A MAGNIFICENT SWINDLE

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives a racy account of the muddle connected with the Howard University, an institution one of the rear buildings of which tumbled into a heap of ruins the other day. He says:

A number of benevolent persons in this city conceived the idea of establishing a university at the Capitol for the education of coloured youth and men. The movement was not even remotely connected with the Freedmen's Bureau. It was to be non-sectarian, and to be erected by contributions collected from the churches of the North. Shortly after its incorporation officers of the Freedmen's Bureau came, first proffered money, which the Commissioner stated he had a perfect right to use, and then, in a few months afterward, assumed the entire control of the whole affair. From the day this control began Howard University has been little less than a means of using over $200,000 of public money for the benefit of a ring of Bureau officers. And this must not be understood as a general statement, but as precise, and within bounds. Further than this, it can be made perfectly apparent that the whole scheme centred upon the idea of preparing a rich berth for all the members of the ring when the Bureau should be discontinued.

The steps were these: 150 acres of the most available land about the city were purchased with public funds at the rate of $1,000 per acre, and deeded to the trustees. At the request of General Howard, the most desirable acre in the tract was given to him. Its estimated value then was between $4,000 and $5,000. Afterward, when some questioning arose, the matter was re-arranged. General Whittlesey, the Adjutant-General of the Bureau, was made financial agent of the University. Without authority from the trustees, a large tract of the property was laid out in building lots and sold. At this sale the Bureau ring obtained the most desirable property. Then the question of erecting buildings for the University came on. General Howard proceeded to do this with public funds, stipulating or arranging with the contractors that the material used should be purchased from a certain Building Brick Company, which, in view of this very work, certain officers of the Bureau, himself being the number, had established. In this ring General Howard, his brother; General Whittlesey, his Adjutant; the leading man in his Freedmen's Savings Bank; the General Superintendent of Freedmen's schools, and several other employees of the Bureau became virtually sub-contractors on the work. Some of these have not been stockholders in the Brick Company for the whole time, though all have been directly interested. The affair would have a very questionable appearance, even if the material thus furnished were entirely fit for building purposes. But here arises one of the most startling features of the speculation. The material is wholly unfit for its purpose, and is in every sense a total failure. It consists simply of fine sand dug up upon the grounds and mixed with common lime. A steam press gave this material shape. These blocks have, in ninety-nine cases out of the hundred, failed to set except as a thin scale on the outside hardened. Not one in a hundred can be found which, after it has lain upon the ground until it has become damp, cannot be pressed down into a mass of sand by the toe. It is a very difficult matter to find a dry brick of the kind used that cannot be broken in a half dozen pieces by a single blow of the heel. And then in nearly every one the pieces can be crumbled into sand in the hand. And yet, buildings costing nearly $200,000 have been erected of this wretched material, not because it was cheap, for it cost more than common hard brick, but to make a ring of Government employees rich.

The worst of all is that when finished, the buildings are unsafe, as the falling of one abundantly proves. Nor can the excuse be pleaded that the unfitness of the material has been brought about by time. It would have been stupid enough to begin the erection of extensive public buildings with an untried and untested material, even if it had in the end proved good. As a general thing, public funds have not been used in experiments upon so grand a scale. But to make the matter worse, long before the building which fell was begun, or contracted for, an entire end of one already erected fell, and after falling was a heap of sand, instead of a mass of broken bricks. This accident was carefully kept out of the press, and building on the large scale went on. The part which fell was replaced, and two months afterward was cracked off from the main building again, and cracked in four places from top to bottom besides. The main University building began to crack, and crevices could be plainly traced in ten places from the foundation up through all the four stories, while the tower was so badly cracked that work on it had to be suspended, and is still suspended. Several of those engaged in the various contracts upon the work expressed the opinion that the whole was unsafe, and some who were experts declared that any sudden jar would bring it down. Workmen objected to going upon the building, and an interior chimney crushing down through the floors added to the general uneasiness. And yet the work was pushed on with the greatest haste, as is believed, in order that legislation might be secured which should place the property in the hands of private parties before the Bureau was finally closed.

The proprietors of the patent brick machine themselves had no confidence in the fitness of the material they were selling to the Government, as is shown in the fact that in building their own private residences they were careful to put in inside walls of common brick.

The Broad Arrow announces that a medal is to be granted to all the British and Indian forces, naval and military, who were employed in the late operations in Abyssinia.

A correspondent of the World, writing about the recent soldier's banquet at Chicago—which he characterizes as a drunken revel—finds one white spot in the arrangement. "Be it known to his credit," he says, "that Gen. Grant drank nothing but water during the entire evening. Although pressed by many friends to take a friendly glass, he refused everyone, and drank all his pledges in cold water. Indeed, as the officiousness of some of his friends led them to place bottles before him, or send him glasses of wine, he ordered the waiters to remove from his table every bottle and glass."

Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman: We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any consideration whatever.

Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

TO PHYSICIANS.

New York August 15th, 1867.

ALLOW me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.

Buchu in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Juniper Berries, containing very little sugar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active properties are by this mode extracted.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists generally, is of a dark colour. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the colour of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exists. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favour it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 16 years' experience in Philadelphia, and now located at his Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, New York.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

"I am acquainted with Mr H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favourably impressed with his character and enterprise.

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The Constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from habits of dissipation, imprudence in, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odour, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by all Druggists everywhere. Price $1,25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6,50. Delivered to any address. Describe the symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N.Y.

None are genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed
