Letter to The Editor

Mr. Editor,—From the first notice given to the public through your valuable paper, The Advance, to the present time much— very much— has been said, talked, written, visualized about our "Home Coming" which has passed, or is passing, into history.

I was not at any time a regular resident of Flesherton, I had a steady residence there at one time, of six weeks. However the town of Flesherton, its institutions, homes, schools, churches fraturnal organizations, its professional men—its doctors, editors, lawyers, merchants, etc. were close neighbors of ours on the farm South and East of the Village. When a lad of 9 years I shared the Communion Services with my loyal father in the old wooden Church building that Mr Strain speaks of in the late edition of your paper. The present people of your village are masters in the art of entertaining; they handled the situation in a major way. The program from beginning to its last number was punctuated with friendship and service.

Question: Where and when did the gathering of the "Home Corners" reach its highest level and reveal its strength?. What was the charm, the beauty, the immortal hope of it all?. I, with my brother William A, had the privilege of sharing the morning service at the United Church. The large congregation, home comers from many States, Provinces, Cities, after an absence of 20, 30, 40,and 50 years, their religious experiences not chilled or made negative by the contacts and experiences of the absent years, the hunger for the house of God, the thirst for worship, the overflowing friendship, the old hymns of the church, the gospel of the Son of God, to be with God, to be like Him to share in His service. This is the charm, the beauty, the major possessions of life. When a rural village like Flesherton sends out into the world such a large number of resourceful men and women to bless it in the Christian way, the battle for righteousness is not lost.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Recently a resident of the south side of Kirkland Lake had cause to make a small addition to his home and, in course of so doing cut a hole through the floor to provide a place for keeping perishable provisions cool. Through the hole came a toad, which after a general survey of his surroundings decided that one of the bedrooms was a comfortable place of residence. The householder however had other ideas on this point and carried Mr. Toad outside. The next day he was again found in the bedroom and again carried outside. Not to be denied the toad returned again and yet again. Not desiring to kill his visitor, nor willing to allow his lodging space in the house, the owner determined to take him so far away from the house that his return would be improbable, and accordingly carried him from the house, across the nearby creek and into the bush a distance of about a quarter of a mile. Four days later Mr Toad was back in the bedroom as happy and hoppish as ever and wearing the same happy and contented smile. While quite well pleased to have the toad in his bit of garden as a guardian against the destruction of his plants by snails and other enemies of green stuff the householder objects quit strongly to being flouted by Mr. Toad and plans to take him still further away. Will Mr. Toad come back?—Northern News.

Hydro For the Farm

Hydro for the farm is an issue in this campaign. The Government has promised, if returned to power, to cut the service charge of hydro practically in half. They are not promising drastic reductions in hydro for the farmer, because of any great love they have for the agricultural people, but rather are acting because public opinion forces them to and full credit must be given to the farmer members in the last House for giving hydro questions its present status.

Farmer members have consistently advocated more reasonable hydro rate for the farmers. They carried on the fight so vigorously that they at last awakened the Government from their lethargy on this question. Farmers are going to get hydro cheaper and it would be in their interests to see that the members who forced this issue to the front are returned to the floor of the House, where they may continue the fight for hydro for the farm at a price the farmer can afford to pay.

HINCKS — STEPHENSON

Very quiet but pretty was the marriage on Saturday, September 28th at high noon at Annesley parsonage, Markdale, of Mary Islay, youngest daughter of Mrs. Stephenson and the late Mr. Wm. Stephenson of Markdale, to Mr. William John Hincks, son of Mr. and the late Mrs. David Hincks of Ceylon.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. N. St John, Markdale. The bride wore a smart and becoming gown of peri-winkle flat crepe with hat and other accessories of matching blue and gray. The bride was attended by Miss Gladys Hincks, sister of the groom, who was attired in pale blue georgette and radium lace. The groom was supported by Mr. Robert Stephenson, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a sapphire cut crystal choker and dress fob, and to the groomsman a white and green gold waldemar chain, after which a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother.

The happy couple left by motor to visit friends at Muskoka and other points. We join in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

PROTON STATION

The chief topic of interest at present is the coming provincial election. Mr. Farquhar Oliver M.P.P. and two of his lieutenants, Messrs. McPherson and McKee, addressed a full house on Tuesday evening in the interest of the present member who is again in the field.

An accident which may well be termed "A close call", occurred last Friday night at Copeland's corner near Dundalk, when a car crashed into a horse and buggy driven by Lorne Hodgin of Proton Station. The horse was injured so badly that it had to be killed, and the buggy was destroyed. Lorne was thrown out but with the exception of some bruises and a bad shaking up he was practically unhurt. His companion, Miss Bessie Stansby's head was caught in the wreckage of the buggy and her face and neck quite badly hurt but no bones broken. She was unconscious for some time but is recovering nicely. Another step or two would have meant death to them instead of the horse.

A large gathering of friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wauchope last Thursday night and presented them with a miscellaneous shower. A pleasant evening was spent in games and dancing.

Bush fires took on a serious aspect on Sunday afternoon during the high winds but no damage was done.

Mr. I. Stainsby and brother Mr. J Stainsby of Toronto spent the week end with the former's family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dennys and son of Palmerston and Mrs. McFadden of Beeton, were guests at Mr. Hugh Hodgins.

Mr. Arnold Hergott has returned to his duties in the Eaton creamery, Toronto, after his holiday at his home here.

Mr. Lloyd Lyons is holidaying at the parental home.

Mr and Mrs Vause visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Turner.

MARRIED — In Toronto on September 28th Miss Muriel Bull of Holland Centre, teacher at Proton Station, to Mr. A. W. Johnston, Toronto.

Mr. Jack Batchelor and sister, Miss Ila, spent the week end with friends at Hillsburg and Guelph.

A Close Shave

Mr. J. I. Graham of Vandeleur had a remarkable escape from serious injury, if not death, at Markdale fair on Wednesday last. A colt which he was driving knocked him down and stepped on his nose, injuring it so badly that he was unable to attend to his duties as judge of fruit at Priceville fair on Friday last. It was certainly a very close shave.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to express my gratitude to the many friends who supplied flowers, expressed sympathy, and extended many acts of kindness during the last illness and passing of my beloved husband—Mrs W. A. Armstrong and Family.

About 10,000 trees, ranging in age from one to ten years, were destroyed by fire at Orangeville recently in the reforestation plot of James Armstrong. The plot was just east of the playing oval at Idylwyld park,home of the famous Dufferin lacross teams, and each year Mr. Armstrong had planted 1,000 trees. Boys had a small fire in a corner of the field and it got out of control. When the fire was noticed nothing could be saved.

A RARE TRIBUTE

The Owen Sound Sun-Times, which has a Liberal leaning, comments on Premier Ferguson as follows:

Even his political opponents must admit, however grudgingly, some admiration for the political leader so high in the regard of his followers that 8,000 of them will pay large sums of money for the privilege of jamming into the crowded banquet halls to pay tribute to him. There is no doubt much in Mr. Ferguson's career as a politician which does not appeal to many of the citizens of this province. Hundreds, nay thousands, who support him as an administrator, disagree with his liquor control policy and regard it as a blemish on his record. Yet such is his hold on the affection of his followers, attained through his personality, his leadership and his administration that they have accorded him such a tribute as has never been given a Canadian politician before. Mr. Ferguson may be classed as one of the greatest political leaders this Dominion has known.
