EDITORIAL NOTES

June brides will soon have the floor. The weather man seems to be saving up the fine weather for them.

• • •

The Durham Chronicle man gives the advice, "Blow your own horn." Why certainly. Have one with us!

• • •

Many farmers worked through Victoria Day to get their seeding completed. There was no disloyalty in this and they can make up for the lost holiday by observing June 3, King George's birthday.

• • •

Alliston is to put up fifty signs in its neighborhood to direct people to their burg. But the sapient councillors will be kept guessing to devise ways and means to keep the motorists from careening through the place..

• • •

They tell us that once the Divorce Court is established in Ontario, as provided by the Woodsworth Act, a man will be able to carry his liquor permit in one hip pocket and his divorce in the other. But what would become of the bottle?

• • •

Hanover has increased its tax rate to 57.8 mills on the dollar. It would be a curiosity to find an urban council that had reduced the taxes. The councillors have a ready reply. If the people will insist on having paved streets and fal-de-rols in municipal government and schools they must pay for them.

• • •

It seems that no newspaper man or woman in Canada received a divorce from Parliament last year. This was to be expected. The fraternity were all too busy telling young folks how to choose their mates and married couples how to behave themselves, and had no time to think of organizing unhitching of any kind.

• • •

School section no 9, Glenelg is to have a re-union of old boys and girls on June 30. Thus the example set by Flesherton last year bears fruit It is a gladsome thing for the lads and lasses of bygone days to return to the old centre and revive happy memories of the past while drinking in the health of one of these Highlands of Ontario. The more the merrier.

• • •

Examination by experts of the teeth of children in the public schools of the county show some alarming conditions. For example, in one school with about 50 in attendance, the inspector found that 46 had defective molars, and indeed it was ascertained that all the children would be better to have careful oversight in this respect. How much injury to health and pain in after life might be warded off by a little care of the teeth of children during their early teens. First of all there should be daily tooth brush drill in every home, with good bone forming food.

R. H. Clement, agricultural representative for Wellington County is the authority for some interesting information regarding fertilizers which seems to be quite typical of the situation this year. In 1928 his county imported 125 carloads of commercial fertilizer and in 1929 this increased to 225 carloads. One mixed farming township, twelve miles square imported 64 carloads. A substantial increase over last year's figures is looked for this season.

IN MEMORIAM

BLAKELY—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. T. A. Blakely, who departed this life, May 31st, 1926.

Memories always wander
When twilight shadows fall
Back to days of happiness
Days beyond recall
Then a vision comes before us.
So calm, so dear, so sweet
Of one whose lips are silent
And whose eyes are closed in sleep
A few more weary steps
A few more lonely years
And then all will meet
Beyond the gate of tears
Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

Pull Together

Residents of town and country are partners in each other's business and affairs and the folly of the tug-of-war between residents of the two sections of one community is about as plain as it ever will be. Good-will, co-operation and the square deal make a successful partnership, not dissension and rivalry.

Residents of Flesherton and the surrounding rural districts must practice co-ordination and unity of effort to ensure the success of the entire community. Farmers, your market is in Flesherton. Sell your wares in this town and buy your necessities here. Merchants, the farmers of this district are your patrons and friends. Buy their products and give them what their goods are worth. Then Good will and combined support for Flesherton will result. Sell them your merchandise on an honest and co-optrative basis.

With such a system in practice, this town will soon become a leading community. The money which our farmers pays for his necessities will remain here, and that which the merchant pays the farmer will come back to him.

Make a concentrated effort to bring to Flesherton the outlying trade, and by doing this you will build slowly but surely for a bigger and better business, and a better community in which to live.
