THE CASE OF MADAME RACHEL.

Sarah Rachel Leverson was put upon her trial for defrauding Mrs Borradaile. Lord Ranelagh occupied a seat.

The prisoner is an elderly woman, in weak health. She had come from the infirmary of Newgate, where she had been nearly six weeks.

The first count charged the prisoner with obtaining from the prosecutrix, clothing, jewelry, and plate of the value of £600, with intent to defraud; the second with having obtained £550, portion of £1,000. In another count she was charged with conspiring to defraud the prosecutrix of £3,000.

Mr Sergeant Ballantine said the prosecutrix was connected with many families of considerable position, the widow of an officer who had distinguished himself in India, and she held a position which entitled her to move in any circle of society. She was of estimable character—on whom no imputation could rest; but he was afraid that he should be obliged to advert to facts which might be unpleasant to her. She was a woman of inordinate vanity, and folly, and credulity. Having stated what Mrs Borradaile was, he would tell them what he knew of the woman at the bar. He was told that she could neither read nor write, and from this they might form some sort of conclusion as to what was her origin and history. Three or four years ago she took a shop in New Bond street, which she opened under the name of Madame Rachel, and surmounted by the royal arms—an intimation that it was patronized by Her Majesty. This shop attracted the attention of Mrs Borradaile. There were also some very attractive advertisements. One of them ran thus:

"Beautiful Women.—The Peach-blossom Cream and Alabaster Powder, the Magnetic Rock Dew-water from Sahara, Circassian Bloom, Arabian soaps, and Alabaster Liquid. These costly and inimitable toilet preparations render the hair, teeth, and complexion beautiful beyond comparison. Can be had only at Madame Rachel's, 47A, Bond-street, where she can be consulted daily. All communications are strictly confidential. Madame Rachel's Royal Arabian perfume baths are open daily. Beautiful for ever; Book of Beauty, just published by Madame Rachel. Price 2s. 6d."

"Madame Rachel, whose talents have gained for her a world-renowned name for preserving and enhancing youth, beauty, grace, and loveliness, and whose Royal Arabian and Circassian baths, spices, and perfumes render the hair, teeth, and complexion beautiful beyond comparison, giving the appearance of youth and beauty to persons however far advanced in years, have caused her name to stand a marvel of the age, of which delicate and costly arts she stands the sole possessor.—47A, New Bond-street."

This advertisement was answered by Mrs Borradaile. There were people sufficiently credulous to believe anything. Mrs Borradaile, feeling that she was open to every description of remedy (a laugh), and might be improved in personal appearance, made an application to Madame Rachel, and the series of follies which were then played upon her had probably never been equalled in the present generation. She believed everything Madame Rachel was pleased to tell her. She learnt that the process of "repairing" her (a laugh) would be expensive, but then she would be rendered "beautiful for ever." Madam Rachel told her the cosmetics would be costly, that they were brought from climes that had never been heard of by anybody (laughter), and that she should require the modest sum of £1,000—not large for a lady to be made "beautiful for ever," but large indeed if the operation was not effectually performed. Her folly at first seemed to have had its limits, and she thought a good deal before she was inclined to give the money. Madam Rachel, seeing this, told her that a nobleman of high rank and large fortune had been struck with her on visiting her shop, and had fallen desperately in love with her; and that Lord Ranelagh required to have by his side when he went among his Volunteers, and so forth, a lady of exquisite beauty. The prosecutrix at once consented to be made "beautiful" upon the terms proposed, and to pay £1,000. It then became necessary to keep her out of the hands of any person who would be likely to explode the fraud. Madame Rachel accordingly introduced her to a solicitor for the purpose of raising money upon her property. Mr Hynes no doubt charged a considerable sum for his share in the transaction. Money was obtained, and soon tumbled into the gulf that was open to receive. At Haynes's office the disgraceful transaction was concluded by a receipt being given by Madame Rachel. "Received of Mrs Borradaile the sum of £800, the balance of £1,000, for toilet requisites, both preparations, soaps, powders, sponges, perfumes, and attendance, and personal appearance, and enamelling, to be continued till Mrs B. is finished by the (Laughter). Madame R— upon the stamp [illegible] name. [illegible] process." [illegible]achel put her mark [illegible] not being able to write her [illegible] Lord Ranelagh's love was kept constantly before Mrs Borradaile, and there was no doubt that the power which Madame Rachel possessed over the lady's mind was enhanced by the fact that Lord Ranelagh was occasionally at Madame Rachel's, and was seen there by Mrs Borradaile. The presence of Lord Ranelagh, at Madame Rachel's, though he doubted not it was with perfect propriety that he was there, was a means by which Madame Rachel was able to deceive the unfortunate woman. Madame Rachel accounted for the absence of Lord Ranelagh by telling her that his estates required his personal attention, and as it would not do for the alliance to be publicly known at first, his lordship would write to her—that he could not sign his own name then, that he would not like his letters to be seen, and that she had no conception how devoted he was. Madame Rachel became the medium for conveying a great number of letters purporting to come from Lord Ranelagh to Mrs Borradaile. The first letter showed a considerable amount of affection, considering the recent date at which the correspondence had commenced. It seemed that Madame Rachel had got hold of Lord Ranelagh's crest and initials; in fact, one of the letters was written upon paper having them upon it, and the contents of this letter he would read. The learned counsel then read the following:

"Mount-street.

"My only dearly beloved Mary,—The little perfume-box and pencil-case belonged to my sainted mother (laughter); she died with them in her hand. When she was a school girl it was my father's first gift to her. Granny has given the watch and locket to me again. Your coronet is finished, my love. Granny said you had answered my last letter, but you had forgotten to send it. I forgot yesterday was Ash Wednesday. Let old Granny arrange the time, as we have too little to spare. My adored one, what is the matter with

THE ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, invented by R. Freemen, Pharmaceutist, is allowed to be one of the greatest discoveries of the present century. It is largely employed by the most eminent Physicians and Surgeons in hospital and private practice in all parts of the world. It has effects peculiar to itself, and which are essentially different to those produced by the various compounds bearing the name of Chlorodyne, but have no pretence to possessing its virtues. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, allays the irritation of fever, soothes the system under exhausting diseases, and gives sleep without producing any one of the unpleasant feelings so commonly arising from the use of opiates. It continues to hold its unshaken position in the estimation of the Profession as the best, most reliable, and cheapest preparation. Eminent and scientific Physicians made affidavits that they have tested its effects in careful comparison with those of "DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE," and deposed to the facts that they found it a more certain and reliable preparation, and greatly preferred "FREEMANS."
Earl Russell communicated to the Royal College of Physicians and to Mr Freeman, that in Manilla the only remedy of any use in Cholera was Chlorodine.
The Medical Times and Gazette, January 13th, 1866, states, "It has an immense sale amongst the public, and is prescribed by scores of Orthodox Medical Practitioners, and, of course, it would not be thus singularly popular did it not supply a want and fill a place."
Manufactured by the Inventor, Richard Freeman, 70, Kennington Park Road, London, S.
The genuine has engraved on the Government Stamp (outside each Bottle), "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE."
CONDY'S PATENT FLUID or natural disinfectant purifies, deodorises, and disinfects, by the agency of nascent or ozonic oxygen,—its active principle. Being entirely innoxious, this truly scientific preparation is peculiarly adapted for the following useful purposes, for which all other disinfectants, on account of their poisonous or other objectionable qualities, are unavailable and useless:—
Detecting organic impurities in air and water.
Purifying drinking and other water from organic matter, lead, &c.
Freshening the air of close places, and removing bad smells.
Freeing meat, fish, butter, or other provisions from taint.
Counteracting the effects of organic poisons taken into the stomach.
Curing Musty provender. Freeing wheat and other seed from smut.
Maintaining the health of plants in pots and conservatories.
Preserving and restoring the freshness of cut flowers kept in water.
Destroying the blight of the potatoe, vine, hop, mulberry tree, &c.
Washing dogs and other domestic animals.
Cleansing bottles, beer barrels, pickling tubs, dairy utensils.
Washing the hair and darkening its colour when turning grey.
Enhancing the purifying and invigorating effects of baths and tubs.
Dressing poisoned wounds and destroying animal virus.
Treating the infectious diseases of cattle, horses, dogs, &c.
One gallon makes 200 to 300 gallons adapted for use.
N.B.—Condy's Fluid is the Standard Scientific Test for Organic Matter in Water, and affords the only known means of rapidly and completely freeing Drinking Water from Organic Taint, which is so common a cause of serious disease.
To rapidly purify the air, use the diluted fluid with "Condy's Ozoniser" or other Spray-producer.
CONDY'S PATENT OZONISED WATER,
(FOR TOILET PURPOSES,)
Removes from the mouth impure and foreign tastes and odours, whether arising from tobacco or other causes, and counteracts the irritation and morbid secretions of carious teeth. It purifies and softens the skin, and, used in the bath, tends to promote a healthy state of the whole body.
H. BOLLMAN CONDY,
Patentee, Battersea, London.
JUDSON'S SIMPLE DYES FOR THE PEOPLE. Any one can use them; anything can be dyed with them. It is impossible in this small space to enumerate the many uses to which these wonderful and beautiful chemical preparations can be applied; while their chief use is for dyeing textile fabrics, they are also invaluable as a colouring agent for almost every known material, the ease with which they can be used and the brilliancy of the result being, indeed, almost magical. By their use almost any article of clothing can be dyed in a few minutes for a few pence without soiling the hands.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.
DR. DE JONGH'S Oil is convincingly proved by an overwhelming weight of medical testimony, and by the practical test of successful experience for twenty years in all parts of the world, to be, beyond all question, the purest, the most efficacious, the most palatable, and, from its rapid curative effects, the most economical of all kinds.
Hence the universal celebrity of Dr. de Jongh's Oil, and the unparalleled demand for this unrivalled preparation.
SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR HENRY MARSH, BART, M.D.,
Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.
"I have frequently prescribed Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil. I consider it to be a very pure oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."
DR. EDWARD SMITH, F.R.S.,
Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.
"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil, which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light-Brown Oil supplied by Dr. de Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst a much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness."—(Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")
DR. LANKESTER, F.R.S.,
Coroner for Central Middlesex.
"I consider that the purity of this oil is secured in its preparation, by the personal attention of so good a chemist and intelligent a physician as Dr. de Jongh, who has also written the best medical treatise on the oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."
DR. LETHEBY,
Medical Officer of Health, and Chief Analyst to the City of London.
"In all cases I have found Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil possessing the same set of properties, among which the presence of cholaic compounds, and of iodine in a state of organic combination, are the most remarkable. It is, I believe, universally acknowledged that this oil has great therapeutic power; and from my investigations, I have no doubt of its being a pure and unadulterated article."
DR. BARLOW, F.R.S.,
Senior Physician to Guy's Hospital.
"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. de Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use of that substance is indicated."
DR. GRANVILLE, F.R.S.,
Author of the "Spas of Germany."
"Dr. Granville, has found that Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the pale oil."
EDWIN LANTON, ESQ., F.R.C.S.,
Surgeon to Charing-cross Hospital.
"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."
