SWINTON PARK.

A meeting was held in the school here on Tuesday evening of last week. It was one of the series of meetings held by the promoters of the electric railway which they are planning to build from Collingwood to Guelph. The promoters ask the municipality of Proton to become shareholders to the extent of $36,000, at the rate of about $3000 a mile, this money to be paid when the road has been built, equipped, and running for fifteen days. They promise six per cent. accumulative interest to the municipality. The promoter, Mr. Bugg, of Berlin, then cited instances in which such roads had paid, also the advantages of such a railway to the people apart from the advantages of municipal ownership. A number of ladies were present, and he cited instances in which the railway would be of special advantage to them. At the close of his address a lively discussion ensued. The By-law is to be submitted on Jan. 2nd, and every elector has his chance to say yea or nay.

Mr. Nicholson, reporter to the Guelph Mercury, was present at the railway meeting.

Mr. W. Hastie, of Egerton, spent Monday and Tuesday here in the interests of The People's Railway. Mr. Hastie is a firm advocate of the road. He has for years been at the disadvantage of living 13 or 14 miles from a station.

Mrs. Lawrence and two children returned from Stratford.

Mr. Bert. Martin is holidaying in the County Town.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hardy and two children, of Boissevain, Man., are the guests of their many friends here.

St. Andrew's Sunday school held their annual Christmas entertainment on Thursday evening. Mr. Matheson was chairman, and although the church was packed, the chairman's duty was light. A good program of speeches, recitations, dialogues, drills and songs, as well as selections by the Proton orchestra, was given. Mr. Jas Paton, superintendent of the S.S. gave a report as to the working of the school, which showed that it is a real live one. Lastly good old Santa Claus made his appearance, and handed out the beautiful and useful gifts to the scholars. The proceeds amounted to $41.

Mr. John Knox, and his sister, Miss Alma, of Guelph, are spending the holidays with friends here.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson I.—First Quarter, For Jan. 1, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xii, 1-24. Memory Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Prov. xiii, 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Our last lesson in regular Old Testament studies was in December, 1908, and in connection with the dedication of the temple, and we asked special attention to the fact that the desire of the Lord was that through Israel and the temple all the people of the earth might know the Lord as the only God and put their trust in Him (I Kings viii, 43-60). It is the eternal purpose of God that all nations shall yet know Him through Israel and worship Him (Jer. iii, 17), and this was foreshadowed in the days of Solomon, when not only the queen of Sheba, but all the earth, sought to hear the wisdom of God through Solomon and brought Him gifts (I Kings x, 1, 10, 24, 25). There was another foreshadowing when the wise men from the East brought their treasures to Jesus as an infant and worshiped Him as the King of the Jews (Matt. ii, 1, 2, 17).

Perhaps the deceitfulness and desperate wickedness of the heart were never more manifest than in Solomon, of whom it is written: "There was no king like him who was beloved of his God. * * * Nevertheless even him did outlandish women cause to sin" (Neh. xiii, 26). His wives turned away his heart after their gods, and therefore all the kingdom was taken from him except the tribes of Judah and Benjamin (I Kings xi, 9-13), for Jerusalem's sake, the city which He hath chosen, and for the sake of David, His chosen servant.

Canon Fausset thinks that the Song of Solomon represents his first love to Jehovah in youth, Proverbs his matured experience in middle age and Ecclesiastes the sad retrospect of old age, the latter giving probable evidence of his repentance. As to his son and successor, it may be that Solomon had him in mind when he wrote, "Who knoweth whether the man that shall be after me shall be a wise man or a fool? Eccl. ii, 18, 19; Ps. xxxix, 6, is always true of those who gather riches, "He heapeth up riches and knoweth not who shall gather them."

The way of man is not in himself. It is not in man that walketh to direct his steps (Jer. x, 23), but the counsel of the Lord will stand, and He will do all His pleasure (Isa. xlvi, 10). Although all Israel came to Shechem to make Rehoboam king, the Lord had purposed otherwise because of Solomon's sin. When the ten tribes revolted under Jeroboam because of Rehoboam's threats of increased oppression by the advice of his young men and Rehoboam gathered Judah and Benjamin to fight against Israel and bring the kingdom back to himself, the Lord sent His messenger to forbid Judah to fight against Israel and said, "Return every man to his house, for this thing is from me" (verses 21-24). It is also written in verse 15 of our lesson that the king hearkened not unto the people, for the cause was from the Lord, that He might perform His saying which the Lord spake by Ahijah. Had the king listened to the counsel of the old men who stood before Solomon, his father, while he yet lived (verses 6, 7) the kingdom might have remained united, but it was not so to be.

Rehoboam therefore strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned seventeen years in the city which the Lord had chosen. The priests and Levites in all Israel, being cast off by Jeroboam, resorted to him, as did also some out of all the tribes of Israel who set their hearts to seek the Lord God of Israel and therefore came to Jerusalem to sacrifice unto the Lord God of their fathers (II Chron. xi, 13-16; xii, 13-14). Yet Rehoboam did evil and prepared not his heart to seek the Lord. When we remember that those who reigned at Jerusalem were said to sit on the throne of the Lord as His representative (I Chron. xxix, 23) it makes their disobedience and misrepresentation of Him seem all the worse.

But what shall be said of us who are redeemed with the precious blood of Jesus Christ and who are here to represent Him and make His life manifest in these mortal bodies if we, instead of being separate and given wholly up to Him and filled with His spirit, become conformed to this evil age and walk in fellowship with it? As to the Lord working out His purposes in spite of people, good or bad, see how He defeated the counsel of Ahithophel by the counsel of Hushai, the friend of David (II Sam. xvii, 14).

We are on our way to a kingdom of peace and righteousness on this earth, when the Son of David shall sit on the throne of His father at Jerusalem and reign not only as King of Israel, but as King of kings and Lord of lords. We are offered a place with Him in His throne and to reign with Him (Rev. iii, 21; v, 9, 10); but, while our redemption, provided at infinite cost, is free to us and wholly of grace, our position in His kingdom will depend upon our faithfulness here.

The twelve apostles are to occupy twelve thrones with Him when He shall reign as King of Israel, but the privilege of the church, His body, shall be much greater, even as His bride, the true Adam and Eve over all the earth (Luke xxii, 29, 30; Col. iii, 4).
