TAGGED CODFISH IN NOVA SCOTIA CATCH

Four codfish which had been tagged by workers on the staff of the Biological Board of Canada in the summer of 1927 and liberated off other parts of the Nova Scotia coast were caught a few weeks ago by fishermen operating in waters off Chetlcamp, Inverness county, N. S.

These fish were among those which were tagged in July and August, 1927,, in the course of the tagging operations which were carried on to assist in establishing facts as to the movements of cod and other fish. One of the four had been liberated on Carouse shoal, which lies off Canso; another, four miles northeast of Glace Bay; and the other two were freed four miles off Flint island, which is to the south-east of Glace Bay. They escaped capture for a little more than two years and in that time apparently made their way around the north of Cape Breton to the western coast of the island, whether they did any other travelling or not.

Tagging is done by placing a small numbered piece of metal, or tag, on the tail or caudal fin of the fish. A record is kept of the number of each tag, the date when it was used, and the place at which the fish bearing the tag was liberated. If the fish is caught later on it is possible to judge what its movements have been since it was tagged and freed. Thus, in the course of time, evidence of value to those engaged in the fisheries may be accumulated as to the migration habits of the different varieties of fish that are tagged. Tagging operations are carried on in North American waters, both by Canada and the United States.

IN PAIN

A man who shot and wounded a saxaphone player one night pleaded that he thought it was a cat.

"But you musn't even shoot a cat," said the magistrate.

"I thought this one was very ill," pleaded the man.

IN MEMORIAM

LEGARD—In affectionate remembrance of our beloved mother Christena LeGard, who passed away Jan. 12, 1923.

Only a step removed, and that step into bliss;
Our own, our dearly loved, whom here on earth we miss.
Not passed away, the love so rich, so true, so pure;
But perfected above and ever to endure,
Only a step removed, we soon again shall meet
Our own, our dearly loved, around the Saviour's feet.

Dearly remembered.Meda and Allan.

PREMATURE

An Irishman lay dying when the odor of cooking assailed his nostrils. Summoning his weeping daughter to his bedside he said:

Nora, darlint, ain't it doughnuts that I smell!"

Right for ye, father," the girl replied.

" And would ye be asking your mither if I can have one before I die?"

The daughter delivered the message to mother in the kitchen and brought back this answer:

"Mither says ye cannot have one of them doughnuts; they're fer the wake."

EUGENIA

School re-opened on Monday, Jan. 6th. We wish our esteemed teacher, Miss Acheson, and pupils every success.

The play "Pouter Pigeon" given by the Maxwell young people under the auspices of the L.O.L. here recently, was well received. After the program dancing was indulged in and all present spent an enjoyable evening.

The young people held a most enjoyable party at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Carruthers on Tuesday evening of last week, prior to Mr. Norman Williams' departure to Vittoria. They danced the old year out and the new year in.

Mr. Chas. Quesnel and children of Owen Sound spent the yuletide season at the home of Mr. J. Sherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMillan and daughter of Markdale and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jamieson and family of the 8th line, spent Christmas with Mrs. Wilson in the village.

At the annual school meeting Mr. Ernest Proctor was appointed as new trustee, Mr. Cardwell Graham retiring. Mr. Joseph Sherwood again received the contract of caretaker. The wood was let by the trustees to Mr. Lewis Genoe at the attractive price of $5.00 per cord for green wood, and Mr. John Campbell puts in the cedar. Mr. Wm. Gordon acted as chairman of the meeting and Mr. Chas. Martin, secretary pro tem.

Mr. Russell Park spent a few days at the festive season renewing acquaintances in Sarnia. Russell thinks the change of climate is beneficial to one's health and "may" visit there again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Linton of Mimico visited relatives on the 8th line during the holidays.

Mr. James Russell and family are moving to the farm at Rock Mills recently purchased from Mr. George Johnston. We wish them much happiness and prosperity in their new home.

Last Sunday was Communion Sunday in the United church here. There was a good attendance.

Robins, crows and blue jays have been prevalent in this vicinity during the mild weather, Signs of early spring?

The annual meeting of the United church here was held on Friday evening, January 3rd, when there was a good attendance. The banquet was everything that could be desired, grace being sung at the commencemnt. Every one did ample justice to the good things served. After this the business matters came and were interspersed by a reading by Mrs. J. Parsons, a recitation by Miss Irene Martin and a quartette by Messrs. Jacob Williams and Alex. Carruthers and the Misses Marjorie Park and Donalda Sloan. All numbers were pleasing. Rev. Mr. Bamford was chairman of the evening, opening the meeting with prayer and closing with the benediction. We are pleased to report that the various church departments have a surplus on hand, which is a good commencement for the year.

Mrs. Wm. Hislop spent the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Wilfred Magee, 8th line.

Mr. Andrw Graham had the misfortune to lose a working horse a few days ago. Mr. Albert Williams had a similar loss recently.

The young people here are enjoying an open air skating rink on the hydro lake here. They report the skating O.K.

Miss Sewell of Rock Mills is assisting Mrs. Fred Duckett with her household duties.

Mr. Cardwell Graham and Mrs. C. Martin are suffering with sore faces, not sore throats as we stated last week. Mr. Graham has a very sore boil on the side of his face, while Mrs. Martin's ailment was caused from a pimple.

The correspondent would be pleased if the 8th line residents would phone any items they desire published, to her at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Purvis and family of Toronto spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Purvis.

IN MEMORIAM

GALLOWAY—In loving memory of my twin sister, Mrs. Galloway, who died Jan. 4th, 1926.

We in one mother's arms were locked,
Long be her love repaid;
In the same cradle we were rocked,
Round the same hearth we played.
We were but one, be that the bond
To hold us till we die;
Shoulder to shoulder we did stand,
And side by side we will lie.

—Twin Sister Ida.
