AMERICAN CHILDREN ON THEIR TRAVELS.

We would undertake in any hotel on the Continent to tell the nationality of any child by the arrangements made for his or her food, and by his or her relations to the servants. There is the American child, forward, whose position is the simplest and easiest conceivable. She, if above three years of age, is "growed-up," paid for like any other guest, entitled to the same privileges, displaying the same entire independence of any sort of control, and evincing the curious national contempt for servants. An American child of six years of age is perfectly capable of dining in a Swiss hotel to perfectly after dinner, and, if ordering a [illegible] without the slightest interference from mamma, or the governess, she did, would get it without the slightest interference from mamma, or the governess, indeed any human being, except possibly the waiter, who would speedily be brought to a due sense of his position and responsibilities. Dining at Zurich, a few days since, the writer noticed a perfect specimen of the kind. She was a bright-eyed, fair-haired little thing, probably seven years old, but in appearance scarcely two, who marched into the room with the air of mingled curiosity and pomp so common to sharp children, made way for her father, a grave man of fifty, but calmly ordered her mother to take another chair. Mamma had seated herself outside her husband, and baby intended to sit between him and the governess. This arrangement accomplished, and a waiter who proffered a high chair summarily sent into disgrace. Baby unrolled her napkin, read the menu carefully, remarked that she liked sweets, and gravely went in for dinner. Of ten or twelve dishes that child tasted everyone, assisted on a separate glass of claret, and at last fixed the affections of her over-filled little person on some cheesecakes. First she ate her own share, then she sidled up to her governess, remarked in American that she had not had half enough, and, in French, that the lady opposite was clearly English, and, under cover of her chatter, quietly stole and bolted the poor woman's cheesecakes. Then she turned to her mother; but her mother had passed the dish, and we thought she was at the end of her resources. Not a bit of it. In the stillest and calmest of trebles she ordered the head-waiter, then about fifty feet off, to bring papa some more cheesecakes," snatched three, and putting one on the governess' plate—either out of a theory of restitution, as we hope, or an idea of making her an accomplice, as we fear—bolted the other two, and then nudged her mother for admiration. With insignificant variations of circumstances she was the typical American female child as encountered in Switzerland, the most independent, self-helpful, speedy little imp alive. Male children from that continent, we are bound to say, are different, their main characteristics being a portentous gravity, and a certain slow, but real, politeness wonderful to behold. Outside the table d'hote the last vestiant of self-restraint seems to be thrown off, balconies are turned into play-rooms, passages into race-courses, till the entire building seems given over to shrill-voiced, dyspeptic, high-spirited little imps, who in an hour or so attract to their sides a cosmopolitan assembly of all colours and ages, who take them all as wicked as themselves, and, we are bound to add, rule them all with the most serene aplomb.—London Spectator.

AFFAIRS IN SPAIN.

Senor Lorenzana has sent a circular to the foreign representatives of Spain abroad, in which the Minister explains the causes, character, and political bearing of the revolution. Spain had under the rule of her last two monarchs presented the sad spectacle of a loyal and generous people lavishly devoting their wealth and their blood for the benefit of kings who repaid these heroic sacrifices with the blackest ingratitude. The people patiently waited until the cup of suffering was overflowing. That moment having arrived, the people have taken their stand upon the ground of modern popular right. The circular treats upon the question of religious liberty, stating that the useless legal obstacles hitherto thrown in the way of other creeds would disappear even as they had already disappeared from the habits of the people. In conclusion, the Minister says that the Spanish revolution could cause no alarm to other countries, and therefore the Government was in hopes that foreign nations would not refuse to entertain friendly relations with revolutionary Spain.

Madrid, Thursday.—The Official Gazette promulgates the commercial law and organic regulations for the departments voted by the constituent assembly of 1854, with only some slight modifications necessitated by existing circumstances.

The Minister of Public Works and Instruction has decreed that the Universities and secondary educational institutions shall be opened on the 1st November. The same decree ordains complete liberty of all classes of education, and authorises any Spaniard to open an educational establishment.

A large meeting was held at the circus this afternoon, Senor Olozaga in the chair. Several speeches were delivered urgently calling for the immediate abolition of slavery in the Spanish Antilles. An immense number of persons were present, and great enthusiasm was manifested.

Paris, Thursday.—La Liberte publishes a letter from Gen. Prim to M. de Girardin, in which he reproached Prim for not proclaiming the Republic in Spain. Prim says there are not a sufficient number of Republicans in Spain to proclaim a Republic. At present, all that the Republicans can do is to propagate their principles. If the Republicans can persuade Spain to become Republican, they are prepared to satisfy the people. In the meantime, Prim says that he and the Republican party can only bow to the national will, and he sees with satisfaction that those acting with the Republicans participate in these views, the most eminent members of the Democratic party seconding their efforts for the establishment of liberty upon a solid basis.

Madrid, Friday.—Letters received from Malaga of the 20th state that some disturbances have taken place in that city, which however were not attended with any serious consequences, and order is now restored. A decree has been published by the Minister of Justice suspending the payemnt of the usual grant of 51,990,000 reals to the diocesan seminaries, until the decision of the constituent Cortes thereon is known. The Minister of Finances, Senor Figuerola, has issued a decree, ordering a general revision of the State pension list. All pensions granted in violation of the law of the 29th July, 1837, will be annulled.

Coughs and Colds.

Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough, or "common cold," in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing, having a singular influence on the affected parts. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine. Sold by all dealers in Medicines at 25 cents a box.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on the face of the earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents. Sold everywhere.

Be sure and call for

having the fac-simile of "Curtis & Perkins" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations.

Pocket volumes containing these Lectures, will be forwarded post-paid, on receipt of 25 cents, by addressing "SECRETARY, New York Museum of Anatomy and Science, 618 Broadway, New York."

ART OF ADVERTISING.—Horace Greeley, of New York, says:—The most successful business men in this city are those who have advertised liberally and constantly. A small advertisement constantly appearing is better than a display column occasionally.

STEAM PRINTING HOUSE, Princess Street, Kingston. Printing of all kinds at the DAILY NEWS STEAM PRINTING HOUSE.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers. Some people will learn by observation, others will not.—Daily Palladium.

NEW STYLES OF TYPE HAVE been added to the DAILY NEWS JOB PRINTING OFFICE. Our two Steam Presses and Automatic Platen Printing Machinery enable us to turn out work in good style, with quick despatch, and at cheap rates. Inquiry solicited.

WOMAN.

FEMALES, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they sustain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these contributes in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but no one of these various female complaints can long be allowed to run on without involving the general health of the individual, and ere long producing permanent sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these various delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing, in their hands simple specifics which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of those troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU.

Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent childbirth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself."

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life, health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The mania that exists for precocious education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half-clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnight revels the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day, thus aggravating the evil. When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air; the sudden change of temperature; the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate one, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs, they require an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life; and, as we shall subsequently see, these emotions, when excessive, lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self-completed their development.

For Female Weakness and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhœa, Too Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion, Too Long Continued Periods, for Prolapsus and Bearing Down, or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most perfect specific known
