JINGLES AND JESTS.

Lazy Man's Hankering.

I'd like to have a nice, soft job,
Where I could simply be
A sort of weekly visitor,
To draw my salary,
And then, as that got burdensome
And seemed inclined to bore me,
I'd like to have some fellow paid
To go and draw it for me!

The Important Question.

"How do you like your new servant?"

"That isn't the question at all," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "We are trying to find out how she likes us."

A Domestic Limerick.

A strenuous matron named Maud
Decided her man was a fraud,
So she put the poor lad
Very much to the bad
When she lit on his features and claud.

Nearly the Limit.

"Yes, I know him slightly. He always impresses me as being rather a hard man."

"Hard? Say, that man can dull a knife by just carrying it in his pocket."

May She Fare Well.

To a fair lady bound for the fair
The conductor said, "Lady, your fare!"
She paid him, and so
On his way did he go
With the fare from the fair to the fair.

All He Required.

"But I don't want to play in repertory," said the rising actress.

"Oh, I don't care about that," the manager answered, "if you're willing to play in tights."

A Speculative Cuss.

He was somewhat in doubt
As he came to expire;
"The future looks bright,
But it may be the fire."

Something Wrong.

Physician—Madam, I find your husband has pneumonia in its worst form.

Mrs. Newrich—I can't understand that. We are certainly rich enough to afford the very best there is.

An Exception to the Rule.

There was an old maiden of Lynn
Who thought that to smile was a synn,
But when a man said,
"Dear girl, will you waid?"
She gave him an eloquent grynn.

About the Size of It.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what's a warship?

Pa—A warship, my son, is a mechanical device used in manufacturing history.

Rarity.

Some people never make mistakes
Nor get involved in strife;
They may be very happy, but
They lead a lonely life.

A Matter of Whose Friend.

Blohart—Yes, I once thought of going on the stage, but friends dissuaded me.

Knocker—Friends of the stage, I presume.

General Opinion.

Lives of great men all remind us
That it isn't only pluck;
We would do as well or better
If we only had their luck.
—New York Times.

Literally Exact.

The Politician—Now, don't quote me as saying anything.

The Reporter—Oh, no! I'll simply publish what you said.—Life.

A Georgia Maxim.

Don't be discouraged; keep a-tryin',
An' you will get your wish;
Sometimes the very shortest line
Pulls up the biggest fish.

His Wife's Bread.

Brown—I believe that half a loaf is better than no bread.

Towne—H'm. Guess you never tasted my wife's bread.

Behind.

He married a leading lady,
And she's leading still, 'tis said,
For she spends his money so freely
That he never can get ahead.
—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Sound, Not Substance.

Dubbs—Well, was your salary raised as you expected?

Tubbs—No, but it was razed 10 per cent.—New York Herald.

Shoots and Sprouts.

To "teach the young idea to shoot,"
No wise instructor doubts,
The proper way is just to put
It through a course of sprouts

Her Object.

"But why is she so anxious to be prominent in society?"

"Because she wants to go on the stage."

A Lenten Sermon.

A poor umbrella solely,
I'm not for preaching meant,
Yet I have gotten holey
By always keeping Lent.

Far Better.

Cholly (sighing)—I cannot exist without her.

Alfred—Well, what's the matter with living?—Puck.

Predestined.

If I were but a child again
And had my life to go again,
I reckon I'd go wild again
And hoe the same old row again.

Busy Biffler.

"Biffler is forever quoting poetry."

"Whose?"

"His own."—New York Journal.

Popular Recipe.

An essay which you straight forget;
A lithographic scene;
A pallid little novelette;
A modern magazine.
—Washington Star.
