Favors Use of Tractors

A well-known farmer of Western Ontario who has had 11 years' experience in the operation of a prominent make of tractor claims that in ordinary field work a tractor of modern design will do as much work as three to six teams of horses. "As to cost," he says, "there is no feed or time lost when the tractor is not in use. This is a big item. I figure the average cost for plowing as follows: Fuel and oil, 55c. per acre; time of operation, 35c. interest and overhaul, 20c.; depreciation, 25c. This makes a total of $1.35 per acre. The beauty of the tractor is that work can be rushed when the land is in proper condition for working thereby securing better tillage and of course, eventually cleaner and larger crope."
