EUGENIA

"The young will die, the old must."

A sad gloom was cast over the village and vicinity on Sunday, Oct. 24, when another of our old residents, Mrs. J. H. Duckett, passed peacefully away to the great beyond. Her maiden name was Louisa Yardley. She was born in Warwickshire, England, 87 years and 6 months ago. There she was married to her now sorrowing husband and came to Canada over fifty years ago and settled in Collingwood township. A few years later they moved to Eugenia, to the farm where she passed away. Three years ago they celebrated their golden wedding. She was a firm believer in the English church. She was a woman of rather reserved nature and was always hale and hearty until a few weeks prior to her death. Rev. Mitchell, the Anglican minister of Markdale, delivered a very comforting sermon at the house, assuring those present that the deceased's love for Jesus had given her perfect rest. Mrs. Charles Newell and sisters, the Misses Edith and Mabel Betts, rendered some favorite hymns of the deceased lady. Interment took place Tuesday afternoon in the family plot at Salem cemetery. The funeral was by motor. By the blessed union five children were born to them. One son, Thomas, and one daughter, Ella, predeceased her a number of years ago. Besides the sorrowing husband three daughters—Sarah (Mrs. Will Hawkins), Louisa (Mrs. R. Haney), Maud (Mrs. Alf. Genoe), of Eugenia; and four sons, Will of Eugenia, Luther of Ceylon, Fred of Eugenia and Levi of Maxwell—are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother. The pall bearers were the four sons and two sons-in-law, Alfred Genoe and Robert Haney. The beautiful oaken casket was laden with many pretty floral offerings, among them being a pillow from the family, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Will Hawken, spray Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duckett, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Will Duckett and daughter, May; spray from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Genoe, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Haney, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Lurther Duckett, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Levi Duckett, spray from Eugenia friends and neighbors. The flower carriers were Misses Marjorie and Annie Hyslop, Mae Duckett and Mabel Betts, Messrs. John Hyslop, Bruce and Ivan Hawkins, and Laurie Betts. We extend our profound sympathy to the family in their sad bereavement, especially to Mr. Duckett in his loneliness. Mr. Duckett is five years younger than the deceased and is yet hale and hearty, still walking with a springy step.

A novel little party was held for the tiny tots of the United Sunday school in the basement of the United Church here. The party included the Cradle Roll class and those who were just recently promoted to the Primary class, the mothers of the children, the Superintendent of the C. R. department and the Primary class teacher. Invitations were extended to the minister and his wife, Mrs. (Dr.) Murray and Mrs. H. Down of Flesherton, who duly accepted and were present. The program was quite appropriate for the occasion. Games were indulged in in which the children took part. Mrs. Down delivered a fine address to the mothers and said that the "daddies" were just as responsible as the mothers in keeping their children on the right path. As time was limited Mrs. Down had to cut short her speech and we were sorry, as we would like to have heard more. Mrs. Murray delighted the children with a story, a real bear story in which the mamma bear punished the little bears for disobedience. We are sure the little boys and girls who heard this story will not disobey like the little bears did, and get punished. Rev. Mr. Harrower acted as chairman and gave a short address. A suitable and pretty little hymn was sung by Patricia and Douglas Magee, accompanied by Pattie Morgan at the organ. Last, but not least, was the dainty supper that was served in the basement. The tables were tastefully decorated with crepe paper ribbons, flowers and little animal cookies. The Superintendent's three daughters, Mrs. W. Graham, Mrs. E. Morgan and Miss Georgina Smith and two grand-daughters, Patricia Morgan and Phyllis Graham, made capable waitresses. We are sure all present had a very enjoyable and social afternoon together, and much credit is due Mrs. A. Smith, the Superintendent, and her assistants for their great preparation for this pleasant occasion.

The annual Hallowe'en social was held in the school here on Friday night, and a very jolly time was spent. Many present wore fanciful and comic masks in keeping with the spirit of the time. The school was decorated in black and orange Hallowe'en cats, sprites and grinning pumpkin heads made the place look spooky. Mr. A. F. Pedlar acted as chairman. The teacher, Miss Johnston, and children, had prepared a very fitting program, which was well received. A tasty lunch was served, after which the evening ended in dancing.

Master Hedley Lehman of Toronto is visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Williams.

Miss Gertrude Greenaway of Orangeville is on a visit with her sister, Mrs. Harold Falconer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Graham and daughter, Miss Phyllis, have returned home after a fortnight's visit with friends at Clarksburg.

It will not be long until election day is here again. We suppose everybody will vote for a "Fortune" this time. Yes, maybe a Fortune would be alright for the people if it is the right kind of a "Fortune."

Mrs. P. Munshaw has returned home from Niagara Falls, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Large, for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Quesnell and family of Owen Sound visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Falconer and family of Durham visited over the week end with their son, Harold, and wife here.

PHILIP MEGGOT DIES AT 102 YRS

The following refers to a former resident of Artemesia, father of Mr. Robert Meggot of Flesherton, and is copied from a Dakota paper. Mr. Meggot was well known by many in this section. The clipping reads as follows:

Funeral services were held in the Congregational church of Crary, N. D., this afternoon for Phillip Meggot, over 102 years old, probably Ramsey county's oldest person, whose first trip to the Lake Region was in 1884, the year after the railroad was built through this section, when Devils Lake consisted of only a few stores and a lumber yard. He died Thursday night of the infirmities of old age at a local hospital, where he was admitted about two months ago.

A native of England, a brave young man of but 22 years, ventured, all alone to North America in 1846 to make his fortune. Landing on Canadian soil, he journeyed to New London, where he worked in a sawmill and did odd jobs until he and his pal answered the call of the west, going down to the Michigan state, stopping at Grand Rapids, where they remained for a month before coming to Dakota by way of Minneapolis.

Roughing it here for four years, he finally turned his back to the west, returning to his former home in Canada, where he resided for 17 years, before coming back home. This time he was accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ridley, who now reside on a farm five miles north and two miles east of Crary. Settling in the neighborhood of Crary in 1909, he farmed for many years, only recently did he retire from active farm work to make his home with his children. During the last few years he has been occupying his time in cultivating a small truck farm, including a small tobacco patch which he took considerable pride in showing to his many friends.

Active always in the affairs of the day and community, it had been only the last two years, just after he had passed the century mark in birthdays that his sense of hearing and sight seemed to be failing him, though very gradually.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Harry Ridley of Crary, Miss Zella Meggott and Mrs. Charles Parker of Leeds, Mrs. James Leopard, and Mrs. William Cliff, who reside in the province of Ontario, Canada, and two sons, Joe, who is farming two miles east of Crary, and Robert, also located in Ontario.

Charles Hodgins of East Gwillimbury paid $5.00 and costs for permitting his son, a minor, to drive his automobile.

To the Electors:

We are now entering upon the last month of the campaign. Let us work for victory on December 1st. Not victory for ourselves but for all citizens who want to see the voice of the people respected and the O.T.A. retained. The people expressed their desire for Temperance Laws in 1919, 1921 and 1924. Three commands by the people ought to be enough. Let us defeat the Government that flouts the people's will.

Guard against a split dry vote by supporting the only dry candidate who can win in South Grey.

Yours for Victory,
—F. R. OLIVER.

A new extension is to be made to the G. and M. hospital, at Owen Sound, to cost $50,000. The new wing will serve as a nurses' home and also provide for additional accommodation for patients.
