VOICE CULTURE
FRANCIS VON BUHL, Concert Baritone
Teacher of Vocal Physiology and the Art of Singing.

Formerly a Student of Delasco, Italy, and of the Vocal Physiology School of Emil Behnke and Lennox Browne, London, Eng., late Vocal Instructor at the M.A. College, Michigan, U.S.A.

Vocal Studio now, Room "A.," at the Williams Piano Co., Warerooms, 267 Princess St.

M. A. College, May 24th, 1905.

During the last year Prof. Francis Von Buhl has been teaching voice culture at the M. A. College. In the early part of the winter he gave a Recital in the College Chapel. At this, the naturalness and ease of his voice production commended itself to me, and the smoothness of especially the French and Italian songs was very pleasing. Mr. Von Buhl has supplemented marked, natural ability with serious and conscientious study. The result is his technique is accurate and masterful, while his interpretation is poetic, broad, and sympathetic.

As a teacher, Mr. Von Buhl is very much liked by his pupils, who give him great praise and consider they have made excellent progress under his instruction.

Very respectfully signed,
LOUISE FREYHOFER,
Head of the Piano Dept., M.A.C.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

WHILE FIRING AT A RIFLE RANGE.

W. P. Knight Got Bullet in His Shoulder—A Lady Broke Her Arm—Two Young Men Upset in the River.

Gananoque, Sept. 21.—Yesterday morning, Messrs. W. P. Knight and William McIntyre were shooting at the rifle range, when Knight was accidentally shot by McIntyre, the bullet entering the fleshy part of his shoulder. Dr. Irving probed for the bullet unsuccessfully. He then had Dr. Bird use the X rays to locate it, but it has not yet been extracted. His many friends trust that no serious complications will follow.

Mrs. L. S. Knapp, Arthur street, met with a painful accident, Monday last, breaking her arm between the wrist and elbow. Dr. J. P. Sinclair set the fractured limb, and Mrs. Knapp is doing as well as could be expected.

Two young men named Gauthier and Leakey were upset from a skiff in the north channel. They clung to the boat and were in the water for more than two hours, before help arrived. Messrs. Robert Leakv and A. J. Sealey in a small rowboat, towed the skiff ashore.

Professor Canton, the blind phrenologist, is still at the International, and will remain for a few days yet. Many have been to the professor, and all express themselves as well satisfied with his readings.

The funeral of Mrs. Samuel Nobes took place from her son's residence, Stone street, yesterday afternoon. A service was conducted at the church by Rev. J. D. O'Gorman and the interment took place at Brewer's Mills. Deceased was seventy-three years of age. She was born in the township of Leeds, and lived there all her life. She leaves a husband and seven children, out of a family of twelve; Samuel of Gananoque; John F. of Washburn; Joseph H. of Schenectady, N.Y.; Mrs. J. Lappan, Syracuse, N.Y.; Mrs. A. White, Alexandria Bay, N.Y.; Mrs. M. Dundon, South Lake; Miss Nellie, at home.

W. H. Convey, Miss Josie Convey and Miss Mary Walsh of Rochester, N. Y., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clark Allen, for the past ten days, have returned home.

Leo Convey who played half-back on Gananoque's rugby team last year is being urged to play the same position on St. Andrew's O.R.F.U. team this season. George Gillis, of the Toronto Bolt and Forging company, an old-time resident of Gananoque, is spending a few days here. E. X. Belnois is taking the place of Mr. Nassan Acton as fishery overseer, during the latter's absence from town. Nassan Acton and daughter, Mrs. J. A. C. Thompson, left this evening for Saginaw, Mich., where they will spend a few weeks with relatives.

Sight Of A Great City.

New York Herald.

New York witnessed yesterday a spectacle that should open its eyes in amazement and redden its corporate and individual cheek with shame.

It was the sight of a young girl escorted to and from her work by officers of the law, because her beauty had brought on her insult and persecution, because, resenting indignity, she had been threatened with death, and because it was acknowledged that the streets of New York are unsafe for any woman, whose charm may bring on her the attentions of a "masher."

IT IS MARVELLOUS.

The New Anaesthetic Just Brought Out.

Special to the Whig.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22.—Dr. Orville Horwitz, the leading surgeon connected with St. Agnes' Hospital, is making a series of tests and experiments with scopolamine, a new anaesthetic, which promises to displace ether, choloroform and all other anaesthetics in general use by surgeons all over the world. Scopolamine is a comparatively new drug, although it has been used in Germany for some time in internal medicines. It is an alkaloid and possesses qualities which make it an ideal medium for producing general or local anaesthesia. Only one-thirty-second of a grain is required to produce complete anaesthesia in the whole body.

At first it was feared that the drug would not be effective enough to stand the test of exceedingly painful operations, but at a recent tumor operation in which Dr. Horwitz used scopolamine as an anaesthetic, because the patient would not have survived the application of ether or choloroform, the drug stood the severe test of an operation with the electric knife, one of the most painful operations known to surgery. During the entire operation the patient did not show the slightest twitch, although the white hot knife cut into his tissues. One hour after the operation he awoke perfectly fresh and without the least indication of nausea or any of the unpleasant after effects which make ether and chloroform so objectionable in many cases. Since Dr. Horwitz has used the wonderful drug in a number of other operations and in every case the success was beyond all expectation. He will continue the tests for some time before he shall report the result of his investigations to the medical profession in general. The new anaesthetic is dissolved and administered by hypodermic injection.

Hog Notes.

Pigs should always be fed when the farmer can be sure that they are all there and know that they eat.

When young pigs first begin to eat, it is desirable that the food should be as near the mother's milk as possible.

It is the hog that is kept growing without being glutted or cloyed with overheating food that makes money.

With hogs the profitable line of production is to maintain good health with early maturity.

In starting a lot of pigs it is easy to fall into the habit of giving a certain quantity, and failing to increase as the hogs grow.

Do not retain a male pig from a cross-bred litter, because it is a fine specimen.

The male should be thoroughbred, or there will be no uniformity in the offspring.

In the growing of first-class pork, the degree of cleanliness governs the quality of the product.

John Lemax, one of the best known and most highly respected residents of Wolford, and recently of Kitley township passed away, 19th inst., after an illness of over a year. He is survived by his wife, four daughters, and two sons.

IS SATISFACTORY.

Twenty Years of Butter and Cheese.

Toronto World.

Twenty years have passed away since butter was separately entered in the imports of Great Britain. In 1886 the imports of butter amounted to 77,178 tons of the value of £8,141,438. Ten years later, in 1896, the butter imports had risen to 151,886 tons, valued at £15,344,364. Last year the quantity further advanced to 242,050 tons and the value to £11,147,162. In 1896 the imports of cheese were 86,745 tons, valued at £3,871,359. By 1896 the quantity had risen to 112,326 tons and the value to £4,117,162, in whilst in 1904 the imports reached 127,715 tons and the value £5,843,770. It will be noticed that the imports of butter from all sources have advanced at a more rapid rate than those of cheese. Three years ago the butter from foreign countries was six times larger in amount than from the colonial supply. A great change was manifested in last year's returns—the foreign supply was only three times in excess of the quantity imported from the British colonies. The large drought area in central and southern Europe in the fall of 1904 compelled many farmers to reduce their milking cows, consequently throughout last winter and this spring much less butter was exported from those countries. Australia and New Zealand sent over unusual quantities of choice butter. There were various opinions expressed in regard to the ability of the Australian farmers to continue largely increasing the output of butter each year.

The imports of cheese into Britain during the past six years remained practically stationary, and as the home production exhibits a similar condition, it is evident that cheese is losing the position it once held as a dietary. Trustworthy evidence shows that it is being displaced by the importation of colonial and foreign frozen meat, which, owing to its cheapness and excellent quality, is supplanting cheese. Last year the colonial supply was 96,380 tons, and the foreign supply was 25,718 tons. Canada is the main source of supply, the product of the Canadian cheese factories finding much favor among the consuming multitude in Britain. The enhanced price of cheese which the Canadian factories are receiving this season, will, it is estimated, put in circulation, near $4,000,000 extra this year in the dominion.

Youth And Age.

I asked my pa a simple thing,
"Where holes in doughnuts go?"
Pa read his paper, then he said:
"Oh, you're too young to know."

I asked my ma about the wind,
"Why can't you see it blow?"
Ma thought a moment, then she said:
"Oh, you're too young to know."

Now, why on earth do you suppose
They went and licked me so?
Ma asked "Where is that jam?" I said
"Oh, you're too young to know."

BROUGHT THE BODY

A PICTONIAN WAS KILLED AT REGINA.

A Very Pretty Wedding—Harvest Festival in the Anglican Church—An Organist Has Resigned.

Picton, Sept. 22.—"Dan" Sullivan, proprietor of the local brickyard, has received word of the death of his son, Eugene, a carpenter, at Regina, N. W.T. The young man met with an accident on Saturday, dying from the effects two days later. Two brothers, Clarie and Dr. Harry Sullivan, are coming to Picton with the body.

There was a large congregation, Wednesday evening, in St. Mary Magdalene's, to attend the harvest thanksgiving festival. The interior of the church, with its abundance of the harvest decorations, was beautiful; chains of grain through the body of the building, windows banked with sheaves of wheat and pumpkins, the chancel a mass of red and white flowers. Miss Walker, deaconess and organist of St. Mary Magdalene's church, has resigned, taking effect in October. Miss Bertha Haddon will be the new organist.

At the teachers' convention on Saturday these officers were elected: Mr. Platt, county inspector, president; F. Spafford, vice-president and J. V. Dobson, secretary; executive committee, Maj. Hamilton, Miss Redmond, Miss McDonald, Mrs. Lowder, F. B. Clarke and Mr. Lice; delegates to provincial convention, Mrs. Maybee, Miss Macdonald, Messrs. Benson and Dobson.
