Mrs. J. M. Davis Passes

Death came after a short illness to Mrs. J. M. Davis, an old resident of Vandeleur district after an operation in the Markdale hospital.

The deceased , who was seventy-three years of age, had been in fairly good health until about a month ago, after which time symptoms developed which pointed to serious inward trouble. An operation was performed in the Markdale hospital on Thursday, Oct. 17, but her condition was such that it was impossible to save her life although everything possible was done to alleviate her suffering.

The late Mrs. Davis, whose maiden name was Margaret Letitia Tackaberry, was the daughter of Mr. John Tackaberry and his wife, Louisa Douglas, and was the last surviving member of her family. She was born in Leeds County and came with her parents to this district, when about twelve years of age. At the age of nineteen she married Mr. J. M. Davis, and they settled on a farm on the corner of the seventh line of Euphrasia and the town line A. and E., known in those days as the Boswood Corner. Here, surrounded by her family, she spent a happy and useful life. Generous to a fault, her hospitality was farfamed and no hungry traveller ever passed her door without warm food and perhaps a bed. Mr. Davis, who was equally open handed, died in January, 1916. Surviving are six daughters and a son, namely, Miss Florence Davis and (Rena), Mrs. J. W. Cochrane, Colborne; (Daisy), Mrs. H. F. Ready, St. Mary's; (Catherine), Mrs. Davidson, (Crillia) (Margaret)Mrs. L. Johnston and (Julia), Mrs. George Buchanan, Vandeleur, and Frank, on the homestead, all of whom were home and were present at the funeral.

The body was removed to the home of her son-in-law, Mr. G. Buchanan, from which place the funeral took place on Saturday afternoon. Service was held at 2.30 in Vandeleur United Church, of which the deceased had for many years been a faithful member, interment taking place in Markdale Cemetery.

M. Delmer Johnstone

It is with regret we announce the passing of Marion Delmer Johnstone at Grace Hospital Windsor, Sept.17 after a brief illness of 9 days duration.

The deceased who was in her 28th year was the wife of John Johnstone, 130 Cameron Ave. Windsor, and only daughter of Clinton C. Pedlar and the late Mrs. C. Pedlar formerly of Toronto and was well known around Portlaw and vicinity, having visited her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pedlar every summer until she grew to womanhood, when she moved to Windsor to make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Archie Napier until her marriage in June.

The funeral was held at the home at 9.30 a.m. Sept. 19th and interment was made in the Johnstone family plot near London.

The pallbearers were Mr. Johnstone's three brothers, Mr. Harry MacCutcheon, Mr. J. D. Ryder and Mr. Norman Simmonds.

The floral offerings from her many friends were beautiful and numerous. Mrs. Nolan, Mrs. Morris and family, Mr. J. B. Hammond, Mr. Hillyard, C.P. R. Windsor where her husband is employed, Supt. Office St. Thomas, Bartlett McDonald, Beale's Cafeteria, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chard, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Blackburn and family, Mr. and Mrs Austin Wilson, Mrs. Olga Fee, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Sponenburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sullivan and family, Miss Cooke and class, and girls in play with Patricia from Cameron Ave. School, Mrs. F. R. Jones, Mrs. Gerard and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. Walker Mr. and Mrs. Asa Ellwood and Verlie, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cronk and family, Thompson brothers and sisters, Miss Frances Rudd, Miss E. M. Hortop, Miss M. Murray, Neighbours, Jonstone family, Mrs. Long, George and Vivian, Bertha, Ada, Mabel and Winnifred, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pedlar, Husband and daughter and Father.

She leaves to mourn her loss a loving husband, father and small daughter, Patricia Elaine.

DO THEY GROW OUT OF IT?

There are many superstitious ideas associated with medicine in the minds of the public. Most of these are merely amusing, but some of them are serious because of the actual harm which they cause. Among the unfortunately serious superstitions is the common belief that the child "grows out" of things. This idea is far removed from the truth, and neglect of faulty conditions in childhood usually results in permanent damage. It also means that during the early years, when there is every hope of correcting the defect by means of proper treatment, nothing is done. To illustrate clearly what we mean, we will refer to three conditions which are frequently neglected by parents because of their unfortunate belief that time is the remedy and that the child will "grow out" of them.

Squint, or cross-eye, is one of the conditions which is frequently neglected. If it is neglected, it does not cure itself, and, what is worse, the right of one is wholly or partially lost. If parents desire their child to have the proper use of his eyes, they must have a case of squint treated in the earliest years of life.

A running ear should never be left without proper treatment. The discharge may disappear in time and it may thus seem as if nature had effected a cure, but what has happened in the meantime, in many cases, is that the infection which was the cause of the discharge has so damaged the hearing mechanism that the result is either a total or a partial loss of hearing. Neglect of discharging ears in childhood means deafness in adult life.

Speech defects, such as stuttering, are a serious handicap in adult life. There is always a beginning to these, and, if they are attended to promptly, when they first appear, they can be cured. Speech peculiarities in a child may seem to be nothing more than amusing; the child is laughed at, nothing is done, and a habit is fixed which is difficult to change; thus thte future happiness of the child may be jeopardized through neglect.

The trophy has been up for competition the past three years and has been won twice by Orange Valley and last year by the Corbetton degree team.

A balloon containing five young men started out from Detroit Sunday morning and landed at Collingwood at 3.40 p.m.. Blown by a 35 mile wind, these boys, the youngest of whom is sixteen and the oldest twenty, made the 200 mile trip in six hours. All are members of the Detroit Balloon Club and are employed by the Detroit Aircraft Corporation. The highest altitude the party reached was 9,000 feet and their only misfortune was crashing into a tree near Mount Forest.
