ELECTIONS PAY

An election in Dundalk may cost less than twenty-five dollars. That amount is spent in road material and nothing is said about it, or the money may go to pay for hydro power or fuel for the town hall, and there is no comment. Some will argue that elections are unnecessary. They can be dispensed with, but at the same time could be wisely held. The more municipal matters are brought before the ratepayers, the more better-qualified men will occupy the seats at the council board. Only men who know the municipal business well can sit comfortably in office. Through timidity or a wish to cause no unnecessary flurry, well qualified candidates may not stand for election when there are others, probably not as well qualified, willing to take office, just because the general public has the idea that elections are costly when they really are not. Municipal elections do not cost; they pay—Dundalk Herald.

Reeve of Dundalk New Grey Warden

Reeve Moody of Dundalk was chosen Warden of Grey County by acclamation at the first session of the County Council on Tuesday evening, Reeves Lembke and Taylor being nominated but withdrawing in favor of the Warden-elect. Mr. Moody. should make an excellent Warden for Grey County as he has the highest qualifications for the office. It is the first time that the Village of Dundalk has been honored with the highest position the County can bestow, since the village was incorporated over forty years ago.

Reeve-Elect Unable to Attend County Council

A rather unique situation has arisen in this village over the election, and as a result a new vote for three councillors will be taken to-morrow, (Thursday.) After the first nomination only one councillor and the Reeve-elect qualified necessitating a new election. As according to the municipal law, the old council holds office until a new one is elected, and as the Reeve-elect is part of the unorganized new council, therefore he is disqualified from attending County Council this week, which opened on Tuesday, and the retiring Reeve is representing the village at the County town. Such a state of affairs has never been experienced here before and we believe that it will establish a precedent in the County Council.

Former Osprey Boy Visiting Old Home

Mr. E. L. Morrison of Ferland, Sask., is visiting friends at Maxwell and his brother John, near Wodehouse, also his brother, Will, and his parents, near Markdale. He gave The Advance a pleasant call on Saturday Mr. Morrison spent his boyhood days at Maxwell and went to Saskatchewan over twenty-five years ago. Shortly after goig West he settled on a homestead about twenty miles south of Kincaid, which is 120 miles south of Moosejaw. Recently the C. P. R. has built a branch line in from Kincaid and he now has a station and elevator within a mile of his home. What this means, only a farmer in the West knows, as it makes his land more valuable, supplies more conveniences and one is able to farm more extensively. It also does away with long trips to town for himself and family. Mr. Morrison is one of Osprey's many sons who have worked hard in the prairie provinces and has won success. His many friends in this locality are pleased to renew acquaintance again and to know that he is intending to move his family east for better educational facilities, if a small farm can be sucured in the vicinity of a high school.

THAW AND HEAVY RAINS

Heavy rains fell on Thursday and Friday of last week, making the finish a real blizzard and low degrees of temperature. Consequently the rivers are higher at this season than for some years past, and bushmen are experiencing difficulties in working in the swamps as the low parts are flooded with water. The Markdale—Flesherton hockey game was postponed on Friday evening and was played Monday evening, as the rink was flooded with water, flowing in from the outside. The roads are in very fair shape at present after the thaw. Lumber drawing is in full swing and considerable wood is also coming to town.
