Presentation To Pastor

Rev. Jos. Harrower preached his farewell sermon in St. John's United church on Sunday morning, the congregation filling the church well.

At the close of the service a large number of the members of the church convened in the Sunday school room and presented Mr. Harrower with a purse of money as a token of the high esteem in which he was held. Mr. T. R. McKenzie gave the address nad the purse was presented by Dr. E. C. Murray. Mr. McKenzie in his address stated that it was hard to express the appreciation of the congregation adequately for the help given in the five years of his pastorate in Flesherton, but he felt that he was expressing the sentiment of the members of the church in regretting the everance of relations that were so congenial to all. Mr. McKenzie also hoped that Mr. Harrower would take the good-will and good-feeling of the congregation with him to his new field of labor and wished him to accept the purse of money and hoped that it might be of service to him. In responding to a hearty clap of the hands Mr. Harrower thanked the congregation for the thoughtful expression of friendship. His stay in Flesherton had been a valuable experience for him. Expressions of appreciation of his work were given him from time to time and he felt that his labors had not altogether been in vain. In his closing remarks Mr. Harrower stated that he was carrying away with him many memories of pleasant companionship enjoyed during his stay in Flesherton.

On Saturday of last week a few of the friends and neighbors of Mrs. (Rev.) Harrower presented her with a silver "utility dish" as a token of love and remembrance of Flesherton.

Mrs. W. G. Pickle Dies Suddenly in West

It is our sad duty this week to report the passing of a former resident of Flesherton and Markdale in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Wright Pickell, who was born in 1843, in Lanark county town of Lanark, the seventh child of the late G. S. Wright and Mrs. Wright of Dublin, Ireland. When seven years old the family moved west to the county of Grey. In this primitive home near to nature's heart the little girl grew up loving the wild flowers, birds and the stately trees of the forest the crystal springs and the sparkling waterfalls. In her compositions of poetry and prose written at different times in her private life and papers. Many references are made to the dear old forest home. At the age of sixteen she was converted under the minstry of Rev. Arthur Brown, joined the Methodist church and remained a life-long members. When sixteen years and six months old she left the old Spring Hill school in Artemesia to teach school. She taught and studied aquiring a first class certificate. Her teaching years were chiefly spent in the neighborhood of Eugenia. That she won the hearts of her pupils is evidence by letters of later years from many of them in distant parts of Canada and the United States.

In 1869 she was happily married to the late W. G. Pickell, who predeceased her November 2, 1914. Their home was on the old Pickell farm where their family of six sons and two daughters were born. In 1888 she and her husband retired to Markdale, where they built what was to be their home in old age. In it 18 happy years were spent. Then the sudden passing of her husband and the death of her dear son, Charles, who remained at home with them, the breaking up and the selling of the home were sad events crowded into three years time which she bore bravely with Christian submission. Leaving her old home she spent some time with her son in New York. Coming west she lived in apartments in Portage La Prairie, Man. After two years residence there she was called to the bedside of her son, Austin, who later passed away. Returning west she made here home with her daughter in Regina, where she died following a stroke on June 26th.

Miss Mildred Evelyn Caswell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Caswell, of the Toronto Line, passed to her reward on Friday afternoon last, after a long period of suffering. Owing to circumstances the funeral had to be held on Sunday, and was probably the largest ever held to Flesherton cemetery, consisting of a cortege nearly a mile and a half long. The bier was a mass of beautiful flowers contributed by many friends. The service, at her request, was conducted by her former pastor, Rev. Clements, of Cookstown.
