The Advantage of "Purity"

Since Purity is a strong, rich flour with great expanding qualities, use 1 tablespoon less per cup if your cake recipe calls for ordinary pastry or soft wheat flour. If milk is called for, use half milk and half water (luke-warm) when using Purity Flour and your cakes will stay moist longer.

Purity Plain Pastry New Recipe

For two pie shells use 2 cups Purity Flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup cold water. Mix flour and salt, cutting in the shortening until the mixture is like fine meal. Mix thoroughly with the water. Roll out thin, keeping it thoroughly dry. For extra rich pastry use half butter and half lard.

THE TODDLER

Neglect, or comparative neglect, has been the lot of the child after he has been weaned when he is no longer so entirely dependent unon his mother. The need for special care of the infant is generally recognized, but what is not so universally understood is that the pre-school years of life are all important in laying foundations for the good health habits which must be established if adult health is to be attained.

After weaning, the child cannot become one of the family in the sense that he can eat the ordinary family diet. The feeding of the child at this time requires special care, and the mother needs to give time to the proper selection and prenaration of the young child's food. There is beyond doubt, a close relationship between physical fitness and proper food. Eating habits are established during the second and third year of life. It therefore stands to reason that these years are the most important in starting and developing desirable habits in connection with the use of foods.

Young children suffer considerably from colds, tonsilitis, bronchitis, pneumonia, and other diseases of the respiratory tract. These diseases take a heavy toll of young lives each year and, naturally, it is a matter of great importance to know the reason for this if the condition is to be prevented. In searching for an explanation, we find a condition that apparently is significant and to which attention should be drawn. Mothers, as a result of the knowledge they have acquired concerning the care of the infant and the value of fresh air and sunshine, now put their babies out of doors a great deal. After the first year, however, this becomes difficult because the yound child requires constant supervision unless he can be left in a place that is absolutely safe. As a result, the child is kept indoors, possibly going out with the mother when she goes shopping, which means that most of the time is spent in stores. Thus, the child does not get the fresh air which he requires and this lack of fresh air is one reason why young children suffer so frequently from diseases of the respiratory tract.

The health of the young child demands fresh air. It may require considerable planning to make sure that he gets it, but the effort is well worth while.

SPRING WEATHER LAST WEEK

The past week has seen the winter retreat with leaps and bounds and spring-like weather has been predominant with rivers full of water and rising higher each day, but the cold snap came Tuesday afternoon. One noteworthy fact is that the robins have not been present to usher in the spring weather and hardly any have been seen to date. It therefore looks as if these harbingers of spring are aware of the hoax and are biding their time for a more opportune moment to arrive, when the risks of freezing are few.

It is expected that the government snow plow will come through shortly, as it was reported to be near Dundalk on Tuesday afternoon.

GOOD NEWS FOR TOWNSHIPS

Announcement was made last week by Hon. George S. Henry, minister of highways, that he would introduce a bill at the present session of Legislature increasing the grant to townships for the maintenance of roads. The present government grant is 20 per cent, but he would not say as to what figure it would be increased. In last year's election campaign he said on the platform that he hoped the grant would be doubled.

An amendment to the Highway Act will shortly go before the House to widen the powers of magistrates to deal with drunken drivers. There will be stiffer penalties set forth for infractions of highway rules, and the necessary provision made for changing the name of provincial roads to that of "the King's Highway."
