangely slothful. When finally the day following, they arrived at the place of assembly, they found the grewsome remains of a sacrifice and a feast, among them the boiled skin of the child.—Marvin Dana in Metropolitan Magazine.
