New Rural Route

Another new rural route has been created to run from the Flesherton post office. This is on the Kimberley route through Eugenia and will accommodate about eighteen patrons, who haev been desirous of securing rural delivery for some time. The ones interested have received their boxes and will now have them erected in front of their farms. The new route will be called Flesherton R. R. No. 4, and Mr. John Speers of Kimberley has the contract for the route.

GROW OR GO

The boy employees of Wall Street are expected to attend night school. In fact they have their choice between doing that or forfeiting their jobs. With their deficient schooling, they are not capable of making the sort of workers wanted in the financial districts. The choice given them is succintly expressed in the phrase, "Grow or go."

On a farm near Galt there is a barnyard that is always clean. The whole of the yard is paved with concrete. A scraper drawn by horses makes cleaning easy. Those who have done such paving say that the main requirement is a well-drained site on which to lay the concrete. In many cases the first move is to tile the yard. The owner of the yard mentioned above says that it is a good investment because it means cleaner cows, cleaner stables, manure properly conserved and more personal comfort and satisfaction.

Still Another Farm Sold

The National Farm Agency Limited, with head office at 392 Bay St., Toronto, reports through their local agent the sale of yet another farm property following upon the sale of two farms in this section last week. The property owned by Mr. Patrick J. Mulligan, being lot 29 of the 5th concession of Melancthon, was sold to Mr. James Omand, who comes from Orkney, Scotland. Both parties are very satisfied with their dealings with the company and as the purchaser has paid for the property in full Mr. Mulligan has every reason to be, as it is only through the extensive advertising of the National Farm Agency that this type of purchaser comes into this district. The local representative of the company, Mr. Fred Taylor, expects a number more sales in his district before the end of the year and would advise those property owners wishing to sell to communicate with him.

Did you ever wonder what becomes of all the old steam traction engines when they die? If they're good they go to Norfolk County and there they stand outside tobacco kilns and pump in steam to cure the bright leaf. Many have been seen at work during the past month doing just this thing and proving conclusively that there is always some way to use even the most apparently outworn agricultural implement.
