A MODEL CONSTITUENCY.

The Times of the 22nd ult says:—Second only to the interest felt in the approaching contest for the representation of the University of Oxford. The University is a singular, and in many respects a model constituency. The constituency seeks its candidates, not the candidates the constituency. The candidates are public men, and stand on public grounds, irrespective of wealth or localities. The electors are very various, consisting of resident teachers, and Professors, and College officers, Members of Parliament, London barristers, and clergy dispersed throughout the country; but all are gentlemen more or less educated and intelligent. The election is conducted without the arts and crimes of vulgar electioneering; intoxication, corruption, and tumult are unknown; petty intrigues and popular flattery are equally impracticable; paid canvassers have no place; even addresses and hustings speeches are forbidden, the very candidates standing proudly aloof during the contest, as if it were derogatory to them or to the constituency to suppose that their merits are unknown, or that the ripe judgment of the electors could be disturbed by passing exhibitions of oratory. There is no call for the Ballot; the opinion of the constituency is fairly elicited by each elector freely influencing and being influenced by his fellows. Finally, the suffrage is taken without risk of abuse in the most convenient way by means of voting papers. The position of the representative is a worthy equal to the conditions of the canvass. He is sent to Parliament free to discharge his public duties unhampered by pledges, and comparatively unharassed by the distractions of private and local business. Once elected, he may consider that he holds his seat, if not for life, at all events secure against dispossession on account of a passing caprice on the part of his constituents, or any venial short-coming of his own. At the same time, there is exacted from him the utmost responsibility for the fulfilment of his public functions; his career at every step is watched, appreciated, and criticised.

IRON FORTIFICATIONS AND GREAT GUNS—NEW EXPERIMENTS IN PRUSSIA.

A letter from Berlin says: "The success which attended the experiments of last summer has induced the Prussian government to employ large blocks of hard cast metal for the purpose of fortification. A foundry has been established with this object on the artillery experimental ground, for which arrangement it is not necessary to move its ponderous productions any very great distance, whenever it is thought advisable to give Mr Krupp an opportunity of knocking them to pieces or endeavouring to do so. A colossal casting, weighing ninety tons, was made there last Friday, in the presence of the minister of war and numerous military and naval officers, and is unquestionably by far the greatest that has ever been attempted on the continent. What is considered still more remarkable than the size of this casting was the very short time required for the process. The metal was melted in three large furnaces in the short space of three hours, and the actual casting was completed in forty-five seconds. The report adds, by way of comparison, that the casting of a steam hammer weighing one hundred tons required in England forty-eight hours. A hydraulic crane is used for moving these large masses, and does its work so easily that a shield weighing forty tons has been moved several hundred yards and placed on the framework intended to receive it in half an hour. The plates are not fastened together by bolts or screws, but cast in such a shape as to dovetail into each other. It is intended to employ the combination of iron, earthwork and masonry in the new forts, and to adopt the improved methods to the coast defences first, as they are exposed to the heaviest fire. The Woolwich gun, which has been competing at Berlin with Mr Krupp's, has shown a deep crack, after the two hundred and sixty-fourth round, whereas Krupp's gun remained unscathed after four hundred rounds, and his friends are of course jubilant. On the other hand, an English seven-inch plate, three inches of steel on four inches of iron, from the Cyclops works, Sheffield, was too much for Krupp's ninety-six pounder, at least only the point of the shot came through. It has been stated since that only a reduced charge of powder was used on this occasion. The same projectile, however, and with a similar reduced charge, had knocked an eight-inch plate of Austrian manufacture all to pieces. Both Krupp and Borsig have offered to establish works for rolling plates in Prussia."

What are now called surprise parties became quite fashionable in England about the year 1860, when they were called "Picnic suppers." The bill of fare was prepared—each dish being numbered—and the subscribers to the entertainment drew lots, and each was required to furnish the dish marked against the number he drew.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says: "The Parisians seem really mad about the little satirical and scandalous periodical pamphlets of the Lanterne family which continue to appear in Paris. M. de Villemessant and some of the Figaro people have just brought out the first number of a new one, called Le Diable Quartre, and are said to have sold 140,000 copies on the day of its appearance. Eight parodies of the thing have already appeared.

Dr Fournie, of Paris, lately examined a Chinese juggler, named Ling Look, who used to thrust a sabre, almost three feet long, down his throat, and swallow a hen's egg, but which he afterwards spit out unbroken. It has hitherto been generally believed that the sabres used by the Chinese jugglers for this purpose were not solid, but could be contracted like telescopes, so that they would remain in the juggler's mouth; but Dr Fournie examined the Chinaman's breast, and felt the point of the sabre some thirty inches below his mouth. When Ling Look pretended to swallow the egg, it seemed to the Doctor that he did not do so. He tried the juggler to repeat the experiment, and discovered how that Ling Look hid it under his tongue, where, in consequence of the long practice, quite a cavity had been formed.

Coughs and Colds.

Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough, or "common cold," in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing, having a direct influence on the affected parts. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine. Sold by all dealers in Medicines at 25 cents a box.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs WINSLOWS SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on the face of the earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents. Sold everywhere.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

having the fac-simile of "Curtis & Perkins" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations.

Philosophy of Marriage.

A new Course of Lectures, as delivered at the New York Museum of Anatomy embracing the subjects:—How to live and what to live for; Youth, Maturity, and old Age; Manhood generally reviewed; The cause of indigestion; Flatulence and Nervous Diseases accounted for; Marriage philosophically considered, &c., &c. Pocket volumes containing these Lectures, will be forwarded post-paid, on receipt of 25 cents, by addressing "SECRETARY, New York Museum of Anatomy and Science, 618 Broadway, New York."

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful black or brown, Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers; and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond street, New York.

Dr Record's Essence of Life,

The only unquestionable and absolute remedy for Nervousness, Debility, and Restoration to Manhood. The medicine, taken for four weeks, cures as certain as water quenches thirst. Sold in Bottles at $3 (in gold), or four times the quantity for $9. To be had from the Agent,

ART OF ADVERTISING.—Horace Greeley, of New York, says:—The most successful business men in this city are those who have advertised liberally and constantly. A small advertisement constantly appearing is better than a display column occasionally.

STEAM PRINTING HOUSE, Princess Street, Kingston. Printing of all kinds at the DAILY NEWS STEAM PRINTING HOUSE.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers. Some people will learn by observation, others will not.—Daily Palladium.

THE CIRCULATION of the DAILY NEWS is fully one-half larger than that of any other daily journal published in Kingston. The circulation of the old established weekly CHRONICLE AND NEWS is also greater than any other weekly published in the county. Advertisers will perceive that these journals are the best media for attracting public attention in this locality.

LEASES—Forms of Leases and other descriptions of Law Printing kept in stock at the Daily News Office. Every description of printing done to order.

WOMAN.

FEMALES, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they sustain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these contributes in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but no one of these various female complaints can long be suffered to run on without involving the general health of the individual, and ere long producing permanent sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these various delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands simple specifics which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of those troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU.

Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent childbirth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life, health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The mania that exists for precocious education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half-clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnight revels the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day, thus aggravating the evil. When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air; the sudden change of temperature; the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate one, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs, they require an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life; and, as we shall subsequently see, these emotions, when excessive, lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self-completed their development.

For Female Weakness and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhœa, Too Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion, Too Long Continued Periods, for Prolapsus and Bearing Down, or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most perfect specific known
