NO DEPUTY-REEVE

The 1930 Council of the township of Osprey will not be represented at County Council with a Deputy-Reeve on account of the deficiency in the number of voters in the township. Only 991 voters could be found eligible to vote at municipal elections and this was nine short of the required amount. Mr. John Lockhart has held down the position of Deputy-Reeve this year and at the present time it is not known whether he will try to take away Mr. W. L. Taylor's crown or not. The nomination in Osprey will take place at the usual time, the end of December.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Peas from Grey County received favorable notice at the International Hay and Grain Show at Chicoga. The honor won was a direct result of the Rural school fair, when first prize was won for Mr. R. S. Lee of Chatsworth by his son, George, at the Holland fair, also first prize at the Championship fair at Meaford. They were then taken to the Royal at Toronto where third prize was won. This shows what can be done in this county of Ontario.

The holding of the municipal elections earlier this year has brought forth fruit immediately, as judged by the results of the vote polled on Monday in the township. Notwithstanding the immense amount of snow on the roads one hundred and sixty two more votes were polled this election than in the previous one, but in 1928 seven hunlred and ninety two votes were cast, which was about a record, with a large slate for all the offices. If there had been motoring weather this year we feel sure that the above record would have been surpassed. However, the main reason of the change in the date of the election was to leave the Christmas and New years holidays free from election activities and give the electors more time to study the affairs of the municipality.

We believe that as time goes on the township will feel the benefit of the change.

Who will be Warden in the new County Council for 1930? Well, that cannot be foretold, as there are so many conditions to be considered. There are a number of aspirants in the field with possibly more to come. Lembke of Sullivan is in the running, also Taylor of Osprey, Buchanan of Collingwood, White of Sydenham and Weir of Glenelg—that is providing all these gentlemen are elected. Two years ago Mr. Weir was in line for the Wardenship, but his electors steered his ship onto a rock and elevated Mr. Brodie as Reeve. This year Mr. Weir is again trying conclusions with the man who has reigned in Glenelg for the past two years, and the election comes off on Monday of next week. The outcome of all this ambitious program will be interesting to watch.

Since the above was in type we learn that Mr. Buchanan's name has been eliminated, he having been defeated by Mr. Field, whom he defeated last year.

Last week while in Toronto we passed by His Highness from the north pole, Santa Claus, who was reigning in one of the large stores there, and we stood for a few moments watching the little boys and girls gazing in awe and wrapt admiration at the corpulent old fellow, who was having the time of his life greeting the young people who came to visit him. But we imagine that there will be many a little boy and girl badly disappointed at Christmas time when he or she learns that Santa Claus has not fulfilled the promises he made to them when they visited him in the big store. This jolly old fellow was promising to bring to each boy and girl everything that was wished for—wrist watches, dolls, skiis, sleighs and everything that a young person could desire. There will be many of his promises hard to keep. We believe that the emulator of this famous character should use better judgment in his greetings to the children and not disappoint them on the biggest and best day of the year.

When talking with His Royal Highness From the North we made arrangements for him to visit Flesherton on Saturday, December 14. He promised to bring along a larger supply than ever of candies, nuts and other good things.

WHY DIPHTHERIA SHOULD BE PREVENTED.

Year after year diphtheria takes a toll of human lives. In Canada, during the year 1927, 1010 lives were lost on account of this disease. In addition, the toll entails pain and expense, as well as more or less damage to those who suffer and recover.

There is no disease about which we know more than we do about diphtheria. The germ which causes it is known. The manner of the spread of the disease is understood. It is one of the few diseases for which a specific cure is available, providing the remedy is used very early in the disease. In addition to all this we know how the disease may be prevented.

This means that we know that all the cases of diphtheria which now occur can be prevented. We can say that the thousand lives lost in 1927 because of this disease would have been saved if our knowledge concerning diphtheria had been used. The prevention of diphtheria is based upon the plan of making each individual resistant to the disease. This means that he is rendered immune—that his body is given the forces with which to overcome diphtheria germs and the poisons which these germs give off when they have gained a foothold in the human body.

It is not only possible, but it is practical to secure this power to resist called immunity, through the process of diphtheria immunization. When diphtheria toxoid is injected into the body, it stimulates the body to produce its fighting forces against diphtheria. These fighting forces are then readp to be called upon in case the diphtheria enemy may appear. Diphtheria immunization is preparedness against the disease.

Because diphtheria takes such a large toll among young children, immunization should not be postponed after the first birthday. A wide experience enables us to say that in children under six years of age, the injectiins do not cause any upset, and most satisfactory results are obtained. Now is the time to have your young children immuned in order to protect them against the dsease. Do it now.

Tarred and Feathered

Dripping tar and with the lower portion of his body covered with feathers, Dr. V. E. Latimer, formerly of Brandon, Man., prominent all over western Canada as an eye, ear and nose specialist, and a man well up in years, staggered into town Monday night and charged Charles E. Oliver, son of the late Hon. John Oliver, former Premier of British Columbia, with tarring and feathering him. Oliver was arrested and is now out on bail pending a hearing.

The tar and feather episode is the culmination of a long series of charges against Dr. Latimer by Oliver. The accusations concern actions of the practitioner when he was treating Mrs. Oliver for deafness during her husband's absence in Europe last spring. About three weeks ago red paint and blood were spattered on Latimer's sign outside his office and inscribed in blood on the sign were the words "Abandon hope all ye who enter here."

On Monday night, Latimer told the police, he was called to the telephone and asked to meet a man, who would give his name as Harvey, at his office. When he drove down he found a man there who, in response to a question as to his name, knocked him to the sidewalk with a right swing to the jaw and, with the help of two others, packed him into a car and drove off at a pace so furious that the town constable made after it, shooting ineffectively at the tires.

At a lonely spot several miles from town, Latimer's feet were bound with thongs, his clothes removed, he was tarred and feathered and left to walk back to town trouserless. The police followed the thail of tarry footmarks to the scene.

Had Big Crowd

The fowl supper given by the agricultural Society in the town hall on Tuesday evening was a real success, about $140 being taken in altogether. The supply of fowl ran short at the last, but everybody was satisfied with refreshments as well as with the program. A play was given by the young people of the village entitled "Parlor Matches," that provoked much fun. A duet was given by Mrs. J. Perkins and Mrs. McCallum, quartette by the same two, and Messrs. F. W. Duncan and George Cairns. Tickets had been distributed to each person as they entered the hall and Mr. Wm. Miller drew the winning ticket while blindfolded on the platform and Mr. F. W. Duncan was the lucky holder. He immediately returned the table to the Society and during the evening it was auctioned and Mr. F. H. W. Hickling secured it with a bid of $7.00. The evening was a huge success in every way.

Farm Notes

Cattle running at large on the highways can be impounded and action taken against the owners. This may seem harsh but it is better than for some motorist to have an accident by trying to avoid a collision.

The movement of clover and grass seeds is reported slow and generally at lower prices than last fall. With the exception of timothy and sweet clover the production in Canada and the United Shates is reported larger than last year. This fact, coupled with a good crop in Europe, has resulted in a slow export demand and lower prices to Canadian growers. In Ontario it is estimated that about 50 per cent. of the alsike crop is not yet sold, 65 to 75 per cent of the red clover and 25 per cent of the sweet clover.

RATES OF SEEDING

In an experiment conducted at O. A. C. for a period of eight years the results show that the greatest yield per acre with winter wheat was obtained from sowing one and three-quarters bushels of seed to the acre. When the amount of seed sown per acre was taken into consideration the yield at the one and three- quarters bushels rate of seeding was only slightly greater than that obtained from sowing one and one-half bushels per acre.

900 TURKEYS RAISED

Approximately 900 turkeys have been raised at the Ontario Government Turkey Farm near Forestville in Norfolk County during the past year. About one-half of these will come under the axe prior to the holiday season. The beter type of birds, however, are retained for breeding purposes. Very valuable information with respect to turkey raising, particularly the conditions under which turkeys thrive, has been obtained since the farm was established a few years ago.
