THE RECENT PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

[We have been requested to publish the following letter from the Montreal Church Observer.—Ed. News.]

To the Editor of the Church Observer.

SIR,—With your permission, I will lay before your readers a few thoughts on the Provincial Synod, whose labours, after a sitting of more than ten days, have just closed. The great question discussed was no new thing. Ritualism, alas for our peace and prosperity, was not a novelty; no sudden emergency springing into existence from a casualty, but a growth with its seed time and careful culture, and, I might add, its harvest at hand; for who shall tell the consequence, of the timid policy then proposed? Our Church has received its answer—her rulers hesitate to do that which will preserve its Evangelic Protestant character. The like treatment of this disease, which has so injured the health of the mother, we are told is that with which her Canadian daughter is to be treated—delay! Has it succeeded with the parent? Can it with the child? Remember the difference between the two. Is there any comparison? A mild and gentle treatment of a dangerous disease when the knife and the cauterizing iron, removing every fibre, would have been skill, is little else than quackery. Such a course of dealing with a disease which is feeding on the vitals of our church would be absurd. Three long years (so it was proposed) are to test the nature of this let-alone prescription in Canada, which has so singularly failed at home in restoring the Mother Church to such a condition of body that she can be once more going about her house and doing those duties for which her husband chose her to be his wife. Well, Mr Editor; yes, and it is well; well with the mother and well with the child; for that is well which the "maker and Husband" of His Church does. He may have purposes akin to those which prevailed in reference to "the Seven Churches," to remove the candlestick of the Protestant Episcopacy from its place, and who would have the hardihood to pronounce this suggestion an impertinence? One Church, at least, suffered for its cowardice, and why not ours? If there be no analogy between Canada's Church and the Church of Thyatira, then I do not know where resemblance can be found. If Ritualism be not the Jezebel of our Church, seductive to idolatry as was the Queen of Israel—stirring up our rulers to do evil as did the wife of Ahab—powerful for mischief and persecuting the truth wherever and whenever opportunity offers, then analogy fails to teach a most important lesson from a great historic fact.

And it is with this soul-ruinous system that some men are willing to make a compromise! They are willing to give up the gown in the pulpit (concession number one.) The teacher is to give place to the priest; for though we may mean nothing by this change, the action with the others is a symbol, a speaking figure, expressing the sacerdotal character. They tell us so, why not believe them. The service, at present sufficiently long, is to be lengthened out by the prayer for the Church Militant and other prayers, and thus crowd out the preaching; whilst the offertory after the sermon, by the sound of money dropping into the plate, is to drive away whatever of heaven has been wrought by the preacher's voice in the hearer's heart. Drape the tenant of the teacher's place in a priestly garment, and, creature of circumstances as man is, he forgets that he is the teacher. Envelope him in the flowing surplice, and action is out of place; he stands the official lecturer, at most the preacher, no longer. Thus, for the sake of peace, we are asked to concede number two. I ask my brethren, can any course be more fatal to our success as a Church? Will our people consent long to listen to preachers a reproduction of the seventeenth century? Will men be willing to exchange the cold, formal essayist, though he should be a Tillotson or a Blair, for the man, inferior though he may be in the learning of the schools, who brings his master's message warm with the sympathies of a heart living and breathing under the power of Divine love; the man who shows his sympathy with his subject, and tells his hearers that he feels by the usual actions of feeling? Again, was it to the ministerial or the teaching character, to which the Evangelical revival at the latter end of the past and beginning of the present century, stands indebted? Was it not to the pulpit? The desk remained unchanged. The utterances from the pulpit called into life the breathings from the desk. No longer discrepant, they spoke the same things, and mutually aided each other in producing that change which has called into existence labours for God and for man; which say, beyond gainsaying, what Evangelical Churchmanship is; a system taught of God and labouring for God! A system which demands the severest scrutiny, conscious of its identity with Reformation truths as set forth in our standards. Besides, what is demanded by those who differ from us is consistent with their system of faith and practice. Our concessions, on the other hand, manifestly would be inconsistent with our rule. Preaching in theirs, is secondary; with us, primary. They can, without injury, give up the teaching minister and merge him into the sacramental priest; when once we give up our pulpit, we are shorn of our strength and must consent to be weak as other men.

But peace was the key-note at the late gathering of our tribes; peace among the brethren was sounded by the one side and echoed by the other; but, I would ask, who marred the former harmony? What party in the Church is clamouring for a change which, they contess, is to alter the very character of the Church of England and Ireland? Let the offender cease the offence, quietly submit himself to the order and practice and teaching of his Church as it has been for these last centuries, and then there will be peace. Evangelicals have nothing to change. It is matter of history. Never were they more devoted nor more successful than thirty years since, when this organized conspiracy first showed itself. We have, through evil report and good report, sustained the even way; and, at this day, it is not we that are given to change. What concessions can we, then, consistently make but at the expense of principle? And if we sacrifice our principles, are we so foolish as to expect peace? The veriest dream of dotage is such a compromise! Our principles are God's revealed truths. We know what we say and testify what we have experienced when preaching Evangelic truth. Are we so foolish as to anticipate peace as the result of disobedience to what is written? Infatuation most infatuated! I have no unkind feelings to my brother minister because he does not see as I see. I would that he were as I, saving and excepting my inconsistencies. I do not forget that what he is now, I once was—with "understanding darkened" upon these questions of vital importance. I pray God that the same Spirit which has taught me, may teach him. Love to my fellow man demands this; but love, as well as duty, rejects the idea that I am, in order to please him, to act as if I were blind as he. Let, then, Evangelical men remember the solemn trust involved in their commission; to open blind eyes, to turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, &c, &c, and they will make no such concessions as those now demanded ignorantly, but no less involving consequences freighted with injury and ruin to man and dishonour to God, whilst casting a fearful responsibility on those taught by the Spirit, which no one, with his eyes open, would choose to undertake.

Coughs and Colds.

Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic affections Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough, or "common cold," in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing, having a direct influence on the affected parts. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine. Sold by all dealers in Medicines at 25 cents a box.

LEASES—Forms of Leases and other descriptions of Law Printing kept in stock at the Daily News Office. Every description of printing done to order.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED, whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable: If you are suffering, or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business-men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also hose they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly-cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu, established upward of 18 years, prepared by H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist, 494, New York, and 104, South 10th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. PRICE —$1,25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6 50, delivered to any address. Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

None are genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed

H. T. HELMBOLD.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers.
