THE GREAT CONVENT CASE.

Feb. 26.—The Lord Chief Justice now delivered a charge which occupied from 10 to 5. He said:—There is no doubt that in consequence of the revelations of convent life which the trial has elicited, it has acquired a factitious interest which, if it had related to disputes arising in any other society, it never would have possessed. We must take care that neither party derives any unfair advantage from the religious element. The plaintiff has a Protestant jury, and I must warn you against allowing religious prepossessions or prejudices to operate. You may think convent life an object of dislike and of suspicion. But no such consideration must influence your minds. This is not a case in which Protestant parents complain that a daughter has been inveigled or ill-treated. The person who comes forward is one whose parents had sent a third daughter to the conventual life, and who does not complain of having been kept in a convent, but of being turned out of a convent.

We ought to try it as though we were members of the Roman Catholic Church, accepting the system common to both parties—which gives unlimited power to the Superior, and imposes unqualified subjection upon the subordinate. The plaintiff's complaint divides itself into several heads. First, of being assaulted and stripped; next, of being deprived of some articles belonging to her; thirdly, of having been libelled to the Bishop; lastly, that there has been a conspiracy against her, by means of ill-treatment, to force her to leave the convent, and cause the Bishop to expel her from the Order. The defendants deny these complaints, and place upon the record a plea of leave and licence, i. e., a plea that the severities of which she complains were inflicted with her own consent. Now, who invites or consents to an act otherwise wrongful cannot complain of it. And if so, that will afford an answer to a considerable portion, though not the whole, of the complaint. For instance, there is nothing here which would warrant personal violence—nothing which would warrant restraint of the person—nothing which would warrant a conspiracy such as is alleged. And if you should be of opinion that the conspiracy is made out, the defence is not sustained. But it may be an answer to some other acts, otherwise without justification if you should be of opinion that these acts have been done under the powers given to the Superior by the voluntary submission of the plaintiff, and have been submitted to by her as part of the obedience she had vowed to render. As to the count which complains of her property being taken, these considerations may apply. There might, indeed, be a question whether, after the defendants had procured the plaintiff's expulsion, the right of property would not revive. But to meet that money has been paid into court. As to the assault, I was sorry to find it pressed. There is nothing in the evidence to sustain it except the alleged stripping, when, plaintiff alleges, she did not take off her dress fast enough for the defendant, who rudely snatched them from her person. If so, there would be what would amount in law to an assault. Next as to the imprisonment. Whether there was actual restraint will be a conflict of evidence which it will be for you to decide. But I now come to the real gravamen of complaint—the count for a conspiracy. His Lordship then went through a history of the plaintiff's conventual life in order to find out what led to the harsh treatment which she had undoubtedly met with, and which, if without cause, would give a ground of complaint. On the other hand, if her own conduct led to it, the case would assume a different aspect; while, on the other hand, if you should see that it arose from any unworthy motive, it might be of great importance in leading to a conclusion. As the plaintiff said, the treatment arose from the attempt to get her to disclose her confessions. On the part of Mrs Starr this was entirely denied. You have oath against oath, and it is for you to decide. To do this it will be necessary to look at the circumstances, and first it was proved that up to 1862, Mrs Starr had not treated the complaints against Miss Saurin as serious. She had even written letters to the Bishop commending Mrs Starr. The parents seemed to have entertained high notions about their daughter's rights—notions which, perhaps, you might think inconsistent with implicit obedience on one side, and the absolute power on the other. At all events, according to Mrs Starr, the plaintiff had not improved in habits of obedience. But in 1861 there is no doubt that Mrs Starr commenced the course of applying a stricter rule to Miss Saurin than she had applied before. To what cause this is to be ascribed is for you to decide. In 1865 Miss Saurin wrote to the Bishop a statement of her grievances, and did not mention Mrs Starr's demand that she should disclose her confessions, and yet it is impossible to account for its not having been mentioned if this had really been the cause of Mrs Starr's estrangement from her.

Coming to the clandestine letters his lordship held them to be something like high treason against Conventual authority.

It appears that Mrs Starr wrote Miss Saurin a letter, which it is said was couched in terms of kind remonstrance. Mrs Starr wanted a precise acknowledgment of this fault, and this was signed by Miss Saurin. She says she gave the acknowledgment in consequence of a promise that if she did so all should be forgiven. Mrs Starr denies it. It is obvious that Mrs Starr was desirous of getting an acknowledgment under the hand of Miss Saurin; and perhaps she might have said something by way of coaxing her to give it. At all events, she did not let her see that which perhaps was the object—to obtain evidence of an offence which might justify expulsion. However, the matter was submitted to the Bishop, and at the same time the Mother Superior wrote to the uncle to tell him that the best thing to be done was to send her back to the convent whence she came.

His Lordship then read the correspondence about the proposed removal of Miss Saurin, first to the Bagot street convent, and afterwards to that at Drogheda, and continued:—It is to be regretted that the removal to Drogheda was not pursued. The Rev. Mr Matthews, indeed, said that the removal would have been a sort of stigma, but that course might have spared us this painful inquiry. It is plain that the community were weary of Sister Scholastica and that it was impossible they could go on harmoniously. However, Father Matthews having declined to remove her, the Bishop held a visitation. He did not disclose his object, nor pursue a regular inquiry, but pursued the usual course of seeing each of the sisters separately. He found himself only in a state of hesitation, and let things go on. Such was the way in which the Bishop thought it right to exercise his power. I regret it, for if he had investigated the whole matter he might have settled it without the painful consequences which have ensued. However, Miss Saurin went back to Clifford and was certainly treated with additional rigour. On the other hand, the defendants gave evidence to show that her faults increased. During this period Miss Saurin complains

SUGAR-COATED
ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. They are not Quack Medicines puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people, but are the result of forty years experience of a first-class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure-all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

DR. VICTOR BAUD'S ORGANIC MEDICINE.
DR V. BAUD, Graduate and Member of the Medical College of Paris, Chief Physician Extraordinary for Epidemics in Paris, late M.D. of the Civil Hospitals of Algiers, has just introduced in England his ORGANIC MEDICINES.
They consist of three preparations—
THE BAUDEINE,
An efficient and prompt Remedy for Cholera, Yellow Fever, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, and the excessive action of the Bowels. A gold medal was awarded by the French Government to Dr V. Baud for this valuable preparation.
Price: Small, 1s 1½d; Medium, 4s 5d; Large Size, 11s per Bottle.
THE DIASTATIZED IRON,
For strengthening the System.—Price 2s 9d per Bottle.
THE DIASTATIZED IODINE,
For purifying the Blood.—Price 2s 9d per Bottle.
 The above Preparations are in the form of Sweetmeats, pleasant to the taste, and particularly adapted for Infants and Mothers nursing.
By the combination of the Iron or Iodine with Cress Seeds in a state of germination, they are united with organic life, which thus renders them digestible. The irritative and stubborn mineral has thus become the nucleus of an organic substance capable of being absorbed by the blood without injury to the stomach.
Agent for England and British Possessions, E. G. DUFRESNE, 79 Watling Street.
May be obtained of all Chemists.

CHOLERA, DIARRHŒA, &c.
EARL RUSSELL sent to the College of Physicians a communication received by him from Manilla (where cholera had been graing fearfully) to the effect that, of all remedies tried, Chlorodyne was the most effective.
"The day seems as yet, unhappily, far distant when public opinion or State interference will prevent the advertisement or sale of any secret medicine whatsoever. It is to be hoped that the profession will continue to brand as unworthy the conduct of those of its members who by testimonial or otherwise aid the disposal of such things."—Lancet.
TOWLE'S CHLORODYNE.
The Original Preparation of known Composition.
From Dr C. Kidd, Author of Standard Works on Chloroform.
Sackville-street, Piccadilly, London.
Sir,—I think if you would advertise your Chlorodyne more than you do, you would help to beat the others, which are secret compounds, out of the market. Many medical men think with me, and recommend your compound, but will never prescribe a secret remedy. CHARLES KIDD, M.D.
To Mr Towle, Chemist, Manchester.
A Surgeon from New York writes:—"I only requires to be known to be appreciated. I have no hesitation in characterising it (viz., Towle's Chlorodyne) as the most useful medicine that has appeared during the present century. In diarrhœa, colic, ague, spasms, I have found it to relieve more pain and cause more joy than any other article that can be named."
NOTE.—The Profession is warned against inferior, secret, and cheap compounds now in the market. Each genuine bottle bears a facsimile of Proprietor's signature on the stamp outside.

THE ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, invented by R. Freeman, Pharmaceutist, is allowed to be one of the greatest discoveries of the present century. It is largely employed by the most eminent Physicians and Surgeons in hospital and private practice in all parts of the world. It has effects peculiar to itself, and which are essentially different to those produced by the various compounds bearing the name of Chlorodyne, but have no pretence to possessing its virtues. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, allays the irritation of fever, soothes the system under exhausting diseases, and gives sleep without producing any one of the unpleasant feelings so commonly arising from the use of opiates. It continues to hold its unshaken position in the estimation of the Profession as the best, most reliable, and cheapest preparation. Eminent and scientific Physicians made affidavits that they have tested its effects in careful comparison with those of "DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE," and deposed to the facts that they found it a more certain and reliable preparation, and greatly preferred "FREEMANS."
Earl Russell communicated to the Royal College of Physicians and to Mr Freeman, that in Manilla the only remedy of any use in Cholera was Chlorodine.
The Medical Times and Gazette, January 13th, 1866, states, "It has an immense sale amongst the public, and is prescribed by scores of Orthodox Medical Practitioners, and, of course, it would not be thus singularly popular did it not supply a want and fill a place."
Manufactured by the Inventor, Richard Freeman, 70, Kennington Park Road, London, S.
The genuine has engraved on the Government Stamp (outside each Bottle), "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE."

CONDY'S PATENT FLUID or natural disinfectant purifies, deodorises, and disinfects, by the agency of nascent or ozonic oxygen,—its active principle. Being entirely innoxious, this truly scientific preparation is peculiarly adapted for the following useful purposes, for which all other disinfectants, on account of their poisonous or other objectionable qualities, are unavailable and useless:—
Detecting organic impurities in air and water.
Purifying drinking and other water from organic matter, lead, &c.
Freshening the air of close places, and removing bad smells.
Freeing meat, fish, butter, or other provisions from taint.
Counteracting the effects of organic poisons taken into the stomach.
Curing Musty provender. Freeing wheat and other seed from smut.
Maintaining the health of plants in pots and conservatories.
Preserving and restoring the freshness of cut flowers kept in water.
Destroying the blight of the potatoe, vine, hop, mulberry tree, &c.
Washing dogs and other domestic animals.
Cleansing bottles, beer barrels, pickling tubs, dairy utensils.
Washing the hair and darkening its colour when turning grey.
Enhancing the purifying and invigorating effects of baths and tubs.
Dressing poisoned wounds and destroying animal virus.
Treating the infectious diseases of cattle, horses, dogs, &c.
One gallon makes 200 to 300 gallons adapted for use.
N.B.—Condy's Fluid is the Standard Scientific Test for Organic Matter in Water, and affords the only known means of rapidly and completely freeing Drinking Water from Organic Taint, which is so common a cause of serious disease.
To rapidly purify the air, use the diluted fluid with "Condy's Ozoniser" or other Spray-producer.
CONDY'S PATENT OZONISED WATER,
(FOR TOILET PURPOSES,)
Removes from the mouth impure and foreign tastes and odours, whether arising from tobacco or other causes, and counteracts the irritation and morbid secretions of carious teeth. It purifies and softens the skin, and, used in the bath, tends to promote a healthy state of the whole body.
H. BOLLMAN CONDY,
Patentee, Battersea, London.

JUDSON'S SIMPLE DYES FOR THE PEOPLE. Any one can use them; anything can be dyed with them. It is impossible in this small space to enumerate the many uses to which these wonderful and beautiful chemical preparations can be applied; while their chief use is for dyeing textile fabrics, they are also invaluable as a colouring agent for almost every known material, the ease with which they can be used and the brilliancy of the result being, indeed, almost magical. By their use almost any article of clothing can be dyed in a few minutes for a few pence without soiling the hands.
MEMORANDA.
MAGENTA: The strength and beauty of this dye is almost incredible. A Sixpenny bottle will dye 20 yards of Bonnet Ribbon in 10 minutes; it will also produce a clear Rose Pink by using less dye. Suitable also for Woollen Goods, Feathers, Silks, &c.
WOOLLENS: Magenta, Mauve, Violet, Purple, Orange, Pink, and Orimson produce the most satisfactory results. Use a large quantity of boiling water in an earthen pan. RIBBONS and SILKS: Brush them with soap and water to avoid creases, and to render them clean. Dye in boiling water.
FEATHERS: Dye in hot water (a few drops of the dye is sufficient for one feather).
COTTON: Mauve, Violet and Purple are recommended.
LEATHER: Blue, Magenta, Violet and Orange. Dye in warm water.
WHITEWASH: To color: Magenta, for Pink or Rose; add half a bottle to a pail of water, then stir in the Whitening as usual. Mauve, Violet, Purple, Blue and crimson produce pretty tints by using one bottle or more, as directed above.
STARCH: Stir in a few drops of Colour—Magenta, Mauve, Violet, Blue or Pink; these impart delicate tints to Lace, Linen, &c.
WILLOW SHAVINGS, Wicker, Ivory, Bone, Hair, Fibres, Seaweed, &c., attract the dye quickly, if applied in boiling water.
BLUE: For laundry purposes is A 1.
BOOK EDGES: A Sixpenny bottle of Magenta, Violet, Crimson or Blue will make from a pint to a quart of beautiful colouring, according to shade required. Apply with a brush.
PAPER and WOOD STAIN: Ditto.
OAK STAIN: A bottle of No. 2 Black to half a pint of hot water.
SATINWOOD STAIN: A Sixpenny bottle Canary dissolved in a pint of boiling water
PHOTOGRAPHS may be tinted; dilute the dye with water; a bottle of Magenta to a pint of water. &c.
ILLUMINATING: Magenta, Violet, Blue, Orange; pour a few drops into an egg cup add warm water; use with a brush or pen Borders of books, similar to Ward and Lock's Arabian Nights, &c., may be prettily illuminated in this manner.
BLANCMANGE, JELLY, CORN FLOUR ICE CREAMS, &c: While in a liquid state add one or two drops of Magenta. A more simple or elegant tinting cannot be had.
CONFECTIONERS will find Magenta, Violet, Orange and Pink useful colours.
GELATINES and GLUES are successfully coloured with these dyes.
INK: A Sixpenny bottle of Magenta to a pint or more of cold water
WATER: One drop of dye will tint a quart.
PRINTING on Cotton, Silk or Wool in the ordinary way.
BLENDING some of the dyes in the bath will produce an infinity of shade, according to taste.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.
DR. DE JONGH'S Oil is convincingly proved by an overwhelming weight of medical testimony, and by the practical test of successful experience for twenty years in all parts of the world, to be, beyond all question, the purest, the most efficacious, the most palatable, and, from its rapid curative effects, the most economical of all kinds.
Hence the universal celebrity of Dr. de Jongh's Oil, and the unparalleled demand for this unrivalled preparation.
SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR HENRY MARSH, BART., M.D.,
Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.
"I have frequently prescribed Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil. I consider it to be a very pure oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."
DR. EDWARD SMITH, F.R.S.,
Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.
"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light-Brown Oil supplied by Dr. de Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst s much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness."—(Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")
DR. LANKESTER, F.R.S.,
Coroner for Central Middlesex.
"I consider that the purity of this oil is secured in its preparation, by the personal attention of so good a chemist and intelligent a physician as Dr. de Jongh, who has also written the best medical treatise on the oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."
DR. LETHEBY,
Medical Officer of Health, and Chief Analyst to the City of London.
"In all cases I have found Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil possessing the same set of properties, among which the presence of cholaic compounds, and of iodine in a state of organic combination, are the most remarkable. It is, I believe, universally acknowledged that this oil has great therapeutic power; and from my investigations, I have no doubt of its being a pure and unadulterated article."
DR. BARLOW, F.R.S.,
Senior Physician to Guy's Hospital.
"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. de Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use of that substance is indicated."
DR. GRANVILLE, F.R.S.,
Author of the "Spas of Germany."
"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the pale oil."
EDWIN CANTON, ESQ., F.R.C.S.,
Surgeon to Charing-cross Hospital.
"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."
