Sending Money To Distant Points

YOU can send any amount of money to any point in Canada at a minimum of expense by using a Bank of Commerce Money Order. This method is the simplest, safest and most convenient way to send remittances by mail in the Dominion; if the mail goes astray no loss is sustained. Should you desire to send money to a point outside the country, a Bank of Commerce draft will serve your purpose for forwarding money to foreign places.

Local and Personal

There is a fall smell to the air.

Quite a number from here attended Hanover fair on Thursday last.

A number from around here attended the camp meetings at Clarksburg.

Mr. Austin Shackleford spent a few days in Durham last week.

Mr. T. J. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. H. Patton and Mrs. A. E. Bellamy were in London last week.

Mrs. Graham is spending a few weeks with her son, Mr. Charles Graham.

The apple crop in the Georgian Bay district, despite the drought, promises to be more than an average.

Letters of congratulation on the success of the Flesherton Re-union continue to come to hand.

The work of gravelling the roads is being rushed through at present, taking forty loads a day.

Mrs. Todd and Miss M. McConkey visited with Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Weber over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Duncan and children are on a motor trip with the former's uncle of Paisley, to Bloomington, Ill., and Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. W. Hickling and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong attended the funeral of the late Joseph Armstrong in Markdale on Wednesday last.

Miss Velma Fryer of Port Colborne left for Collingwood on Sunday after spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Albert Blackburn, 4th line, Artemesia.

Mr. O. W. Dynes, who is on the staff at the State University at Knoxville, Tenn., accompanied by Mrs. Dynes and children were visitors at the Hickling home last week.

Whooping cough is prevalent in some of the adjoining counties, and because of it the managers of the school fair at Holland Centre have postponed it indefinitely.

Rev. James Ward, rector of St. John's church, Wodehouse, is retiring after half a century's service. Mr. Ward is now 85 and rightly reaches the decision that he is entitled to a well-earned retired life.

A number of residents in this district visited the camp of the Christian Workers at Clarksburg last week, and report enjoyment and profit from the services. The camp closed on Sunday and was, as usual, a success.

Miss Nellie A. Gardiner, Dundalk, Supervisor of Music Dundalk and Shelburne public schools, also teacher of vocal, is reopening her class for the fall term. Pupils prepared for Conservatory exams. Phone 24J.

We print another interesting letter from Miss McPhail this week, but we have something extra special from her pen for next week's Advance. Don't miss her article on the opening of the great convention at Geneva, which will appear next week.

Dr. and Mrs. Murray, accompanied by Mrs. R. Bentham and Mrs. W. H. Thurston, motored to Lions Head on Friday to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of R. W. Shaw, who had passed away the previous day. Members of the family here attended the funeral on Saturday.

Flesherton cemetery has been well looked after this summer. Plot holders, now that a good beginning has been made, will no doubt continue to lend cheerful assistance to the trustees in the laudable work of decently maintaining the grounds.

The death of Mrs. Mary Amelia Lazier, widow of the late W. J. McFarland, merchant, Markdale, took place at Toronto on Friday last. Mrs. McFarland was a sister-in-law to the late Matthew Richardson of Flesherton and had many friends in this district. She had reached the mature age of 88.

Third Line Barn Burned

A frame barn belonging to Mr. Robert Blakey, 3rd line, Artemesia, was burned to the ground on Monday evening of this week. Mr. Blakey was in the mow putting down hay when he upset the lantern and the barn was soon a mass of flames. All this season's crop and a number of hens were burned. We have not learned whether there was any insurance, but the loss will be heavy in any event.

A HIGHWAY LEGAL DECISION

An important automobile collection case was decided by Judge Sutherland in the Division Court at Durham last week. It was that of McIlraith vs Watts, arising out of a road accident near Flesherton last year. Evidence was given by plaintiff McIlraith and defendant, Watts, and by Messrs. Sutton and Johns, garage men. There was conflicting testimony on the condition of the road at the spot: both parties had seen a scratch on the road 8 or 9 feet long, angling across the road in the direction of the ditched car and both sides claim that the scratch was made by the other. The Judge gave a lengthy summing up of the case. He did not charge duplicity in any witness but gave decision in favor of defendant's counter claim of $110, the defendant, to pay costs of May and July courts.

High School Field Day

Oliver Again in Fight

Durham's town hall was filled with delegates from all parts of South Grey on Wednesday last for the U.F.O. convention, when Chairman R. D. Carruthers asked for a standing vote for all in favor of Mr. Oliver as candidate. All rose of one accord and made him their unanimous choice. Seven other nominees retired in his favor, all assuring him of their time and talents in making his election sure. Those nominated were:

Andrew Derby, Hanover.
Henry Metcalf, Bentinck.
Dr. Leeson, ex-M.P.P., Varney.
R. D. Carruthers, Markdale.
Chas. Boland, Artemesia.
Alex. Cameron, Artemesia.
Miss Myrtle McKessock, Holland.
F. R. Oliver, M.P.P., Priceville.

Each nominee was allowed a few minutes time and each spoke in praise of Mr. Oliver and the manner in which he had carried out the wishes of the people. Mr. Oliver said that now he felt he was owing this riding his best services and was only too willing that he should render of his best for the county, which he was prepared to give.

Mr. Leslie Oke, Lambton, and W. A. Amos, Palmerston, were speakers along with the candidates. Mr. Oke thought no candidate-elect in the last ten years had so promising a future. He had not lost his head nor fallen into any of the pitfalls laid for young politicians. He was a man of strict morals and sound judgment. Mr. Oke considered the Department of Mines well managed, but was not satisfied with extravagance in the Department of Lands and Forests, when our debt was climbing higher and higher. He thought it a one man rule in Queens Park. Prime Minister and Cabinet did not consider the people at all, when they legislate for a few and forget the rest, as for example hydro and government control.

Mr. Amos was proud to speak for Mr. Oliver,a young man we need not be ashamed of. He was watching him closely as were other members in the Toronto House. He was surprised at the Provincial Treasurer saying that we have the people's money and we must spend it, since our debt was not decreasing. He felt that all speakers were too mild in condemning government control of liquor. He was opposed to it in the past and was still. Government control meant control of government with liquor in demand.

Hydro was also not administered in the best interests, as he was a farmer and must pay too much. He has it installed and pays ninety dollars years service and juice. Were he on the other side of the town fence about one third would do him.

Mr. Oliver gave the best address, short but to the point. He claimed the government would have been ten million dollars more in debt were it not for liquor control and a hydro return, as they only had around two million from hydro all of which was spent. He was in favor of total prohibition and was still a hearty supporter. He challenged a statement made on the Durham platform a few weeks ago when it was stated that the L.C.B. had made things better. Mr. Oliver stated that he would debate the question on any platform in the riding,letting the people decide. He was prepared to work as before to do every possible thing to bring about conditions as we would have them in South Grey.

The National Anthem closed a most interesting convention of nearly as many women as men in attendnce.

Some More Views Of Early Settlers

In our recent reminiscences of early days we are reminded that several of the early pioneers of Flesherton and district were not mentioned. A friend supplies us with some data from which we are able to glean the following. Prominent among those omitted were the Wright, Bentham and Campbell families, all among the most respected and influential citizens of early days.

William Wright was one of the earliest storekeepers in Flesherton. Forty-one years ago we remember him as keeping store in Mr. Wm. Moore's building, with his home adjoining, where Dr. Murray's residence now stands. Mr. Wright was a philanthropist in a marked degree, and as a consequence of his great kindness of heart did not amass a great deal of wealth. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wright were active in church and Sabbath school work. They organized the first library in the Methodist Sabbath school. He was on the church board, a Sunday school teacher, a class leader, etc., and always gave freely of his time to helping along any church work. He was always interested in the welfare of children. In the fall when the freeze-up came he examined the ice, and the young people did not use it for skating until he pronounced it safe. He passed over to his reward at the early age of 55 years. The last act of benevolence which he performed was to guarantee payment for a bag of flour for a poor man's family, and that same night he met his Maker face to face and heard the "Well done good and faithful servant." Probably not many of us have been quite as useful to our fellow-men as was Wm. Wright, and his memory is worth keeping green.

Robert Trimble was also one of the early merchants.

Richard Bentham was an early settler on his farm on the outskirts of the village, now occupied by his son Richard. He was a fine example of the old-fashioned Christian and led a veery pure life.

George Lowe Wright came to Artemesia in the spring of 1849. The family came from near Ottawa in the spring of 1850. Thorpe E. Wright, Martha Wright (Mrs. Wm. Wright), Elizabeth Wright (Mrs. Pickell), Mary Ellen Wright (Mrs. W. Brown of Markdale), were the members of George L's family who remained in Grey county. Martha was the first teacher in the Dinwoody school, and Mary Ellen was the first in the Miller school on the gravel road near Markdale, opposite the old Miller place.

Richard Campbell came to Grey Co. from Darlington in 1853, soon after George L. Wright. He was interested in getting a school started. Mr. Campbell taught school in his house, one and a quarter miles from Flesherton, at a salary of $80, or $20 more than he had received in Darlington. That year all the township grant was given to No. 3, as there was no other school to give it to.
