ONLY A Common Cold

BUT IT BECOMES A SERIOUS MATTER IF NEGLECTED. PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH or CONSUMPTION IS THE RESULT.

Get rid of it at once by taking

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep, and often effecting a permanent cure.

We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent it reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady.

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.

Mr. Wm. O. Jenkins, Spring Lake, Alta., writes: "I had a very bad cold settled on my lungs. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup but it only required one to cure me. I have never met with any other medicine as good."

Price 25 cts., at all dealers.

How to Insure Success in Home Dyeing.

A woman, who wants everything she colors at home, to turn out just as she expects, ought to be mighty careful to get "DY-O-LA." Because "DY-O-LA" never disappoints. "DY-O-LA" colors are rich, beautiful and permanent. They make coloring at home a pleasure, because they are so easy to use and the results are so satisfactory. Best of all, "DY-O-LA" takes away all the uncertainty about fabrics. The same package of "DY-O-LA" colors wool, silk, cotton and mixed goods exactly the same. Whether the waist or skirt or suit is pure wool—or cotton and wool — or cotton and silk—"DY-O-LA" colors either one or all three perfectly. This means less expense—and as a matter of fact, "DY-O-LA" colors more goods—package for package—than any other. Any woman can prove all this with the first package she uses. All dealers have them—10 cents a package. Address The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, Can., for a color card.

SWALLOWED HEART.

Strange Tale of Dean of Westminster.

London, Nov. 7.—A remarkable story regarding the heart of Louis XIV, and how it came to be buried in Westminster Abbey, is told in Truth by Mr. Labouchere, who says the story was told him by the late Col. Harcourt, and was confirmed by his brother, the late Sir William Harcourt.

A. Harcourt, who lived during the first French revolution, had many connections in France, and invited many of the emigres to visit him. Among them was the Canon of St. Denis.

On leaving, the canon expressed his thanks for the kindly hospitality of his host and produced from his pocket something that looked like a piece of dried leather, an inch or so long, which he presented to him.

"I was," he said, "in the cathedral when the royal tombs were broken open and the contents scattered to the winds. This heart is that of Louis XIV. It was kept in a separate receptable, and I managed to get away with it."

The heart thus came into the possession of the Harcourt family, and was occasionally produced for the inspection of visitors as a curiosity.

The late Dr. Buckland, Dean of Westminster, was on a visit when it was brought out for his inspection. He was very old and had some reputation as a man of science, and the scientific spirit moved him to wet his finger and rub it on the heart. He put the finger to his mouth after that, and before he could be stopped he put the heart into his mouth and swallowed it, whether by accident or design will never be known.

Very shortly afterward he died and was buried in Westminster Abbey. It is impossible he could ever have digested the thing. It must have been a pretty tough organ to start with and age had almost petrified it. Consequently the heart of Louis XIV must now be reposing in Westminster Abbey, inclosed in the body of an English dean.

MUMMY FREAK A SUICIDE.

Ends Life When Manager Refuses to Release Him.

Brussels, Nov. 7.—A Belgian "freak," a man who had a particular malady which made him resemble a mummy—he weighed only fifty pounds—has just committed suicide at Liege, after having travelled all the towns in the country. He was breakfasting with his manager, and at the end of the meal a discussion arose. The man "mummy" desired to break his contract, but the manager held him to it. The "freak" then went home, arranged the photographs of his parents and sisters on the table, left a note for the police, and blew out his brains.

TRUTH COMES OUT.

An Official Statement Re Chatham Raid.

The following official statement has been issued to the press of Chatham: "In reference to the statement being made on the street to the effect that a lady or ladies prominent, socially and musically, were found in the Lacroix street resort raided, last Sunday night, the authorities are in a position to state positively that such stories are absolutely untrue. That while it is true a woman was found in the resort, she was not in any sense of the word prominent, either socially or musically."

Went To Warn Fishermen.

The two men drowned near Nigger Island, on Sunday night, had gone out to warn some men who were fishing illegally with nets. Frank Onderdonk, was one of the councillors of Amelisburg township, and conducted a store and evaporator at Albury. Mr. Urquhart was a blacksmith, his place of business also being at Albury. The former was about thirty-five years of age, and the latter about fifty.

Mr. Urquhart leaves a widow and two children, namely Mrs. James Garbutt (whose husband was one of the men in the boat), and Miss Annie, at home. He was a member of the Masonic order and the Canadian Order of Oddfellows. Mr. Onderdonk was thirty-six years of age, on the 11th of June last. He leaves a widow and two children. He was a member of the Masonic order and the Canadian Order of Oddfellows. Both were adherents of the Methodist church.

Priest Suspected Of Murder.

Rome, Nov. 7.—In a street of Foggia the body of Signor Michel de San Marco, a wealthy land owner, was found yesterday. He had been shot. His wife was subjected to an examination, according to which, it is assumed, that the murderer was a young priest. It is alleged that the priest had been the wife's sweetheart for several months. He has disappeared.

SHOWED GRATITUDE.

Left Home After Quarrel; Was Re-united.

Louisville, Nov. 6.—Steve P. Holcombe of the Holcombe Mission is in receipt of a cheque as a golden wedding present from A. Cummings of Arva, Ont., who, until recently, had been an inmate of the mission for over three months.

Mr. Cummings, who is about fifty-five years of age, left his house at Arva, where he conducted a general merchandise store, over three years ago after quarrelling with his wife over the price of a pair of trousers. His wife told a purchaser, according to the story told by Cummings, that the trousers were worth a certain amount while he claimed that they were worth more. This led to words and Mr. Cummings decided to leave home that night, which he did coming almost directly to Louisville. His wife believed that he had committed suicide, as no trace of her husband could be found.

A little over three months ago an old shabbily-dressed man, but to all appearances a gentleman, applied for admission to the mission, which request was granted. Mr. Holcombe said that he thought at the time the man was clearly out of his class. He remained at the mission over three months, doing odd jobs of cobbling to pay for his food. During his stay at the mission he always refused financial aid from Mr. Holcombe, preferring to pay his own way.

Mr. Holcombe became interested in the man and asked him to tell his story, with the result that he immediately telegraphed Mr. Cummings' wife at Arva, who was overjoyed to hear from him. She immediately telegraphed him money to come back home.

Mr. Holcombe recently sent him an invitation to attend his golden wedding anniversary, in answer to which he received a letter enclosing a substantial cheque and stating that the writer now is in comfortable circumstances and thanking him for the part he took in the reconciliation.

"For three years I suffered more than I can tell with terrible pains in the small of my back. When I stooped over, it seemed as though I would never be able to straighten up. I tried Kidney Pills for a year and a half, but was getting worse all the time, until advised by my neighbor to try "Gin Pills," as she had been almost similarly affected, and had been completely cured by them. I took three boxes of Gin Pills, and almost from the first dose I began to feel better. Now I am pleased to say I can do as good a day's work as ever in my life without feeling tired out. Before getting Gin Pills I had to have a girl to do my housework, but now I can do it all myself, including the washing. I will always recommend Gin Pills for kidney trouble.
