FOCH'S GAME TO SAVE RESERVES

Must Avoid Diverting Them to One Sector at Expense of Others.

FOLLOWING THIS STRATEGY

WILL GIVE THE ALLIES ULTIMATE NUMERICAL SUPERIORITY.

Gen. Maurice Looks For Further Developments In Enemy's Plans As Few Of His Reserves Have Been Used.

London, June 1.—The special correspondent of the Daily News writes: "It is on the reserves that the immediate result of the battle hinges. If they can be brought up in sufficient number and with sufficient rapidity the advance should be held up before it has any more serious effect than the loss of a substantial stretch of territory and at least one extremely valuable line of lateral communication.

"The problem of the reserves is far from simple. On the allied side troops have to be moved round the outer face of a vast salient which from Arras to Rheims bows out almost in a semi-circle, and the enemy, seeing through the eyes of his aviators most of what goes on behind the allies' lines, can play his moves perhaps three times as quickly as his opponent.

"General Foch's strategy must consist of postponing as long as possible and wholesale call on his reserves. He must avoid at all costs this diversion to one sector at the expense of others, where the enemy is still in sufficient strength to strike a decisive blow. If the allied Commander-in-chief can maintain that strategy at no higher cost than the loss of territory that is not vital, the ultimate numerical superiority of the allies is a certain guarantee of victory."

General Maurice's View.

General Maurice points out in the Chronicle that Germany's initial onslaught Monday did not necessitate any great drain on Germany's reserves available between Rheims and the sea., It employed only about sixteen divisions out of perhaps seventy.

"Therefore, even if the enemy has reinforced since the beginning of the battle, it is doubtful whether more than one-third of his total battle reserve has yet been drawn into the fighting, and we must look for further developments," he says.

REVISE FOOD ORDERS.

J. D. McGregor Says New Order Awaiting Signature.

Winnipeg, June 1.—A complete revision of the regulations governing public eating houses of the Dominion has been made, according to J. D. McGregor, western representative of the Canada Food Board, who, with his chief of staff, A. E. Philp, returned from Ottawa to-day. Mr. McGregor was not prepared to give out what the changes are until the revised copy has been signed by the Governor-General.

AGAIN "SPOOFED" BY SLIM TEUTON

Moment Britain Hits Enemy Hard She Grants Him Immunity.

London, June 1.—Much indignation is expressed by certain newspapers and a section of the public that the British Government acceded to the request of the Cardinal of Cologne, transmitted by the Pope, promising that so far as it was concerned there would be no airplane attacks on German cities not in the vicinity of the battle front during to-day, the feast of Corpus Christi. Daily Express, recalling that German shells were flung into Paris on Good Friday, wounding 165 persons worshipping in a church, and that on Whitsunday night German aviators bombed London, killing and wounding 223, says: "Sunday after Sunday, holiday after holiday, the ruthless Hun has sent out murder expeditions and has scattered ruin and death in peaceful Allied towns and cities. To-day, Corpus Christi, the Germans have had the cool effrontery to ask the Pope to obtain from the British Government a whole day's immunity from raids for Rhine cities. But it is much more amazing that the British Government should have consented to the request. Corpus Christi processions will be held with perfect safety in Cologne and Dusseldorff. The German will smile as he thinks of his favored position as compared with those of the French men and women, killed by his shell while they were saying their prayers on Good Friday. Corpus Christi Day will not prevent the German armies at the front killing Englishmen, Scotchmen, Irishmen, Welshmen, Frenchmen and Americans. If the German Government desired the day to be properly observed they would have asked for a truce at the front as well as on the Rhine. The whole thing goes to the heart of the whole reprisal question. The moment we hit the enemy hard we give him immunity from attack. The nation will marvel that the British Government once more allowed itself to be 'spoofed' by German slimness."

Making Yourself Well and Strong

You Can Improve Your Physical Condition by Keeping the Blood Pure.

People with strong constitutions escape most of the minor ills that make life miserable for others. Don't you envy the friend who does not know what a headache is, whose digestion is perfect, and who sleeps soundly at night? How far do you come from this description? Have you ever made an earnest effort to strengthen your constitution, to build up your system, to ward off discomfort and disease? Unless you have an organic disease it is generally possible to so improve your physical condition that perfect health will be yours. The first thing to be done is to build up your blood as poor blood is the source of physical weakness. To build up the blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is just the medicine you need. Every dose helps to make new blood, which reaches every nerve and every part of the body, bringing color to the cheeks, brightness to the eyes, a steadiness to the hands, a good appetite and splendid energy. Thousands throughout the country whose condition once made them despair, owe their present good health to this medicine. If you are one of the weak and ailing give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and note the daily gain in new health and abounding vitality. Among those who have proved the truth of these statements is Mrs. Gred Goslin, R. R. No. 2, Ruthven, Ont., who says: "A few years ago I underwent an operation for a fibroid tumor. I had been ailing so long that I did not gain as the doctors said I should. I was in such a rundown condition that they said it would take me a very long time to recover. But instead of gaining I was growing weaker, and the doctor said I must go back to the hospital. I did not want to do this, and having often heard of Dr. Williams Pink Pills as a strength builder, I decided to try them. I was greatly surprised at the help I received from them. In three months I was able to go about, and our home doctor expressed his astonishment, as he had not expected me to recover, believing pernicious anaemia had set in. It took me about a year to recover my full strength, but ever since I have been doing my own housework, and have to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the praise for my present state of good health.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ENEMY SUBMARINES IN SOUTHERN WATERS

They Are Reported to Be Lurking Off the American Coast.

An Atlantic Port, June 1.—Recent reports that German submarines have been lurking in southern waters off the American coast were given support yesterday with the arrival here of a Brazilian steamship. The passengers said that on Saturday last, when the ship was entering the Gulf stream off the Florida coast, a wireless warning to look out for submarines was received and that the captain immediately changed his course and made a very wide detour before heading again for this port.

Sir Leslie Probyn, former British Governor-General of the Barbados, was one of the passengers.

Criticisms are beginning to be heard as to whether the Allies' air supremacy was employed to the best advantage, since the Germans have been able for a second time to assemble huge forces for a surprise attack on a thinly-held section of the Allied line.

The estate of the late John McMartin, M.P., Cornwall, is inventoried at $4,075,987.13, and is one of the largest estates ever probated in the Province of Ontario.

It would be hard indeed to adequately describe the scene which the Royal Military College gymnasium presented on Thursday evening when the Commandant, staff and gentlemen cadets were hosts at a most enjoyable dance. The guests were welcomed by Colonel and Mrs. Perreau, the latter wearing a handsome gown of black lace, and carrying a huge armful of crimson and white roses, the gift of the cadets.

The decorations were well thought out and cleverly arranged. More particularly might be mentioned the aeroplane which hung in the centre of the gymnasium, and also a most realistic tank which was stationed at one end of the hall. The walls of the sitting out rooms were hung with fragrant cedar boughs, with here and there a shaded light, which gave a most artistic effect. The spacious floor was in perfect condition and the splendid music of Arbuckle's orchestra was all that could be desired.

After the fourteenth dance supper was served in the mess room, where the tables were bright and pretty with quantities of spring flowers and blossoms.

Among the large number of guests were many from out of town.

Children Removed From Paris.

Paris, June 1.—The removal of children from Paris was begun Thursday when one thousand children from the Montmarte district of the city were placed on board a special train bound for a vacation colony in the department of Allier, in Central France.

This is the first action taken under a plan for removing Paris children from the possibility of harm from a long range gun shell striking a school filled with pupils, as a church where worship was in progress was struck on Good Friday last.

The "Belle" Line.

Two girls were talking over the wire. They had both been invited to a grand ball that was to be held in the near future and they were discussing the all-important question of what kind of dress each would wear. In the midst of their conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking Gumbly for a number. One of the girls became indignant, and scornfully asked: "What line do you think you're on anyhow?" "Well," said the man, "I am not sure, but judging from what I have heard, I should say I was on a clothes-line."

Arabians Imported Paper.

Paper, as we know that article today, was brought from Asia to Europe by the Arabians. In China paper had been manufactured from an ancient period from silk. When Samarcand was conquered by the Arabians they employed cotton in the place of silk in paper making.

It is not only those that weep that have the sympathy, Acts speak.
