EDITORIAL NOTES.

One often wonders how so many alert business men find time to keep a silver cigarette case loaded.

* * *

The really successful man does not meet circumstances; he makes them.

* * *

Toronto folk are queer; they vote almost to a man or a woman, to have the government establish and carry on traffic in intoxicating liquors in their midst and when open sale of the stuff is proposed start a little war to keep the traffic away from them;

* * *

"The Sensible Dress Society" was established in Great Britain last week. Mrs. Bessie Harrington, the president, relies mainly on hygienic and freedom-of-movement arguments as the weapons. On the economic side, she maintains it is a fallacy to imagine longer dresses will assist the cloth and silk trade, because the modern women can afford two short dresses against one long one, she says. The big thing is to avoid extremes Women folk hereabout declare they will adhere to the happy medium; no exhibition of knees; no trailing of dresses with insanitary dust raising accompaniment.

* * *

Not before time the Canadian Prime Minister has presented to Parliament a measure to bring to an end the scandal of Canada in making it easy for distillers and brewers to send their intoxicants into the United States, by the agency of law breakers notwithstanding that such traffic is illegal in the neighborhood republic. The unanimity with which the proposed law was received by parliament was evident from the fact that the measure was endorsed unanimously by four out of five speakers who followed the government leader and the second reading of the bill was carried unamimously. No doubt the measure will become law in due course, for though it is reported that some opposition may be expected in the Senate the fellows will surely not undertake to defeat or postpone the enactment of a measure calculated to restrict lawlessness and promote morality and good fellowship.

MANY ATTEND SWINE COURSE

Western Ontario Junior Farmers were in attendance to the number of 87 at the special educational swine course held at the Toronto packing plants in February. By means of lectures and demonstrations on live hogs and dressed carcasses, the young men were shown clearly why the best type of hog to satisfy consumers' demands is the most profitable to produce. In the grading competition held in conjunction with the course, Lorne Simpson, of R. R. 2, Blenheim won first prize. George Goodfellow of Teeswater won the first prize in the live hog competition, while Orvie Bauman of Foradale won the first prize in the dressed carcasses competition.

The Old Home Town

The former boys and girls of Flesherton are not forgetful of the scenes of childhood and the friends of other days. Flesherton is not a very large place, but it has at least 400 enthusiastic representatives in Toronto who are proud of it. This Grey County community has another distinction: Its old home week, held last year, resulted in a financial profit of more than a thousand dollars, and the people of many other Ontario towns would like to know how it is done. In most cases, old home weeks, like world's fairs, are delightful while they are being held but generally leave a lot of little bills that the committee has to pay afterward the best way it can. It has been different in Flesherton, and the Reeve informs those of the old town who dwell in Toronto: "When you Flesherton old boys and girls decide what you want done with this surplus, let us know."

There are many old boys and girls' associations in Toronto and other cities the members of which will be pleased to learn of the successful launching of still another such organization. These people, living in the crowded places of the world, realize very clearly that "there's no place like home," and that "the oldest friends are the truest friends." There exists between the folk who have drifted from the village to the metropolis a bond of sympathy which organized associations weld still more strongly. Where is the man, become great, who has not time to discuss with a boyhood companion the old days in the village or on the farm? Why, it acts as a tonic, and enables him to tackle with renewed zest and energy the big work into which he has drifted. It may set him wondering whether or not he is much better off for the success that has come to him, with the rush and the responsibility; but that is another story. May the home town associations flourish, and let the old boys and girls get together occasionally and revive the bright and comforting memories of their youth. The former lads and lassies of Flesherton have just shown how it can be done successfully.—Toronto Globe.

The Late Wes Carssn

After an illness of several months S. Wesley C. Carson passed away at his home at Niagara-on-the-lake. Wesley was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Carson, and was born and raised to manhood on the Meaford Road near Flesherton. Wes., as he was familiarly called by his companions was possessed of a kindly disposition ever ready and willing to help his fellow man in time of need, and was a general favorite with those whom he associated. He was a member of the former Methodist church and later the United church. In politics he was a Conservative. He was a member of the L. O. L. and also the C. O. F. About thirty years ago he married Miss Minnie Shumway, who, with a family of three sons and three daughters, mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. The family are gara Falls; Mrs. Mrs. Robert Howse (Lulu) of Niagara-on-the-lake; Mrs Chas. Bowling (Helen) of Buffalo Everett of Niagara Falls and David and Orlanda at home. There are also two sisters, Mrs. L. Dezell and Mrs. W. T. Adkins of Owen Sound.

The funeral was held on Thursday Feb. 27, service being conducted at the home by the Rev. Mr. Albright, who spoke in comforting words to the bereaved ones. He also spoke of the high regard he had for the deceased and of the work he had done in the Sunday School which would not be forgotten. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Interment took place in the cemetery at Niagara-on-the-lake.

Made Presentation

The Ladies' Aid of St. John's United church held a social evening on Monday last in the church. The school room was decorated in the colors of the patron saint of Erin, and contests and games were held to the enjoyment of the large number present. A short program was given with a violin number by Mr. Bert Morton, solo by Dr. Murray and a trio by Dr. Bryce, Dr. Murray and Mr. Jas. Robertson. Rev. Scott gave an address on St. Patrick. An event of much importance was a presentation to Miss Tena Henderson of a beautiful wrist watch from the citizens of Flesherton as a token of esteem. The recipient replied in a fitting manner and thanked the people for their kindness. About $20 were taken in at the door.

The smaller size, the Model "C," weighs only a little more than two draft horses. It handles such loads as a 2 or 3 bottom 14 inch plow, depending on soil conditions, or a 22x36 thresher with all attachments. Unusual power for their size and weight places these tractors in a class by themselves, ar in advance of ordinary machines.
