A BRUSH WITH PIRATES.

Lately a schooner sailing under the British flag, and belonging to a Chinese trader of Labuan, was captured near Mulluda Bay by pirates, in fifteen prahus, who tore down the British flag and killed three of the crew. When intelligence of this outrage reached Labuan, Governor Hennessy started in pursuit in the Dwarf armed with his consular authority and with the firman from the Sultan of Sooloo, to punish the marauders. Led by a notorious pirate of the name of Ali Bunding, they made a stand on the Island of Ubean, their chief retreat in those seas. After trying by fair means to induce them to deliver up their leader, Governor Hennessy, with forty seamen and marines of the Dwarf, armed with the Snider, and guided by an officer of the Sultan of Sooloo, landed and burned their village to the ground. The pirates were so humbled that Mr Hennessy considered it safe to leave the Sooloo official behind to arrange about compensation for sundry piratical incursions.

INDUSTRY BETTER THAN PLUNDER.

The New York Tribune says:—Joseph Medill of Chicago writes to a contemporary setting forth the Medillian construction of the Monroe Doctrine, viz., that "Great Britain is not entitled to a foot, much less a third, of the American continent," and that all who are opposed to an early seizure of Canada as a payment for the Alabama claims, and of Mexico as a cure for the imbecility of that Republic, must "stand from under." We confess that before this programme is carried out we would like to see such progress in manufactures and a diversified industry in Illinois that her farmers should no longer be, as they are, degenerating into herdsmen. We should like to see them provided with markets for their crops within less than 500 miles of the State, so that they might no longer be compelled to graze, skin, and scratch their soil for annually decreasing harvests, in order to arrive at some product requiring so much land to produce that nobody else can afford to raise it, and that can therefore be sent 800 or 1,000 miles to market without being consumed in transportation. Though only a small fraction of the land in Illinois has been tilled, each year reduces the average product in all the leading staples, because her distance from manufactures and from markets compels her to raise only the three or four crops which require the largest area of land for the smallest result. In England, France, Prussia, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, and Pennsylvania, land is every year increased in its yield, because their markets are near and their crops diversified.

On the contary, in Illinois within ten years many thousands of farmers have retrograded into shepherds and herdsmen. Probably the habit of grasping for more and new land, which is inseparable from such a degenerating system of husbandry, has contributed to inspire the thirst for foreign acquisition which Mr Medill expresses.

But a higher path of progress opens before the energetic men of the West than to set the Irishmen of the United States to cutting the throats of the Irishmen of Great Britain (for it is Irishmen in the main that would fill the armies of both sides) in a war for the acquisition or defence of Canada. Let the men of Illinois develope the idle and slumbering energies of their vast coal beds, and make Illinois the Belgium of American manufactures. Let them open up this dormant and unused source of empire—at some loss and expense, perhaps, at first, as all great undertakings must be, but at an infinite profit at a very early day. Why is England to-day lord of the Canadas, of Ireland, Scotland, India, Australia, Jamaica, Gibraltar, &c., &c.? Why does the sun never set on her domain? Because her coal, aided by protective legislation, has given her a machine power equal to the manual labour of 1,000,000,000 of people, or that of the entire population of the globe. Great Britain is like a man aided by a steam engine, working against a man unaided.

The dairy interests of the United States employ a capital of $700,000,000, while the cheese product of last year was valued at $25,000,000, and the butter product was $100,000,000, while there are 800 cheese factories in New York State alone.

The Rev. Dr. Wallace, one of the United Presbyterian Church ministers of Glasgow, has publicly challenged the accuracy of the statements made by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh as to the relative drunkenness of France and Scotland. The reverend doctor says:—"I have found many temperance men disheartened and discouraged by his lordship's letter. If I could meet the Lord Provost in Paris, Lyons, Marseilles, and especially in Lille and Rouen and other northern towns in France, I will take him to as shocking scenes of drinking and profanity and Bacchanalian orgies as ever I witnessed anywhere."

The sudden death of the young Countess de ——, niece of M. Ferdinand de Lesseps, has excited much sympathy in the great world. The countess went out as usual to drive in the Bois a few days ago, and a fly bit her nose. Before returning home inflammation had set in. Nelaton was summoned; he decided that amputation of the nose was necessary. The operation took place, gangrene set in, the poison having already spread through the whole system, and within twelve hours the young countess expired.—Paris letter

An amusing incident occurred at the opening of the French Chambers on Monday. A newly appointed attache at the American embassy came to witness the ceremony, but, being unkown to the police, was stopped by the two officials at the door, who asked him his name. The attache answered something in English, and attempted to pass on, but the officials refused to admit him. This so enraged the American that he seized the two officials by the collar, and knocked their heads against each other two or three times. An officer now came up and asked the attache for his card, which was immediately produced, and had a remarkable effect on the conduct of the policeman, notwithstanding the hard usage they had received. They bowed profoundly, and with much empressement showed the aitache to his seat.

The Military Sheet of Berlin has the following:—"A telegram from this capital could now at any moment suffice to put a million of men under arms, as our military organization is complete. The Prussian troops consist of 325 battalions of infantry, 29 of which belong to the Guard; 268 squadrons of cavalry, 32 of the Guard; 11 regiments of artillery, with 1,146 guns, and 12 battalions of engineers; in all 410,000 combatants; to which must be added the 53,000 whom the Federal contingents have to furnish. To this number (463,000) must be joined the soldiers of Baden, Hesse, Wurtemberg, and Bavaria, placed by treaties under the orders of the head of the Confederation. Besides, Prussia could immediately put on foot—1, the reserve, 120 battalions of infantry, 76 squadrons of cavalry, 240, guns, and 12 battalions in all 142,000 fighting men; and 2, in troops of occupation and defence of fortresses, 200,000. In these figures are not included either the officers, military train, army workmen, or corps of various kinds."

ART OF ADVERTISING.—Horace Greeley, of New York, says:—The most successful business men in this city are those who have advertised liberally and constantly. A small advertisement constantly appearing is better than a display column occasionally.

HEALTH, COMFORT, AND ECONOMY.

THE Subscribers have much pleasure in introducing to the public of Kingston NORTH'S PATENT DRUM HEATER, by the use of which a saving of fully 25 per cent will be gained. Having thoroughly tested this valuable invention they can confidently recommend it as a great fuel saver. The cost of the Heater is small compared with the great saving it effects. In many places where two stoves were formerly required, sufficient heat can now be obtained from one with the Heater attached. Parties wishing to try them can do so, and if after a fair trial they are not satisfied that the saving claimed is effected, the Heater can be returned without any charge.

New Method of Washing Clothes without Labour!

THE DOMINION

Steam Washing Boiler.

R. J. REID, Inventor & Patentee.

THIS Machine operates upon purely scientific principles. It is self-acting and dispenses entirely with labour and the wear of clothes. The hot suds and steam, by the action of fire, are driven up through the chambers, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested, and pronounced unequalled as a clothes washer by those who have used it. All fabrics, from the finest laces to the best blankets, can be washed perfectly and with ease, without the wash-board. For flannels it is invaluable, as the rubbing, rolling, and pressing process must necessarily full them more or less. It is truly a labour and clothes-saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day a terror and dread to housewives. The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article, $4, places it within the reach of every family.
