Gave Good Advice

Mayor Lang, of St. Mary's, gave the members of his council a bit of sound advice when he reminded them in his inaugural address that it is impossible for them to please the people all the time. The wise councillor, it seems to us will not worry his head trying to accomplish such an impossible task. As long as he knows he is doing his level best to live up to the oath of office, he should not worry. After all, we believe the average councillor is doing his best to serve the community. He is working for nothing and he deserves considerable for his efforts. Instead of being under a favor to the ratepayers he is really the one who is conferring the favor, and it is up to the ratepayers to stand behind him and that they appreciate his public spirit in being ready to give his time and effort to serve the community.—Petrolia Advertiser Topic.

PASTEURIZING RECOMMENDED

When a bottle of milk is held up and observed from below, any dirt or sediment whch has settled to the bottom is clearly visible through the glass against the whitish background of the milk A heavy sediment is soon noticed by the consumer and usually leads to a change of dairies. Such dirt indicates carelessness in the production and handling for dirt has no place in any food product, least of all milk. The practice of pasteurizing milk in the home is strongly recommended for all localities where milk properly pasteurized is not obtainable.

LIME AND MANURE

Manure is the best fertilizer obtainable, but manure alone will not bring full returns to acid soil. When the soil is acid the plants cannot obtain the food from manure that they would if there were lime present to facilitate the action of the bacteria which forms nitrate as these can work only when lime is present. Thus lime ensures the full effect of the manure.
