On Monday last at the home of his daughter in Toronto, the above gentleman passed the bourne. He was born in 1839 on the ocean en route to Canada his parents settling near Port Hope, but in a few years found their way to Egremont, lot 20, con. 20, where he grew up under pioneer conditions, where he married Miss Sarah Parslow, and where their large family were born. Up to last year he continuously lived there and has since been with his daughter in Toronto, where he passed away.

His wife survives him. Two years ago in June last they celebrated 66 years of married life, and two addresses were given to them and handsome presentations by neighbors and friends and by Swinton Park Presbyterian church trustee board. To them were born 10 children, all of whom were at the diamond wedding, with 16 of the 26 grandchildren.

The children are three sons, R. J. and Wm. J. and Noble Wilson, all of Egremont; seven daughters — Mrs. Annie Wilson, Ottawa; Mrs. T. Broughton, Alberta; Mrs. Peter McCrea, of St. George; Mrs. Finlay Clark, of Egremont; Mrs. W. Broughton, Proton; and Misses Alice and Agnes of Toronto.—Review.

BEAT IT IF YOU CAN

Durham Red Cross Memorial Hospital has an unique record among hospitals for its size in the Province for its ability to keep out of debt and show a surplus each year. But in another sense it is also unique—the way it can successfully bring babies into the world. A single baby is now a very ordinary occurrence and to get any degree of personal attention it is necessary to be one of triplets or a twin. As will be seen elsewhere twins have again come to the hospital. In an eight month period, this makes the third pair of twins and one trio of triplets and we doubt if any hospital anywhere near its size, has an equal record. The new wing of hospital cannot be put into use too soon as the matron and staff are greatly handicapped for room and other conveniences. — Review.
