PHYSICIAN GIVES ADVICE

Tells Why So Many Suffer from Catarrh and Rheumatism.

A distinguished physician, famous for his successful treatment of catarrh and rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, states as follows:—

"Our climate being more or less damp and changeable, is bad for catarrh and rheumatism, and care must be taken not to let these troubles gain headway. In addition, he states that a great many Canadians are careless in their habits, and to this as much as climatic conditions is due a great deal of the trouble. Insufficient clothing and improper eating will cause rheumatic and catarrhal troubles in any climate.

This eminent authority gives the following as the simplest and best treatment known to science, and to it he gives credit largely for his success:—

Fluid Extract Cascara	½	oz.
Carriana Compound	1	oz.
Syrup Sarsaparilla	6	oz.

Directions: One teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

The ingredients are all vegetable, and have a direct and specific action on the liver, kidneys, and bowels, eliminating all poisonous matter from the system. Any druggist can dispense this, or you can buy the ingredients separately and mix at home by shaking in a bottle.

The Election's Over.

The editor of the Vermilion Signal, who was at Edmonton the day after the election, tells a story of his trip, says the Edmonton News. The first station on the C. N. R., east of Edmonton, it should be remembered is named after the Minister of the Interior.

The brakeman stuck his head into the smoking compartment of the Pullman, east bound on Monday night.

"Any o' you fellers for Oliver?" he enquired, looking over the crowd.

The moody man with his hat over his eyes, raised his head and scowled at him.

"Say young feller," he growled "This is the 27th. The election's are over."

Paralyzed by Lumbago

Manual labor or even light exercise is impossible with lumbago. The muscles stiffen out like steel—to move means agony. Only a powerful remedy can penetrate deep enough to help. The surest relief comes from rubbing in Nerviline. It sinks into the very root of the trouble—penetrates where an oily liniment cannot go. To prevent lumbago returning, put on a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which removes inflammation and strain from the muscles, and acts as a guard from draughts and exposure. Nothing will so quickly cure as these remedies. All dealers sell Polson's Nerviline and Nerviline Porous Plasters. Refuse all substitutes.

The CHRONICLE for ALL the NEWS

DOCTOR WAS MARTYR TO HIS PROFESSION.

Dr. Thomas Wilson, Former Atwood Practitioner, Contracted Glanders Infection.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Dr. Thomas M. Wilson, 465 West Monroe street, who died Friday morning at the Presbyterian Hospital, was a victim of his unrestrained zeal for scientific search. Like so many of his colleagues in the medical profession, Dr. Wilson lost his own life in an attempt to stay the ravages of disease among his fellowmen.

The disease to which he succumbed, after weeks of torture, was glanders, a malady which rarely attacks the human organism, but which is one of the most malignant and stubborn known to medical science. So uncommon is the disease, indeed, that the belief is general that horses alone are subject to it. He was attended by Dr. Arthur Bevan and Dr. Frank Billings.

For twelve months Dr. Wilson had devoted all of his leisure to experiments in the laboratories of the McCormick Memorial Institute in an attempt to produce a serum that would counteract the effects of the glanders bacilli. He had made much progress and was preparing to publish the results of his investigations when he suddenly found that his system had become impregnated with the cultures over which he had been working.

Familiar as he was with the deadly nature of the disease, he must have known during the three weeks that he battled for life at the hospital that there was little hope. Yet the only regret he expressed was that death should come to him in a way which might be attributed by other members of his profession to carelessness.

Little is known at the institute of how the infection took place, and if Dr. Wilson knew he failed to reveal the fact. It is supposed that he inhaled some of the bacilli while he was working over a culture in the laboratory of the institute more than three weeks ago. The first intimation Dr. Hektoen had of his unfortunate plight was when he received a telephone message from the Presbyterian Hospital acquainting him with the facts.

Dr. Wilson's preliminary equipment has been exceptionally thorough. He was a graduate of the University of Toronto and of Rush Medical College. He was about to receive the degree of doctor philosophy from the University of Chicago. He already had passed the test in his major subject, physiology, and was preparing to submit to examination in pathology, which was his minor.

Dr. Wilson was a native of Canada, having been born at Mitchell, Perth County, Ontario. He practiced for some time in Atwood, Ont., prior to coming to Chicago.

Cure for Sick Women.

When pains gather around the hips and lodge in the small of the back—when to stoop or bend seems impossible, when dizzy spells and bearing down pains are ever present,—that's the time to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Irregularities disappear, vital energy is restored, back trouble is forgotten. The ailing sick woman gains strength, improves in looks, increases in spirit by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure the conditions that rob her of health and vigor. No medicine so helpful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25 cents at all dealers.

HUMOROUS AND ANECDOTAL.

The story goes that in the recent Presidential election campaign in the United States, a Republican orator concluded his speech with the announcement that he would be glad to answer arguments put forward by the other side.

An old Irish-American citizen accepted the challenge.

"Eight years ago," he said, 'they told us to vote for Bryan, an' thev we'd be prosperous. Oi did vote for Bryan, and' Oi've niver been so prosperous in all my life, an' now, begory, Oi'm goin' to vote for him again!"

A minister tells a story illustrating the inborn Irish trait of quick wit.—One Saturday the men were trimming up the church.

"I strolled in," says the minister, "and Katie Martin was decorating the pulpit. I noticed some tacks strewn about the floor, and jocularly advised Katie to be very careful to pick up all the tacks when she was through with her work. 'You know, Katie,' I said, 'that if I should step on one of those tacks right in the middle of a sermon there is no telling what might happen.'

"Faith you wouldn't linger long on that point," said Katie without a smile.

Saturday Night recently published an article on "blind pigs" in the Cobalt region, in which some odd stories were told, which would lead one to suppose that no trick of the trade in illicit liquor was unknown there. Here is a new one, however, in the following anecdote which has strayed up from the south,—

Spurred on by newspaper taunts, possibly, a plain clothes man of the Atlanta police set out one day to detect violations of the Georgia prohibition law. On Decatur street he met an old negro whose appearance he considered "suspicious."

"Say, uncle," he whispered with a wink, "do you know where I can get some whiskey?"

"I spec' maybe I kin get yer some ef you gin me de money, replied the suspected one.

"Well here is a two dollar bill said the plain-clothes man. "I'll wait in the alley here. Now hurry back."

"Yessah, boss, ef ye'll jes' hol' dib box er shoes fer ,e," and the policeman had the box of shoes under his arm before he knew it, while the darky shambled off down the street, turning the first corner.

Thinking he was on a warm trail and would soon have an important prisoner and witness "with the goods on," the sleuth waited in patience An hour went by. He was getting tired. Two hours. Still no sign of the messenger.

Weary and discouraged he returned to the police station. Suddenly he remembered he had the shoes under his arm and decided to have a look. The box contained, carefully wrapped, a full quart bottle of corn whiskey.
