A DIPLOMAT'S GOING.

Gossips in Ottawa now declare that the reason why the United States Minister to Canada has resigned, is because his government declines to erect an establishment for him in the Canadian capitol. This treatment, it is declared, is in marked contrast to the provision by Canada of a substantial home and chancellory for the First Minister to a foreign country. The headquarters of Canada in Washington, indeed, has been held up to our neighbors as a structure worthy of imitation by the United States, which has been very lax in providing official premises for the use of her representatives abroad. For a long time the inadequacy of the U. S. ambassadorial premises in the British metropolis was regarded as a positive scandal; the embassy at Madrid was a suite of rooms in a hotel; in Bangkok the legislative premises were eaten by white ants; and the embassy in Tokio easily fell a prey to the big earthquake of 1923. In marked contrast were the handsome embassy premises in Washington of Canada and even small countries like Cuba, Panama and Mexico. Indeed, of 347 consulates and embassies overseas have until now been established in rented quarters, and only 18 in buildings owned by the United States government. The neighboring republic has, however, turned over a leaf and has begun the provision of structures for its representatives in leading countries, the first being the beautiful establishment just completed in the Japanese capitol, and numerous other headbuarters are now in course of construction in other capitols. No doubt, in due course, the United States Minister at Ottawa will be similarly provided for. Minister Phillips, who has been very popular at our capitol, explains that his resignation is for purely private reasons. Ever since he was a young man he has been serving his country in foreign lands, and he now wishes to return to the United States to rear his family. He is a man of independent means and of decided talent, and it would not be surprising if, having made a success in the diplomatic service, he now tried his hand in the political arena.

We believe that the death of Rev. Wm. A. Hutchinson, chronicled elsewhere in this issue, is the first break in the host of Old Boys and Girls who came home in August last to visit old scenes and friends of their childhood days. Rev. Mr. Hutchinson took part in the morning service in St. John's United Church, and his many friends are very sorry to hear of his sudden demise. One by one the Old Boys and Girls are passing to their reward, leaving behind many recollections of lives well spent in the work for humanity.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS IN ARREARS.

It has again come to the time of year when it becomes necessary for The Advance to make another appeal to its subscribers to look after their subscription arrears. We will need a considerable sum of money in the next few months and would ask that all who owe us for subscriptions, and advertising as well, will drop in and square their accounts. There are a number of subscribers on our list against whom we shall be obliged to take court proceedings if a settlement is not soon forthcoming, and in this connection we don't mean 'maybe." We shall await a response to this appeal before sending out notices of indebtedness, and we ask for a hearty response from those indebted to us. We will cheerfully write receipts.

FOOD FADS

The individuad who desires to live a healthy life and to eat as he should finds it difficult to decide as to his proper food because of the number of fads which are shouted from the housetops and advertised in striking and convincing ways. It is not possible to mention all the food fads in a brief space, let alone to attempt to discuss them. Merely a few of the outstanding fallacies of the claim would be mentioned in order to guide the reader in considering this subject.

That one individual apparently prospers on an unusual diet is no reason for believing that such a diet is generally suitable, any more than it is reasonable to say that all men should be marathon runners because one man does well on that type of exercise. There is no evidence to show that vegetarians enjoy better health, or that they live longer than those who use meat. It has been pointed out that two of the most remarkable recent medical discoveries —liver extracts as a treatment for pernicious anaemia and insulin for the treatment of diabetes—are two extracts of meat which are life-saving.

There is no scientific evidence which supports the idea that cancer has anything to do with the use of refined foods, such as white bread, or the eating of meat. There is no foundation for what is called the dangerous food combination, which is based upon the idea that certain foods should not be eaten together, as one interferes with the digestion of the other. There is no need to eat one particular food in order to secure some constituent, such as iron or calcium. There is no objection to these foods, but it is a variety of foods, including milk, green leafy vegetables and fruits, which ensures a sufficient quantity of minerals and vitamins for the adult.

The foundation of health is moderation. Do not eat too much. Eat regularly. Use milk and milk products, green leafy vegetables and fruits regularly.

PATTON—PEDLAR.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pedlar, Fourth Line, on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 2 o'clock p.m., when their eldest daughter, Mildred, was united in marriage to Mr. Stanley Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patton, of Dundalk. Rev. Mr. Bamford officiated. Miss Arleen Beecroft, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked very winsome in a gown of madeline blue georgette and transparent velvet. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern. The only attendant was Miss Marguerite Fisher, cousin of the bride, who wore a smart gown of rose crepe dechine. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Russell Patton.

The living room was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and white bells. During the signing of the register Miss Arleen Beecroft sang very sweetly "The Crown of Love." Among the guests present were the bride's great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Beck, returning by way of London and New York from New Guinea to their home in California.

After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome choque; to the bridesmaid and pianist a rope of pearls; and to the groomsman a set of gold cuff links. The bride and groom received many useful and costly presents.

The young couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes of their many friends for a short trip to Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in a gown of rosewood taco crepe, with brown coat trimmed with opposum fur and hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Dundalk.

TO PAY $100 CAR DAMAGES

A lengthy case was before Judge Sutherland in Division Court here on Wednesday of last week, being the only case before the court. One night last September, Mr. James Oliver of near Priceville was going up Hutton's Hill near Durham and Mr. Samuel Braun of Hanover was coming up. In some way, their cars collided and Mr. Oliver sued for repairs for his auto. After much discussion the judge decided that Mr. Braun should pay the damages, about $100.—Hanover Post.

To the Electors of the Village of Flesherton:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Strong pressure has been brought to bear upon me to stand for the Reeveship of the village this year with a view to securing cement paving from the county. During the past year Durham, Hanover and Neustadt have been given pavement by the county and Flesherton is in line this year if a representative is sent up who has had experience and can command a sympathetic hearing from the county body. My record in the past is before you, and if the ratepayers desire me to act for them this year at the County Council they will mark their ballot for

Yours respectfully,

D. McTAVISH.

To the Electors of the Village of Flesherton:

I wish at this time of the nomination for the candidates for the Council for 1930, to express to you my sincere thanks for your co-operation and support and also especially tender my thanks publicly to the council members for the splendid spirit manifested during all the deliberations of the past year. As I am not allowing my name to go before the electors for the office of Reeve for next year I feel you should all know my reasons. Owing to the death of my brother-in-law in Chatsworth, who also was a funeral director, the family wish me to look after the business until such time as it is disposed of. I feel that I would be taxing myself beyond my strength to again allow my name to go before the electors and thus add this extra work and worry. Again thanking you for the honor bestowed upon me during the last year, I remain

Yours truly,

THOS. W. FINDLAY.

. . . Why you should
ANSWER PROMPTLY

BY the time this woman finishes her hand of bridge and reaches the telephone the party calling will have given up. The tardy bridge-player will be told "Sorry — there's no one on the line now, Madam".

Both of them will be annoyed—the person calling and the person called. Both of them have wasted time. Remember—it takes three to complete a call—

There are over one million local calls in Ontario and Quebec every day which fail to get through. These uncompleted calls mean two million minutes a day wasted—congestion of traffic—constant irritation—a handicap to business.

Some of them are unavoidable and some of them are our own errors. But many of them are mistakes made by the person calling or the person called. It takes three people to complete a call.

We are constantly striving to reduce our own errors. We are now pointing out some of the common errors in telephone usage because our aim is to provide the best possible telephone service* and in telephone service, co-operation is essential.

Answer promptly when your telephone rings. If it is not conveniently located in your home, consult us about it. And when you make a call, wait a reasonable time before giving up and causing a "No one on the line now".

Extensive new construction and replacements of both local and long distance telephone plant will mean an outlay in 1929 of more than $27,000,000.
