THE CZAR AND THE ROMAN COUNCIL

A [illegible] Bishops [illegible] towards [illegible] Bishop Long [illegible] passed 20 years of his life, from 1836 to 1856, in the management of two dioceses of his own choosing without attracting any other attention than that respect which will always be accorded to a zealous and active bishop. In 1856 Bishop Maltby, of Durham, resigned his diocese, and Lord Palmerston, who was then in office, passed over the hard working, quiet northern bishop to the go den see. With in four years afterwards Dr. Musgrove, the Archbishop of York, died, and the same Minister advanced Dr. Longley to the Primacy of the north. Two years afterwards Archbishop Bird Summer passed away, and Lord Palmerston again started the quiet of Dr. Longley, and placed him in the marble chair of Canterbury.

THE QUEBEC AND GOSFORD WOODEN RAILWAY.

A meeting of the shareholders and others interested in the construction of this Railway, was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade Rooms, St. Peter street, for the purpose of hearing Mr Hulbert, an engineer from the United States. Mr Hulbert has already built two roads of the same kind as now proposed, and has had considerable experience on the subject. The meeting was not a large one, about twenty persons being present, amongst whom we noticed the following gentlemen:—Messrs. M. Stevenson, M. G. Mountain, Wm. Drum, E. L. Montizambert, A. Fry, J. Thomson, J. H. Oaks, W. Hunt FitzGerald, E. Temple, T. H. Grant, W. Walker, P. Garneau, M. Ricker, &c., &c.

After Mr Garneau had introduced Mr Hulbert to the meeting, the latter gentleman explained that he had been engaged at Clifton in the construction of a wooden railway, which had turned out in a pecuniary point of view as a complete success, and gave general satisfaction. They were running four locomotives and 60 cars, and the Company now proposed to add four additional locomotives and 100 additional cars. He had passed over the road now under consideration, with Mr FitzGerald, and had come to the conclusion that it could be built much cheaper than the lines he had first spoken of. He was surprised to hear that we complained about the cost of firewood, with such large quantities available within 25 miles of our city. It was impossible for him to give the meeting the exact figures of the cost of construction, but he thought it could be put in working operation for about $200,000. These railways could attain a speed of 16 miles in 60 minutes. They ran at that rate in Clifton, but from 8 to 10 miles in the same time was sufficient for all practical purposes. The locomotive on this line could make two trips a day, forty cords each load, which would be, with four locomotives running, 540 cords each day. The width of way required was 66 feet, much more, he believed, than at first contemplated by the shareholders.—Mr Hulbert then went into detailed description of the grade which these wooden railways can attain, which is as much as 300 feet on the mile, and also upon the increased value of the property through which the road would pass. With fair usage, he thought a wooden rail made of maple—for he found it best for the purpose—would last at least five years, and when one side of the rail was worn out, it could be reversed. He here showed the meeting a small diagram of a rail such as is used in wooden railways. The road as he proposed it, 66 feet wide, would not require cattle guards, and they could do away with fencing. He also stated that in its construction not one pound of iron would be used. Mr FitzGerald here said that the wood required for the rails could be obtained off the lands conceded by the Government. Mr Hulbert continued his explanations, stating that he had been consulted by certain gentlemen in Ontario, who proposed building a similar road. These gentlemen had visited the road he had lately built, and expressed themselves highly satisfied. He thought for cheapness it was undoubtedly the best thing they could get up. It was also suggested as an encouragement to persons to buy stock, that each shareholder be entitled to a cord of wood for each share they held, at cost price. This idea appeared to meet with the general approval of the meeting. The next question taken up, in which nearly all the gentlemen present expressed their opinion, was the cost of labour. Mr H. said that the ordinary unskilled labourer or navy in the United States was paid $1,50 currency per day. Mr Garneau was of opinion that unskilled labor here could be obtained for four shillings a day and perhaps less. As the road had to be built in the summer season, labor would, of course, be higher. Mr Henry Fry said that in the winter season they could obtain as much labour here as they required at their own price, for the people were going round the soup-kitchens for subsistence. Mr Hulbert said in his experience he found that when there was large demand for labour the wages generally increased. After some further conversation upon the probable competition that would arise between the batteaux carrying wood from the lower St. Lawrence and the Gosford Road, the meeting adjourned for a few days, to allow Mr Hulbert an opportunity to prepare certain plans and specifications, which would give them a more definite idea of the probable cost at which the road could be constructed.—Quebec Chronicle.

The intended visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Knowsley was deferred in consequence of the illness of the Earl of Derby.

All persons who read newspapers were shocked on Tuesday by a rumour that Mr Disraeli intended to postpone the elections. A universal groan went up, women did suffering angels, canvassers began to think of suicide, and journalists talked of an association for mutual protection, which should prosecute any person guilty of an election speech after November for wilful nuisance. The rumour turned out false. Mr Disraeli recollected that the awful sentence once threatened to Sydney Smith, that of being preached to death by wild curates, is being inflicted on every Englishman who can read, and, being personally a kindly man, forbore. The writs will issue on the 11th of November, the elections will be over by the 20th, —London Spectator.

Coughs and Colds.

Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough, or "common cold," in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing, having a direct influence on the affected parts. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine. Sold by all dealers in Medicines at 25 cents a box.

It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents.
