AN EXCELLENT CHOICE

Our daily contemporaries have united in expressing satisfaction with the choice of Premier Ferguson of our genial friend, formerly member for South Grey in the Legislature, and Speaker of the Assembly. Upon Dr. Jamieson's shoulders, remarks the Toronto Star, "has fallen the mantle of Rev. Dr. Bryce, who was chairman from the inception of the board. During Dr. Bryce's regime the number of homes benefitting from the operation of the system grew until 13,766 children are directly affected and the sum of $1,800.000 is being paid out yearly at the joint expense of the province and the municipalities.

"The public may assume that the appointment of Dr. Jamieson was not unconnected with the thirty or forty years of faithful service that the doctor gave to his party. But leaving that fact to one side, Dr. Jamieson is a worthy citizen, a man of business ability and integrity who is a credit to the country. He has practised the medical profession for fifty years and enjoys the esteem of all who know him. A warm-hearted man, he will not be lacking in kindliness when he deals with the maintenance of the widow and the fatherless."

So say all of us.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now is the season of balls—golf, tennis, base and moth—remarks the Arkansas Gazette. Soon we may see a big increase in the "three balls" as the liquor shops get in their fine work.

Paper money was devised in China many years ago, but he is a lucky man who can make money of any kind in China these days.

* * *

Miss Agnes Macphail, M.P., appeared before the Tariff Commission to ask for a reduction in the duty on kitchen utensils; and now the Toronto Globe rises to remark that villanous tongues will want to know who "the lucky man" is.

* * *

The British census shows that there is now a surplus of women in England, numbering 1,700,000, or 500,000 more than existed prior to the war. Easy for a man to have an extra sweetie or two in the old land.

* * *

Ramsay MacDonald, British Labor leader, after making personal investigation, reaches the conclusion that prohibition in the United States "is a real effort to keep the people sober." One thing certain, Mr. MacDonald did not find that the best way to reduce drunkenness was to provide government shops to promote the sale of intoxicants.

* * *

Will the man who is deprived of his liquor license for a breach of the law sit back like a good boy and not touch a drop from then on, or will he get in touch with a bootlegger and secure a supply whenever he wishes to do so?

* * *

Buggies will soon be vehicles of the past. In 1910 over 60,000 of these conveyances were produced in Canada. Last year, only 5,000 were manufactured. The auto now has the call. Will every man have his flying machine 25 years from now?

* * *

So far the Ontario public has been tardy in buying government of Ontario permits to purchase intoxicants. Perhaps the cause is to be found in the fact that so far the government shops have not been opened, but doubtless some are moved by the knowledge that they are called upon to pay $2 for a permit to last 'till October, whereas from the first of the month the rate will be $2 for 12 months. In any case, if much liquor is not purchased from the government shops it will not be because of a lack of officials. There is not only the high-paid Commission, but a Controller, manager, private secretary to Mr. Hanna, a purchasing agent, a large office staff and abundance of salesmen in the depots throughout the country. It is not likely that a liquor shop will be established in Flesherton, but anyone here or elsewhere throughout the Province can get a permit to buy, and if a visiting motorist sets his tent in a motor rest, it is regarded by the law as his home and he can consume intoxicants under his permit within its flapping door.

One of the amusements of newspaper correspondents in these anniversary days, is the nomination of a national bird. Joe Miner wants the Canadian gander to be adopted because he has been proved to be such a model head of the family;others like the robin, because he is a noteworthy raiser of progeny and can sing while he toils; but a medical friend of ours in his joy of recent accomplishment as a family man, asks us to pin faith to the stork, breaking forth in this poetic tribute :-

"Here's to the stork, a valuable bird,
Who inhabits the resident districts,
He doesn't sing tunes or yield any plumes,
But he helps out the vital statistics."
