Assistance of our readers is required to send in names and addresses that you know so that an invitation may be given to attend the Old Home Week celebration, Augusts 4-7. Hunt up the addresses now and send them to W. A. Hawken or The Advance.

Miss Elizabeth Armstrong of Nemiskan, Alta., visited her cousin, Mrs. F. H. W. Hickling over the week end. Miss Armstrong did missionary work in Manitoba, being Matron of the Ind. Boarding School at Norway House, and was also the sewing teacher there. At present she is superintendent of two Sabbath Schools which are held on alternate Sundays. It is thirty years since Miss Armstrong left Flesherton and she misses very many familiar faces.

First Car To Markdale This Spring

The out-of-town motoring opened on Sunday when Mr. Cecil McTavish opened the Provincial Highway to Markdale with a new Chevrolet. He experienced no difficulty in going through as the snow on the road was quite shallow. Rumors of the Provincial snowplow opening the road have been numerous the past week, but has not appeared so far. Why the Departmen of Highways has not sent the plow through is a mystery, as there are now only a few banks, but numerous enough to prevent motoring. Another thaw as that of last week would open the roads for travel by car.

Letter From The West

The following letter was received from an old friend in the West:

Editor of The Advance:-

In 1925 and 26 we had good crops and good prices; 1927, badly rusted, big crop, prices very good according to grade; 1928 a good crop, some badly frosted, some very little frosted; 1929 we got grade 1 for wheat not better than some I shipped in 1928 and graded 4; 1928 prices low.

Land is selling around here, furnished houses and implements, that is second hand implements, feed and seed for a year $50 per acre. Land alone with fairly good buildings, $40 per acre, up to about 6 or 7 miles from town. Land 10 to 12 miles from town, $30 to $35 per acre.

We had a lovely fall. There were thousands of bushels of wheat lying in piles on the ground, but the weather being favorable, all got cleaned up. We had no snow until after Christmas. Most farmers 10 to 15 miles from town have trucks for hauling grain, the weather and roads being so good grain was rushed in at a terrible rate, blocking all elevators and taxing the railroads to their uttermost. There is quite a lot of oats and barley in the farmer's hands yet, and they are going up in price steadily. The weather in January was a bearcat, 40 to 48 below—but the horses never came in and are doing fine. There is a great demand for land to rent, but most all land available is sold to Mennonites. Canadians and other good neighbors and good farmers, as well, are put off the land and given or (sold, I should say) to that bunch which has just come out and can neither talk or understand English. I think the Gardner Government will catch tallyho at the next election on emigration, and the way schools are conducted. Apparently French is taught in schools and in some schools half French and half English. People are disgusted.

Speaks On New Church Hymnal

At te request of Rev. Edard Baker minister of Trinity United Church Meaford, Rev. J. E. Peters, M.A., spoke in that church at the service on Sunday evening on the New Hymnal of the three uniting churches of Canada, which is in the course of preparation.

After briefly reviewing the reasons for preparing a new Hymn Book, the appointment of the committee for that purpose, and the action of the General Council and the Grey Presbytery regarding the submitted draft of hymns and tunes, Mr. Peters proceeded to discuss this draft in detail. In regard to the work of the committee the following points were noted:—

(1) The painstaking work of the Hymnal Committee during the past two years. (2) That the analysis of the sources from which the hymns have been selected shows that of the 645 in the draft, 219 are to be found in each of the books used at present by the three united churches, 336 of them are in the Congregational book 341 in the Methodist book, and 485 in the Presbyterian book, while 74 are taken from other sources; 335 hymns that are in the book used in the former Methodist Church have been omitted, and 334 from the book used by the former Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Peters submitted a list of some 58 hymns omitted from the Methodist book, 30 of which are to be found in the Presbyterian book, which he would like to see inserted in the New Book, such as "A Charge to Keep I Have" "Asleep in Jesus," "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," "Day is Dying in the West" "Arise, My Soul Arise," and others also a number of hymns omitted from the Presbyterian book whic he would like to see included in the New Book.

An analysis of the tunes shows that of the 460 in the draft submitted, 204 are to be found in the Methodist and Presbyterian books now in use; that 33 others are taken from the Methodist book only, and 113 from the Presbyterian; that there are 405 omitted that are in the Methodist book, and 328 that are in the Presbyterian and that of the new tunes, 110 are not found in either of these books, 223 are new to the Methodist book, and 143 to the Presbyterian. Mr. Peters mentioned a number of familiar tunes that he would like to see included in the new book.

In a general discussion of the whole subject it was stated that the committee expected that it would be three years before the new book was published. (2) That what are frequently called old hymns and tunes are really recent hymns and tunes that have become what should be really styled "familiar," for instance "Breathe on Me, Breath of God," which had immediately won a placec for itself because of the appeal of its beautiful words and appropriate tune. (3) That the singing of familiar hymns may not be so effective as is sometimes supposed because they may be sung without a thought of the significance of the words, while the singing of the new hymns require close attention to what is being sung and opens up new lines of thought and experience. (4) That the hymn book should be used in the home for meditation as Mr. Wesley suggested when he prepared a hymn book for "the people called Methodists." (5) That in every home where there was an instrument there should be a copy of the church tune book, and that a gathering of the family, and the friends who may be present, on the Sunday afternoon or evening for a "family sing" would be a splendid thing for all concerned.

Mr. Peters concluded by stating that the Presbytery Committee, of which he is a chairman, wished to hear from any and every person interested in this matter which is so vital to the public worship of the congregation, and would like to have all communications before the 5th of April in order that the committee may have its report ready for the next meeting of the Presbytery—Meaford Express.

Formed A Limited Co-Operative Comp'y

The Artemesia and Osprey Co-Operative Co., Limited came into being on Saturday, when a meeting of the members of the old shipping association met. Mr. Thos. Cooper, Agricultural Representative of Markdale was present along with Mr. W. A. Amos of Palmerston, both gentlemen strongly urging the formation of a limited company as the old way was illegal. Mr. Cooper assisted very materially in the formation of the new Company. Mr. Amos also strongly endorsed the contract system of marketing, and also spoke on various other items of interest to the farmers.

The election of a Board of Directors for the new Comany resulted in Messrs Wm. Beaton, Fred Pedlar, G. Magee, Thos. Sled, W. Poole, W. Magee and Robt. McMullen being chosen. At a subsequent meeting of the Board Mr. Fred Pedlar was elected chairman and Garnet Magee Secretary-Treasurer.

Discussion also took place on further branching out of the Company, many advocating a co-operative store, while others thought it would be better to investigate before any further change was made. The matter was left to the Board to secure approximate costs, and any further data needed. It seemed the general opinion of the meeting that for the Company to stand still as they are would be a step backward, which was not desired at all.
