Mr Thomas E. Russell, one of the best known cabinet makers and undertakers in Wilmington, Del., says he contracted an exceedingly severe attack of rheumatism last winter. He is subject to the disease, but rarely ever felt it so severely as he did this time, we under consideration. The disease fastened itself in his right leg and foot, rendering that member so stiff and sore that he could not move without enduring excruciating pain. St. Jacobs Oil had been so highly recommended that he concluded to try it. He has every cause to be glad that he did so. Two applications of the wonderful remedy gave him entire relief, and he has not been troubled with rheumatism since. Mr Russell says he considers St. Jacobs Oil a very fine remedy for rheumatism and now keeps it by him for ready use.

THE SUN!

NEW YORK 1882.

THE SUN for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual appearance under the present management, shining, as always, for all, by and little, mean and generous, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democrat, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and woman-kind of every sort, but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1868 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commending no one affair with the fulsomeness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the Sun. It affected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modelled after the Sun. Every important journal already existing has been modified and bettered by the force of the Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882 will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by a new one, made for the present generation
