John Bull, slow and sedate, remains king of the air, land and water.

Twenty years from now "the good old days" will be those which we are now enjoying.

A Priceville man, who suffered from "ringing in his ears," received instant relief when, as his medical adviser expressed it, he chucked the damned alarm clock into the ash barrel.

A physiologist insists that the will to power is the main urge of the growing girl. The will to powder seems to come, all too soon in very many cases.

Let us all keep cheerful while aiding in the promotion of better times, remembering that pulling a long face does not add any more speed or fun to life than pouring dishwater in the gas tank.

Toronto city council announces that when the World's Temperance Union meets there soon they will take the ladies on a trip around the harbor, and The Star opines that this is on the assumption that like water. But surely our sprightly contemporary is asking the visitors too much to like Toronto water.

Before adjourning recently the United States Congress passed the bill making "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem, but the Winchester Star man is bewildered by the legislation. To his cultured ear the chief difficulty is unsettled. He will not be happy 'till he learns wheather the second verse should begin "Dum-dee-dum dum dum dum" or "Dee-dee-dee-dee doh dee doh." Let the board of radio crooners take a try at it.

W.M.S. Meeting

The Easter Thankoffering meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Monday in St. John's United Church with Mrs. W. J. Scott in the chair. After the opening exercises announcement was made of Grey Presbyterial to be held on May 14th. All those desiring to attend are requested to give their name to Miss MacMillan or to Mrs. (Rev.) Scott. All supplies are to be sent to Mrs. John Wright. A welcome was accorded to those who represented other churches or societies. A solo "There were Ninety and Nine" was rendered by Rev. W. J. Scott.

The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Mr. Donald of Indore, India, who held his audience entranced while he told of customs of the Indian people. He told of the difficulties the missionary met with: they were three-fold, the climate, the language and the different religions or customs. In the synod there are three presbyteries and three languages are spoken; in order to understand each other the English language is used. Native schools are closed and Christian schools are opened where boys and girls attend and meet in the same class, thus the boys learn that the girls are as clever as they are. The Hindu religion absolves men from any blame; true, trouble comes to them but they are not in any way responsible. Sometimes the Hindus become Christians for protection and expect to be paid. A convert might be baptized, but was not allowed to partake of the Sacrament, now they must show by the outward life that there is an inward change. Mrs. Cargoe moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Donald, which was seconded by Mrs. Down, after which the offering was received. Representatives from the Baptist Circle and from the Eugenia W.M.S. were present. The benediction closed the meeting, and then a social half hour was spent over the tea cups.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wauchope wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorcas, to Mr. Elwood Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore, Flesherton, the marriage to take place in April.

VICTORIA CORNERS

Your correspondent made a mistake in reporting John Duncan in place of Kingsley Gallagher as 1st Vice President of the League.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clayton of Toronto visited at Milton Bannon's. Mrs. Bannon returned home with them for a few days.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Batchelor and babe, who had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Batchelor's father, Wm. Moore, were driving to church, a car, coming in the opposite direction, swerved in front of the horse, frightening it and ditching the buggy. They were all thrown out and the buggy was smashed, but the occupants do not think they were hurt very much.

Baby Ann Stinson has been quite ill with pneumonia, but is, we hope, improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stinson with their grandson, Gordon Youels, have moved back to their farm lately vacated by Russell Hill. Mr. Stinson was at Niagara last week attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Thomas F. McCarthy.

NATURAL FEEDING

There is, beyond question one food which is best for the baby, and that is the natural food - breast milk. It would appear that this fact is not generally known if we are to judge by the number of babies who, upon the slightest excuse, of for no use at all, are placed on artificial feedings of one kind or another.

The natural food is best. It is suitable for the baby because it is made for him. It is clean because there is no chance for it to become contaminated by handling. It is fresh and it is also sterile, that is, there are no germs, and consequently, no disease germ in it. For all these reasons, it is superior to artificial feeding.

The breast-fed baby is more likely to avoid disease, to have strong bones and teeth, to have firmer muscles. The breast-fed baby is, in general a healthier and more sturdy baby than is the baby who is artificially-fed.

Many infants have been brought up successfully on artificial feedings, but this does not alter the fact that, comparing the artificially-fed baby with the naturally-fed, those who have been deprived of their natural food do not thrive as well.

Another advantage of natural feeding is that it makes for the development of the baby's jaws through the act of nursing.

Natural feeding is much more simple and takes far less time than bottle feeding. The proper preparation of artificial feedings requires considerable attention and takes time.

No mother should deprive her child of his natural food just because she thinks she cannot nurse the baby, or because some one has told her how well babies do on artificial food.

The decision to wean the baby is a vrey serious one to make, and it should not be made except for some good and sufficient reason. The mother should talk the matter over with her doctor and leave the decision to him, because it is, after all, a medical problem. It is not right to wean the baby and then ask the doctor to prescribe artificial feedings. The doctor should be consulted before weaning, not after.

The quality and quantity of the breast-milk can be improved by attention to health. Regular feedings by the clock are desirable for both the mother and the child.

Every child should be breast-fed, and no mother should give up breast-feeding unless she is instructed to do so by her doctor.

Miss Macphail's Letter

In her weekly letter to the press of Grey County Miss Agnes Macphail, M P. says in part;

Before the orders of the day were called one day recently, Mr. C. G. Power, the member for Quebec south, universally called "Chubby" Power, called the attention of the House to the fact that the Hon. Mr. Dupre, Solicitor General, had been reported in a French paper in Montreal as having made his maiden speech In Parliament. "It was his Parliamentary debut. He did very well. An eloquent speaker, and corrected the mistakes of the opposition."

He was loudly applauded by the Right. The house laughed merriiy. The speech thus reported had not yet been made. Just here Mr. Hanson of York Sunbury, interupted Chubby Power to say, "Go on with the question of privilege. Mr. Hanson is given to interrupting speakers. Mr. Power said, "I would suggest that my Hon. friend do not talk too much, or they will make a Minister of him and so keep him even quieter." Eeryone enjoyed the jibe, even the Government supporters.

On Friday the ex-minister of Labor, Mr. Heenan moved to adjourn the debate to discuss the rioting which had recently taken place in Winnipeg. The speaker ruled him out of order. A number of members appealed from his ruling. The speaker then put the question, "All those in favour of the speaker's ruling, say aye and the Government sang lustily, aye. "All those opposed to the speaker's ruling say, nay." Then Mr. Speaker, the Hon. George Black, said, "In my opinion the Nays have it," and the shouts of laughter of the members made known his error to him. Since the Speaker always officially thinks that the Government side has created the greatest volume of sound. He corrected himself by saying, "I have made an obvious mistake, in my opinion the Ayes have it." A group of the "Nay" supporters then stood up in protest; the bells rang and the vote was on.

When Mr. Woodsworth rose the other day to make a few remarks on the unemployment situation, he referred to a speech he made previously this session to the effect that if work on relief was not supplied there would be riots. The Hon. Dr. Manion, Minister of Railways called him to order and intimated that he was inciting the people to riot. This seemed the signal for many new members of the House to call out remarks of a far from complimentary character; "Russia! Bolshevik! Winnipeg Strike!" New members of course cannot know J. S. Woodsworth's untiring devotion to the cause of the working people has earned for him the respect of the Commons. The immediate result of their interjections was the arousing of the speaker to ata supreme effort to which the whole House listened as is very rarely the case. Mr. Bourassa followed and told how his paper had tried last winter to relieve some of the suffering in Montreal and his work in connection with it had helped him to realize the abyss of poverty of the jobless. Had it not been for his investigations he would not, he stated, be in a position to know the conditions and should perhaps have failed as the Minister of Railways fails to understand his Honorable friend from Winnipeg and might have concluded he was simply promoting popular upheaval. Mr. Bourassa said: "Since I have learned of the condition of the people of my own city I have told my children that we must spare money to help other people. I have ceased travelling in Pullman cars; I travel in the common cars either on the Canadian National or the Canadian Pacific Railways. When the common people are talking I listen to what they have to say and at times I hear things without their knowing, and so I realize the truth of what my neighbor said a minute ago - "what ferments of hatred are growing in the hearts and minds of Canadians of all races." It was a most unusual statement to hear in the Commons.

Possibly the largest farmer in the Commons, E. E. Perley, Q'appelle, (Conservative) addressed the House. He made many helpful suggestions. Mr. Perley is deeply interested in agriculture. When he left home at the end of the Easter holiday, 6,000 bushels of clean grain was ready for his feeder. A year ago a farmer with considerable assets who entered the bank to ask for a loan of $200 or $300 would quite possibly be urged by the banker to take more than he asked and he would get the money on a note without any additional security. Now, when these same men go to the bank they find their credit gone and their securities of no value. Such treatment is wrecking their morale.

"I would suggest a rigid enforcement of the Bank Act. Imlpement concerns in the West have been allowed to sell their goods on notes bearing eight and nine and ten per cent interest after due date, something which should not be permitted. I think the 1930 crop should be subsidized to the extent of the Government paying the freight on all grains sold since the price dropped below 70c per bushel. That subsidization would involve only fifty per cent of the crop as considerable grain was shipped during Seytember, October and November, before the price dropped below 70c," said Mr. Perley.
