JUMPED AT A CONCLUSION

In this family there were a large number of small children. Little Willie, age six, was taken in one morning to see his father, who happened to be laid up with influenza. Little Willie was quiet, almost reverent, in the sickroom. When it was time for him to go, he went up to his father's bedside and said:

"I bin good, ain't I? pop?

"Yes, son," the old man whispered

"Well, then, kin I see the baby?"

SPREAD MANUDE ON SOD

In preparing land for wheat, J. H. Matthews and Sons of Delaware do not apply manure directly before sowing the wheat but the fertilizer is spread on sod the year before and a crop of hay cut. The field is then plowed and worked down for wheat. This practice is followed in the application of all manure. In addition to manure, a mixture of 150 pounds per acre of 2-12-6 fertilizer is used for wheat.

Ram Attacks Man

Mr. Davey Roadhouse, well known resident around Meaford and town bell ringer for a great number of years met with a very unfortunate accident the latter part of last week Mr. Roadhouse has been living out at Mr. Isaac Johnson's home, 9th line for the past few months. Mr. Roadhouse was out walking around Mr. Johnston's barn, with a number of sheep running around. He was suddenly attacked from the rear by one of the rams, and was knocked to the ground. As he was carrying a cane at the time he at once struck the ram, and in return becoming angry, it made a rush at him several times, knocking him over each time. The unfortnuate man was helpless, being 70 years old, and had it not been for Mr. E. Ellis, who noticed him, he might have been killed. Mr. Ellis rushed over and drove the ram away, and helped Mr. Roadhouse up. He was carried into the house and medical aid summoned. Dr. T. E Bennett attended the injured man. Mr. Roadhouse is recovering.—Meaford Mirror.

A Drunk Gander

Recently over a period of several days a gander on a farm in Middlesex county was seen to be behaving queer. Early in the morning it would be in fine health and as active as any farmyard fowl should be. Later in the day be began to perform queer antics, dragging his wings on the ground and walking unsteadily. When the gander lost his sense of appropriatness of things sufficiently to kill two chickens, the farmer thought that it was time to commence an investigation. He found that a drain pipe from a silo was causing all the trouble. The gander was drinking some of the fluid drained from the corn ensilage in the silo. The bird had evidently become intoxicated from this crude form of corn whiskey.—Grand Valley Star.
